Board of Selectmen

Special Town Meeting articles released

By PAUL HAYES

WILMINGTON - Special Town Meeting articles and an update on construction of the Public Safety Building were among the topics discussed during the Board of Selectmen meeting on Monday.

Special Town Meeting

Six articles are on the warrant for Special Town Meeting, scheduled to take place on November 15 at 7:30 p.m. at the High School auditorium.

The most important article, according to Town Manager Michael Cairra, is Article 1, which would authorize the transfer of money to the Route 38 Corridor Sewer Project.

The money would be transferred from other town sewer projects.

Article Two would allow the town to transfer $115,000 in state lottery aid money to the town's FY 2000 budget. The money was made available through the town's FY 1999 lottery receipts, and became available to the town in Sept. 1999.

Cairra recommended the town put the money in the Finance Committee's reserve account, in case of a fiscal emergency.

Tests to confirm if Olin chemical plume stationary

By PAUL HAYES

WILMINGTON - A final round of tests remains, before Olin Chemical looks at removing an underground plume of toxic chemicals, representatives of Olin and the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) told Selectmen on Tuesday.

The plume of sulfate, ammonia, chloride, sodium and chromium appears to have come to rest in a natural "bowl" in the underground layer of bedrock, just west of Olin's 53-acre Eames Street property, said Olin engineer Steve Morrow.

The plume is believed to have originated between 1953 and 1970, from National Polychemicals Inc., a former occupant of the Olin property.

The density and location of the plume have not changed in seven years, indicating the submerged plume of chemicals has come to rest at a low point in the underlying bedrock.

Olin will conduct further tests to make sure the chemicals are stagnant at their present point

1,500 feet to the West of the Olin property.

"We want to make absolutely sure there is a barrier to keep the town safe," said DEP environmental analyst Christopher Pyott.

Test wells at the Butters Row, Chestnut Street and Town Park wells, regularly monitored by Olin, showed chloride, ammonia, sulfate, and sodium levels were within safe drinking water standards, Morrow said.

However, Olin has met with resistance from abutting property owners, who refuse to allow Olin access to the land to conduct the tests.

If the resistance continues, the DEP would step in, Pyott said.

"We'll see if Olin can jump the hurdle," Pyott said. "If not the DEP would get involved."

The tests, expected to be completed by the spring of 2000, would conclude Phase Two of Olin's five phase site remediation plan. Phase Three would immediately follow, and includes the creation of a remedial action plan, for the removal or treatment of the plume.

The remedial action plan and subsequent tests would be completed by mid-2003, after which Olin would continue to monitor groundwater on-site, and by the Butters Row, Chestnut Street and Town Park wells.

Olin also presented Selectmen with information on how they will treat pollution on their site.

Next spring, chemicals will be injected near the sites "south ditch" to raise the PH level in the soil, which will stabilize a dense plume of acidic chemicals, and prevent it from bubbling up at the ditch surface.

Next month, air will be injected into an area by the west "ditch," to stimulate bacteria aimed at consuming sediments in the ditch.

Olin attorney Thomas O'Brien said a potential developer, identified only as a warehouse and delivery company, expressed interest in developing the Olin

Thicket of issues surrounds Elwood Road plan

By CHARLOTTE COOPER

WILMINGTON - A proposed dwelling on Elwood Road, which raised more than environmental issues, was only one of the items facing the Conservation Commission at their meeting last Wednesday evening.

Richard Mede, representing applicant James Andella, discussed plans for the property located at 8 Elwood Road. "The plan is to take down the existing dwelling and replace it with a 26' x 26' dwelling with a deck," Mede said. The application calls for the construction of a single family dwelling, septic system, driveway, water line and related grading in the buffer zone.

"The house and structure will meet the 25' setback policy of the Commission," Mede said. John Keeley, Assistant Director of Planning and Conservation indicated that the area of the rebuild may be within the estimated habitat of an endangered species. "We filed with the National Heritage [Endangered Species Protection], but we haven't heard from them yet," Mede said.

"There is a discrepancy between [the two submitted plans]," Keeley said. Mede submitted a Proposed Sewage Disposal System plan and Topographic Plan of Land. "The driveways differ and the house footprint differs," Keeley said. "The house is set back from the street and presently meets the 25' setback policy, but [I'd like to see] the house pulled forward, [further away] from the wetlands." He indicated that the distance from the house to the street could accommodate a move forward and ease the wetland constriction.

There are also issues of prior wetland dumping, and both the DEP file number and NHESP report haven't been received yet. The biggest issue, however, is who actually owns the land. The property is part of the estate of Ivy Lienhard and the heirs were present at the hearing. The heirs indicated that they were never notified of the changes pending. The hearing was continued to November 3rd.

The Summer Stream Maintenance Project, which officially began June twentyfirst, has concluded. The series of brooks and streams within the town of Wilmington were cleaned. The cleaning included the pruning of brush, removal of downed tree limbs and any other debris such as tires, batteries and car parts, and the lowering of streambeds by shovel from street drainage runoff. The team did an exemplary job and their efforts improved the wetlands systems.

The Notice of Intent public hearing for 21 Baker Street was closed. "We're not able to meet the Commission's setbacks," Jeff Miller, representative for applicant Hazel O'Brien. "But we've met all the other requirements. We've minimized the house to 34' x 24' with no deck. We did every-

Three breast cancer survivors work together

By CHARLOTTE COOPER

TEWKSBURY - "We are living proof that breast cancer is not a death sentence," says Wilmington resident Jeanette Tighe. She and two of her coworkers at Carlson Real Estate, Sheila DiLeo and

Kay Williams-Willard, both from Tewksbury, are longterm survivors of breast cancer. Together they have formed their own support group and over the years, have used their energy and experiences, with the cooperation of other organizations, to help others.

"I was diagnosed in February 1981," 58 year old Jeanette said. She had a radical mastectomy that involved removal of the surrounding lymph glands and tissue. "I had a whole year of chemotherapy. That's what they did back then." She also had reconstructive surgery that used her own body tissue.

Breast cancer is the most common form of cancer in American women and every woman is at risk for it, according to the American Cancer Society. One out of eight women in America will develop breast cancer in her lifetime. An expected 176,300 new cases will be diagnosed this year. The Society estimates that the disease will cause 43,700 deaths this year, making it the second leading cause of cancer death in women.

"My mother died at age 42 of breast cancer. The history was there, so we were watching," Jeanette said. Early detection of breast cancer can often mean the difference between life and death. If cancer is detected early, the five year survival rate is more than 95% according to the ACS.

"I had a mammogram not long before [the cancer was discovered]. Nothing showed up," Jeanette said. Jeanette was in continual discomfort and only with her persistence did her doctor pursue other methods of detection. "My doctor said 'you have cancer. You need a mastectomy and you need it yesterday.' I had surgery a week later," she added.

57 year old Sheila concurred. "I was diagnosed with breast cancer in 1990. I found my lump about 6 months after my mammogram," Sheila said. "It was already at stage 2, almost stage 3 when I found it." Sometimes breast examinations and mammography isn't enough. "You need to know your body. You need to know what it tells you," she added. For some women, early detection can include the use of a radiopharmaceutical, which can illuminate masses as small as 1 centimeter.

"I ended up having a lumpectomy. It was malignant," Sheila had chemotherapy and radiation treatments. She also had a benign brain tumor that was removed in 1996. "I think that if you catch it early enough, breast cancer is curable," she said.

"I had invasive breast cancer," 65year old year old Kay said. She was diagnosed with breast cancer ten years ago. "I went to my husband's doctor for a chest cold," she added. She was examined and the doctor found a large mass on her left breast. She had a biopsy, then had surgery one month later.

"I had a mastectomy and also the lymph nodes," Kay recalled.

Wil. School-Business Partnership 10th anniversary

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington School - Business Partnership celebrated its 10th anniversary. The special event was held at Analog Devices in Wilmington Thursday, September 30, 1999. Approximately 40 people attended the celebration, which included founding and current members, educators, business and community leaders.

Frank Sullivan, Screenprint/

Dow Industries, presented the Partnership award to William Fejes, President of Pacific Scientific and Michael Nee, School to Work Coordinator for their outstanding contribution to the knowledge and skills of the Wilmington students participating in the 1999 Robotics Competition.

Dr. Geraldine O'Donnell, Superintendent of the Wilmington School District, spoke about the accomplishments of the partnership over the last 10 years.

Ms. Jeanne Bumstead, Textron Defense Systems and a founding member spoke about the 10 year vision.

Mr. Mark Norton, vice president and general manager of Analog Devices, spoke about Analog's continued commitment and involvement in the community, education and the partnership.

Ms. Susanne Clarkin, Wilmington School Committee member, presented an award given by the Wilmington School Committee to Frank Sullivan in grateful recognition of 10 years of outstanding service to the school children of Wilmington as president of the Wilmington School/Business Partnership.

The motion picture "Titanic" tied a record on March 23, 1998, when it won 11 Academy Awards, including best picture of 1997. Titanic equaled the total won by "Ben-Hur" in 1959.

It's YOUR Money
by Joyce Brisbois

OFF YOUR MORTGAGE?

Tired of those monthly payments? Ready to pay off your mortgage as fast as you can? Think again before you do. Truth is, a mortgage is a first-rate kind of loan. The rates are usually very attractive, and the interest you pay is usually deductible, as long as the loan is used to buy, build or substantially improve your home. If you rush to pay off your home mortgage, what happens if you need a big chunk of money later on? Yes, you can get a home equity loan, but the rate will be higher, there are costs involved in setting it up and, especially important, only the interest on $100,000 of home equity borrowing qualifies as deductible.

Some money-savvy types recommend a different approach. Do set aside money that could prepay your mortgage—but place it in a separate investment account. It will be there—and growing—if you want to pay off the mortgage later.

Financial decisions almost always have a tax consideration. We'll help you explore your options at

This time we are the Indians

by STU NEILSON

It's for our own good. The railroad will bring prosperity to our town and we'll all be better off for it.

Recently at local meetings it has been said by naysayers that the new MBTA parking lot will be an abomination, a blight, an ugly patch of black on our green town.

But, the all knowing Commonwealth of Massachusetts has decreed that the Massachusetts Bay Transit Authority should have the power to see into the future. Only they can see into our future. We mortals should obey. We mere mortals will obey.

We are not capable of understanding what is truly good for the town of Wilmington. We are not from the city and do not know the benefits of a completely asphalted landscape.

We have gathered. We have spoken to our local leaders, but to no avail, for they are from us and like us are not omniscient. Only the MBTA knows.

While this makes good fodder for editors, it is a fact that the MBTA is an Authority, with the power of the state behind it. They do not (and probably will not) have to listen to our protests.

Unfortunately we are like the Indians. We did not see the railroad coming, until it was too late. They have their plan and a few taxpayers will not stand in their way. It will take act of the complete legislature to stop the parking lot. We may tilt at the crossing gates, but they will have the parking lot their way.

Letter to the Editor

Print the whole story on the front page

Dear Editor:

I was very surprised at the story on the front page of your newspaper last week. I am referring to the story about the "paper work" was not in order for Shawshen Technical High School to build a house for the Shawshen Lottery Winner, Mike King.

I am not sure that Larz would have approved of the way this story was reported. The story involved

I don't expect to don't get any answers

Dear Editor:

Questions, questions - boy do I have a few!!

How did the railroad get possession of town land in the beginning? Did they buy it or did they get it by eminent domain? If it was acquired by eminent domain, that was for the benefit of the most people. As I see it, the only people who get most out of the setup is the railroad first, the riders last. How about the people who have property there and loose it because the railroad doesn't want to give them a fair deal?

Oh, by the way, how much does

Wilmington has a beautiful elm tree

Dear Editor:

I read with interest the article "Replanting the Whitefield Elm," Town Crier October 6. Jim Devine believes no older elms have survived in the town; there is an elm tree growing in the swampy part of my land and two small ones beside my compost pile. Interestingly, a cantaloupe vine once grew from refuse in the pile and twined up one of the trees to hang its fruit there.

People might be interested to know that the stump of the Whitefield Elm was once used as a meat chopping block by my husband's father, Peter McMahon, many people, both local and state wide. I challenge you to seek input from all parties involved i.e. boards, state agencies, lawyers, engineers, land owners and Mike King and print the whole story on the front page of your newspaper. Your story would then reveal all the interesting facts.

Waiting for your call,

the town get for the land the railroad runs on? We all pay taxes on the land we set on. The Indians said we do not own the land, we just have the use of it. They were right!!! They were just buried in it. Even then, they were not left alone, they get dug up time after time so scientists can see what kind of bones they had.

My family says, "dad, stay with history," but I think this is more fun, even though I don't expect to don't get any answers - right??

who was a butcher. It then went to the home of Louis Doucette, Redtop Farm on Ballardvale Street, then was missing for years until, I was told, it ended somewhere in Connecticut as a cistern cover.

However, Wilmington has a beautiful elm tree. As one comes from Lucci's store and looks west there it is, so gracefully wine glass shaped, always lovely against the sky, whether it be summer, winter, clear, stormy, or against a glorious sunset. It always lifts my heart to look at it.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Summertime for this teacher means polishing off some old projects and starting some new ones. One project the Trahan and Heath Brook Schools enjoyed was the performance of fourth and fifth grade students in a historical reenactment play about Tewksbury's history (1625-1775). It was held on April 14 at the Heath Brook School and is annually open to the public at no cost. As a backdrop to the April 14 play was another ongoing project, Heath Brook's Painted Turtle Trail. The Trahan School's Periwinkle Trail will serve as a backdrop for the return of the reenactment play in April of 2000.

The play and trails gives students a venue for field based educational lessons. Community members are welcome to use the trails for a variety of reasons.

What makes these projects work is the generosity of benefactors. Please note the great spirit in the following groups:

Play benefactors
Massachusetts Cultural Council

Massachusetts Teachers' Assoc.
Tewksbury Cultural Council
Tewksbury Teachers' Assoc.
Heath Brook Parent Advisory Council
Home Depot

Tewksbury Historical Society
Tewksbury School Department
Trahan Parent Advisory Council

The following businesses, corporations and agencies have contributed or volunteered to the development of the Painted Turtle Trail and the Periwinkle Trail:

Benefactors
Citizens Actively Reinforcing Education (C.A.R.E.)

Raytheon Corporation
Peter Bielecki

Re/Max Realty Connection, Richard and Donna Sullivan

Donors

Cuoco & Cormier, Richard Cuoco
Tewksbury Recycling Committee, Jae Gray

Hancock Environmental Consultants, John Dick

Massachusetts Electric, Guy Shepard

Shawshen River Watershed Association

This long list is a tribute to the generous spirit of Tewksbury. What a great characteristic for a community to have.

Sincerely

Dave Marcus

Our kids can learn what happens when politicians ignore their constituents

Dear Editor:

What a wonderful opportunity Rep. Miceli, Sen. Tarr and Selectmen Rooney, Newhouse and Wandell have given parents and teachers in our community. Instead of having to refer to far off countries or Washington for examples of political game playing and cowardice, we can let our kids read the local papers and watch the local cable channel.

They'll be exposed to the most intricate subterfuge and power politics that are affecting their own community without ever learning how to spell Chechnya or Timor. Our kids can learn first hand what happens when their elected politicians ignore their constituents and support special interest groups like the MBTA. Hopefully, our kids and their parents will quickly realize that the remedy is available to all of us when the next elections come around.

In case anyone missed the subtlety of the "Civics" lesson above, Rep. Miceli, Sen. Tarr and Selectmen Rooney, Newhouse and Wandell are attempting to circumvent the Town of Wilmington's citizens' desire for local control over the MBTA parking lot. They deserve to be censured or impeached, but will probably survive until the next elections.

Dick Longo

Will we be ignored by this [selectmen] board again?

Dear Editor:

Webster's dictionary defines ambiguous as "capable of being understood in two or more possible senses or ways." The last selectmen's meeting involved a discussion with our legislative delegation regarding the status of the MBTA parking lot proposal. Many residents brought up the fact that the town meeting vote in which 86 percent of the residents who attended the meeting voted on the following article:

"To see if the Town will vote to direct the board of selectmen to notify the MBTA and members of the Wilmington legislative delegation of the Town's opposition to the proposed MBTA commuter rail parking facility in the Town's center and to further withhold support for the construction of any such facility that does not satisfy the conditions of a Planning Board site plan review; or do anything in relation thereto."

One of the selectmen who is in favor of the project, commented on the article stating that he felt the question was ambiguous. As a result, he relies on the fact that he was elected in a public election of much more than the town meeting attendance and feels that the people who supported his election must also support the MBTA proposal.

That being said, I reminded the entire board of selectmen that as residents they had the opportunity to comment at town meeting regarding the project and, as residents, vote on the issue. They also had the right to question the author of the article, Selectman Bob Cain, and receive any clarification as to the intent of the article. At the time the vote was taken, all five selectmen, as residents, voted either in favor or not in favor of the article. None of the board members abstained from the town meeting vote. If the question was ambiguous, any of the voters could have, at that time abstained from voting at all.

At the selectmen's meeting, I asked the board how they, as residents, could vote on a question that they felt was ambiguous. I did not receive a reply from any of the board members. Maybe any of the members of the board could reply to this letter in this newspaper.

Like many residents (including our town manager, I cannot understand how a majority of this current board can openly challenge a vote of town meeting. Furthermore, does this challenge our town meeting form of government? Are these three people saying that we should eliminate our town meetings from our charter? Now there is talk of a special election to vote on the same issue. This ruling should not be a best two out of three falls wrestling match. If there is a special election to determine the fate of the town center and again the town opposes the project, will we be ignored by this board again or will they ask we go best three out of five?

I can explain my reason for being here

Dear Editor:

Greetings again from olde England. This time I am not writing from my home village of Hardwicke in the Vale of Severn, but from Tewksbury itself. I am, in fact, sitting in the comparative quiet of the Tap Room of the Berkeley Arms now that the boisterous uproar of the annual Mop Fayre has come to an end for this year. This last weekend's festivities marked the anniversary of the great Fayre of King John in 1911 and was enjoyed by all the populace. As I write, on the table before me, is an overflowing tankard of Wadworth's famous 6X Strong Ale and the remains of my sumptuous lunchtime repast. Having enjoyed the house specialty of beef and ale pie, and now that the inner man is fully satisfied, I can explain my reason for being here. Well, it is not just because Gibson and Tina Kemp keep a good table and jealously guard their reputation for purveying ale in excellent condition; no, gentle reader, it is because of the special place this pub occupies not only in the history of the town but also its long association with the Town Criers.

The Berkeley in days of yore was directly in line of sight with the Old Town Hall, or Tolsey, and from the Tap Room my predecessors over a century ago could keep an eye on the comings and goings across the road because, of course, they were not supposed to patronise any pub during their hours of duty.

Then if the Mayor, Town Clerk or any of the Magistrates emerged from the Town Hall enquiring for the Town Crier's whereabouts he could quickly leave the Tap Room via the back door and, by using the labyrinth of alleyways he could be at the other end of the town in a matter of minutes. Therefore, this pub is the unofficial 'office' of the Town Criers and to this day it is the place you are most likely to find him.

Town Criers have survived down through the ages because they have always been resourceful, flexible and possessed a sturdy pair of lungs. In some parts of the Realm Criers are simply called Bell Men because that, in essence, is what they are. Firstly, when towns were much smaller, a large bell was placed in the town centre usually over the Town Hall. Secondly, the Bell Man would ring the bell to bring townsfolk out of their houses to hear any news of national or local importance.

As towns grew in size, many houses and people were beyond the range of the bell or it was just too far to run to hear the news. So, the Bell Man was given a handbell and became the mobile news announcer he is today and in order not to be confused with the many tradesmen or hawkers who also rang bells, the Crier's bell was always very large and deep toned. The Criers were also part of the Town Watch, the forerunner of the police, and indeed the regular standing armed forces. These ideas our ancestors took with them to the New World of the Americas and the famous Minutemen of the Revolutionary War were formed along the same lines as the Town Watch, or Town-trained band. The Town Criers also rang the bell for the announcements and carrying out of public executions hence the old English expression

Once horrified a group of church ladies by explaining that the Town Criers in olden times also assisted at public executions, brandings, floggings and supervised the town stocks where people were pelted with rotten vegetables. Foolishly, I added that all these activities were stopped in the middle of the last century and so the job was not any fun these days! However, rest assured, I take great pride in being Tewksbury's Town Crier and enjoy every moment of it, especially meeting our many welcome visitors.

Maybe I will have the joy of meeting some of the readers of this famous Tewksbury chronicle in the future, but in the meantime, I bid you a fond farewell from the Town of two rivers in the glorious county of Gloucestershire.

God Bless you all

Michael

Firefighters take defensive driving course

WILMINGTON - Members of the Wilmington Fire Department have completed a new training course designed to help avoid tragic accidents at intersections while responding to emergency calls. The program, known as Emergency Vehicle Operations Course (EVOC), was designed by Douglas S. Duval, a 30 year veteran of the fire service himself, and sponsored by Great American Insurance Co., the insurance carrier for Wilmington.

Nationally, fire department vehicles are involved in over 14,000 accidents each year and nearly one third of all firefighter line of duty deaths occur while responding to and returning from alarms.

The leadership of the Wilmington Fire Department has taken a proactive stance in reducing the chances of such accidents occurring here and ask that you, the motoring public also join in by quickly yielding to emergency vehicles. When you are aware of an emergency vehicle approaching with emergency warning lights and sirens operating, pull to the extreme right and come to a complete stop.

Before reentering into traffic, check to make sure that another emergency vehicle is not approaching. At intersections, stop at a position that will not hinder the fire

DO NOT ATTEMPT THIS AT HOME! Fire Department will save lives and allow firefighters to get to their destination quickly, safely and efficiently.

Managing asthma program at Wilmington High School

WILMINGTON - For many children the start of school means adjusting not only to a new teacher and classroom, but the beginning of new set of circumstances in which they have to manage their asthma. For those children who are newly diagnosed the challenge can seem overwhelming. Asthma can interfere with a child's ability to learn and socialize, and is a leading cause of school absence.

On Wednesday, October 27 at 7 p.m. in the Herbert C. Barrows Auditorium at Wilmington High School, the Wilmington Public Schools Health Services will host a panel discussion for parents explaining the benefits of a team approach to successful asthma management. A question and answer session will follow the discussion. This program is open to the public.

Dr. John Saryan, a pediatric allergy specialist, will discuss the A-B-C's of asthma including asthma triggers, daily monitoring and the proper use of asthma medications. Michelle Carrick, a social worker and a parent of a child with asthma and allergies, will cover social and development issues and the role of a parent as a child advocate. Judi McAuliffe, RN, a school nurse, will discuss the role of the schools in providing an environment that supports the child as he/she tackles managing a chronic illness throughout a challenging school day.

Workshops for parents and students will be held at Wilmington High School on Wednesday, November 3 and 10 at 7 p.m. that will teach day to day management of asthma triggers and the tools of effective asthma management. Pre-registration for the workshops is required.

This series is a collaboration of local agencies including the Asthma and Allergy Foundation of America, the American Lung Association, and the Wilmington Tobacco Control Program. For more information about this program or to preregister, call Norma Rushton, School Nursing Coordinator at 694-6067.

BILL HOOPER IS ON THE TUESDAY CREW. He and fellow crew members have donated more than 500 hours to this project.

Story hours underway at Tewksbury Library

TEWKSBURY - Regular story hour programming resumed at Tewksbury Public Library during the first week of October. Spots in the three year old programs filled quickly, however there are several openings in the four year old program. Anyone wishing to enroll their child should go into the library to register. This program is open to Tewksbury residents between the ages of four and five who have not yet started Kindergarten. Proof of age and residency is required at the time of registration.

There are also spaces available in the Bedtime Story hours for K-second grade in our program geared to third and fourth graders. Pre-registration is required along with proof of age and residency. Please go into the Children's Room to register or call Pat Powers at 640-4490, ext. 204 for more information.

Preschool age children were the first to attend a series of craft programs and completed jack-o-lanterns on Wednesday, Oct. 6. The next program will be for children in grades K-two on Wednesday, October 20 and repeated on Oct. 27 for children in grade three and above. Registration is held one week prior to the craft. Times for K-2 are 3:30, 4, 4:30 and for third grade, 3:30 or 4:15. Limited spaces are available for each time slot. Children are encouraged to be on time so they have time to complete their projects. Craft programs for each age group will be held monthly. Schedules are available in the Children's Room.

The children's room is pleased to offer several outside performers through the year. These performances are made possible through grant funding made possible through the Community Partnership for Children. Please check with the Children's Room or check this newspaper for upcoming events.

An art auction and story-time for preschoolers highlight activities at Wilmington Library

Art Auction

WILMINGTON - Monday, October 18, the Friends of the Library will present the final "Art Auction" of the remaining art prints from the library's 1970's circulating print collection.

At the first art auction held in May, some bidders walked away with their favorite prints at bargain prices and the Friends raised over $500 for the library. Refreshments will be served during preview time from 7 to 7:30 p.m. The auctioneers will begin the auction promptly at 7:30 p.m.

Children's Theatre Workshop

Susan LoChirco, Director of the "Children's Theatre Workshop" of Actors Studio of North Reading, will be guiding children ages eight through 14 through an improvisational production of James and the Giant Peach on Tuesday, November 2 from 6 to 8 p.m.

No previous theatre experience is necessary and all materials will be provided. Parents, friends and all other interested parties will be invited to the last half hour of the program to be entertained by the group's small, informal performance.

This program is supported in part by a grant from the Wilmington Cultural Council and the Massachusetts Cultural Council.

Wilmington man Over the Hill Gang supports Habitat for Humanity

LOWELL - Habitat for Humanity of Greater Lowell is busy rehabilitating a two story house on Nichols Street in Lowell for a family of eight. The house was the long time residence of Elfrenda E. Poore and was donated to Habitat by the Emmanuel Baptist Church of Chelmsford. The building committee has been hard at work since May making structural changes from the basement to the roof to meet the current construction code and modifying interior partitions to meet the family needs. Windows/doors, siding, insulation, sheet rock, painting, plumbing and electrical work remain ahead.

The building crew works on Saturdays and Tuesdays and meets biweekly to coordinate their activities. The Saturday crew works under the direction of Jim Comeau of Chelmsford and consists of three to four core supervisors and volunteers who are scheduled weekly from Habitat Covenant churches. Bill Hooper of Wilmington is a key member of the Tuesday crew.

The Tuesday crew, affectionately known as the "Over the Hill Gang" consists of eight to 10 retired men who work weekly. They come from Acton, Carlisle, Chelmsford, Lowell, Stow and Wilmington. The average crew is six men, who work four hours every Tuesday providing 24 man hours of labor each week. To date, they have supplied 522 hours since reconstruction began in May.

All have retired, most from technical professions. Some are working on their first Habitat House, while others have worked on more than 10 houses over 10 years. Most have built only in Lowell, while two have also built in other states, sometimes with former President Jimmy Carter and his wife, Rosalynn. They all share the same desire to assist people in securing affordable housing these people might not otherwise afford. The Tuesday crew especially treasures working side by side with the future owners.

Story teller at Tewksbury Library

TEWKSBURY - Master story performer Leeny DelSeamonds will visit Tewksbury Public Library Saturday, October 16 at 2 p.m. to perform "Foibles, Folklore & Fun" a potpourri of heart warming, magical folk tales, story-songs and story poems from around the world, as colorful as the autumn foliage.

In her stories, Leeny hopes her listeners find a reflection of themselves, as they identify with the story characters' emotions, values, challenges and triumphs. Leeny is careful to include positive message or moral in each of the stories and says "It's important to remember that we're all just human at heart. We make mistakes. But if we pick ourselves up and keep going, we can triumph over just about anything."

With exquisite mime, a cornucopia of voices and a twinkle in her eye, Leeny encourages listeners to feel positive about themselves and to rejoice in human cultural diversity. "All programs include audience participation," says Leeny, "enabling listeners to share in the joy of performing and build their confidence."

A nationally known story performer, actress and theater director, Leeny DelSeamonds performs at schools, libraries, performing arts centers and festivals and is a regular at First Night Boston. Three Apples Storytelling Festival, CT Storytelling Festival and Sharing the Fire. Leeny surely is "An Afternoon's Best Bet." Tickets are available in the Children's Room.

On Wednesday, October 20, the library will welcome back Michelle's Menagerie as she brings a bit of the desert to our meeting room. Michelle, a resident of Tewksbury, has opened her home to a wide array of animals from around the world.

Michelle and her animal friends visit schools and libraries to help educate, inform and entertain both children and adults about animals from different environments, the Basic Menagerie, Desert Animals or Rain Forest Animals.

This performance, which is geared to children from three to five years old, and their parents will feature Desert Animals, and teaches how these animals can survive in such a harsh environment. Special adaptations and defense features are discussed. Seating is limited for performances at 6:30 and 7:15 p.m. Tickets are available in the Children's Room.

Both performances are made possible by a grant funded through the Community Partnership for Children. Please contact Pat Powers, 640-4490, ext. 204 or stop by the Children's Room for additional information.

Anniversary flowers

The library staff presented library director Tina Stewart with three beautiful roses on September 30 to congratulate her on her third anniversary as library director. Thanks to the staff for the flowers and for all their hard work as a team dedicated to meeting the challenge of providing good service to our patrons every day.

Friends of the Tewksbury Library in Pheasant Lane Mall charity event

TEWKSBURY - For the third year, the Friends of the Tewksbury Public Library will be participating in Pheasant Lane Mall's annual Charity Night event, scheduled for Sunday evening, November 21 from 6 to 10 at the mall in Nashua, N.H.

All participating non-profit organizations keep 100 percent of the profits from their ticket sales. In addition, the charity that sells the most tickets prior to the event will receive a bonus from the Pheasant Lane Mall. Tewksbury's Friends organization has been among the top ticket sellers in previous years.

This festive and exciting pre-holiday celebration will feature refreshments, prize drawings, and fun things to see and do. Some of the best area restaurants will take part in the Soup du Jour cooking contest. There will be special holiday entertainment, including the Victorian Carolers Quartet. A raffle with 100 items will be drawn during the evening. Also, a great store discount will be available at participating merchants, for early season holiday shopping in the mall's 130 stores. Charity Night takes place during Sunday evening hours when the mall is generally closed, and admission is by ticket only.

Tickets are available now at the Tewksbury Public Library, 300 Chandler Street (corner of Main and Chandler streets).

The Friends of the Library is a non profit organization founded in 1976, to promote a wider interest in the public library, to stimulate use of the library's resources and services, and to enrich the cultural life of the community through library activities. The group holds several events throughout the year to raise funds to benefit the library. The group recently purchased 10 tables for the library's meeting room and was a major donor to the Library Building Fund for original furnishings for the new public library.

For more information on the Friends of the Library's participation in Charity Night '99, call the Friends at 851-7717.

TEWKSBURY - The seniors will be holding their Breakfast Event of the year this coming Sunday, October 17, from 7:30 to 11. All proceeds from this event will benefit the Tewksbury Fire Department and the purchase of a Vision 3 Imaging System.

This piece of equipment will enhance the department's abilities in the following areas: finding people or animals in smoke filled areas; finding people, young and old, who may be lost in the woods or other hard to find places; the ability to find problem spots in wiring if someone smells something burning. This equipment can be used in many emergency incidents.

So why not plan on breakfast on the 17th? It would be helpful if you purchased your tickets prior to the event so planners can estimate the supplies needed. Tickets may be obtained at the Central Fire Station next to the Town Hall and at the Senior Center from 9 a.m. through noon and again from 1 to 4 p.m.

Adult tickets are $4, tickets for children 12 and under are $2 and toddlers will be admitted free. The menu consists of: pancakes with hot syrup, bacon, scrambled eggs, homefries, beans, cinnamon bread, and beverages! Come on down, enjoy and contribute to the cause!

Those volunteers helping to set up for the breakfast event should report for duty at 1 p.m. Friday, October 15.

An activities meeting will be held after set up this Friday, October 15, beginning at 2 p.m. All seniors are welcome to attend the COA activities meetings.

The Tewksbury Board of Health will conduct two flu vaccine clinics at the Senior Center. Both clinics will be held Tuesday, October 19 at the following times: in the morning from 9 to 11 and in the evening from 7 to 8:30. This is a free service for those residents 65 years and older or for those younger residents who have a chronic illness. If you have any questions, call the Board of Health at 640-4470 or 640-4473.

As noted last week, we've scheduled a trip to Angelica's in Middleton for Wednesday, October 20. This trip includes transportation, lunch and entertainment at $30 per person. The trip will be contingent on enough signups. Please note that payment must be made by this Friday.

The Council on Aging will hold its monthly meeting Thursday, October 21 in the main hall beginning at 3 p.m.

Friday, October 22, the Board of Health Nurse, Virginia Desmond will be speaking about "Stress Management." This discussion will begin at 12:45 p.m. All residents are welcome to attend.

Tickets are available for the October 29 Halloween Dance at the Senior Center. Ticket sales will close October 21. Our costume contest will begin at 6 p.m. immediately followed by a buffet. We are hoping to see a lot of our people in costume. Prizes will be awarded.

The Senior Center Annual Crafts Fair will be held Saturday, November 6 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The general public is welcome to rent a space for this event. The cost of a table space is $15 plus a craft gift worth $15 for the Country Store. To reserve a space one may contact Carol Hazel or Linda Brabant at the Senior Center.

A Mohegan Sun day trip has been confirmed for Monday, November 8, and as usual, it is filling up fast. The trip cost is $17 per person.

There are still some openings on the Englebert Humberdink trip of November 18. The trip cost is $43 and includes transportation.

The Bright Nights trip of November 30 is also starting to fill up. This trip includes motorcoach transportation, lunch, a visit to the Yankee Candle Shop in Deerfield and a ride through Forest Park to the lights display.

A pleasant week is wished to all.

School Matters

At the Tech 88% of 44 students improve math scores in summer program

BILLERICA - Designing a walkway, planning a vegetable garden, and preparing a luau were among the summer activities for students who would be ninth graders this year at Shawsheen Tech. All those activities, and more, were not part of leisure time pursuits, however. They were part of an educational program designed to improve students' math performance on the state mandated MCAS tests. Students were targeted because of low math scores on Stanford Diagnostic Tests, which Shawsheen Tech administers to incoming students. Parents were sent letters about the program, encouraging them to enroll their children. Fifty students signed up and 44 completed the program.

44 Percent Improve
Channeling students' energies into hands-on projects had great results, notes Pamela Barry, math instructor at Shawsheen Tech who coordinated the summer program. Students were tested both before and after the six week program. In post testing, 84 percent, or 37 of the 44, showed improvement in their math skills. Twenty-four, or 59 percent showed advancement of a whole grade level or more, with 11 of the 24 showing improvement of more than three grade levels. In the 96 hour program, there were 88 hours of instruction, with the remainder taken up by testing and an end-of-program party and celebration. This was time well spent for many students, who now have much better math skills.

When Barry looked at the student scores from the Stanford Diagnostic Test this past spring, she knew something special needed to be done for student whose skills were not up to par for doing high school work.

A Different Approach
"After eight years in a traditional classroom, these students had not acquired math skills, so we needed to try a different approach,"

she said of the decision to use Shawsheen Tech's technical shops and laboratories to implement applied learning. Barry analyzed the math concepts that were covered in the evaluation exam. "There were 32. Then we looked at the concepts covered in the four occupational programs we would use: Computer Aided Design and Drafting, Masonry, Plumbing and Culinary Arts. Twenty-nine were covered in the learning experiences. The three that were missing were added to the program-based learning," she explained.

Students proceeded to explore the four occupational areas, embarking upon math related projects in each one. In CADD, they designed a vegetable garden, then laid it out using stakes. Students used the computer to create the design and the actual staking outside verified the computer plan. Students also conceived a deck and a garage, with a contest held for the best garage design. Using a transit, a surveyor's tool, they marked off a ball field - Fenway Park, on school grounds. CADD instructors Ray Callahan and Andy Botticelli alternated sessions as teachers.

Masonry students learned how many bricks one can fit in a square foot by actually placing the bricks in a structure that size. They also planned walkways and created them within the shop area, and for homework, marked out another pathway at their own houses. In Plumbing, students learned about volume, weight, pressure, angles, algebra and trigonometry with pipes projects. They learned to solder pipes and measured a basketball court and downsized it mathematically, also using pipes. Masonry students were taught by Larry Bradley and Terry Doherty instructed Plumbing students; both are day-time instructors at Shawsheen Tech.

Culinary students took a virtual cruise, planning a luau feast as a cruise ship meal, and then eating it. Before they could consume the feast, however, they had to learn about cooking measurements, the cost of meals, and how to increase recipes to feed a certain number, for example. Shawsheen Culinary instructor Meg Costello taught this session.

While the program was proceeding, Barry noted, representatives from the Department of education performed an on site evaluation. "They were impressed with the involvement of the students, and their focus and behavior," Barry related.

The success of the program is in the improved skills, the career exploration, and the enthusiasm of the students, which includes higher self esteem for some, said Barry. "When asked about what they liked about the program, they said the teachers were encouraging and the visual experience of seeing math concepts applied helped them truly understand," she said. "We want to run this again next year."

AP test scores are in TEWKSBURY - The Educational Testing Services which sponsors the Advanced Placement Program examinations has informed Anthony J. Romano as principal of Tewksbury Memorial High School (TMHS) of the results of the AP exams taken last spring by members of the junior and senior classes.

Romano was very pleased by the results of 27 juniors in the United States History test, 18 students in Biology and eight seniors in Calculus AB.

Five (18.5%) received the highest score of "5" compared to the global distribution of 9.4% for 174,693 candidates in U.S. History. Thirteen (48.1%) received the second best score of "4" compared to the global distribution of 19.6%. Only four (14.8%) students received a grade below the passing score of "3" for college academic credit compared to the global distribution of 49.3%.

Three (16.7%) received the highest score of "5" compared to the global distribution of 19.7% for 81,494 candidates in Biology. Ten (55.6%) received the second best score of

"4" compared to the global distribution of 22.1%. Five (16.7%) students received a grade below the passing score of "3" for college academic credit compared to the global distribution of 34.9%.

Four (50%) received the highest score of "5" compared to the global distribution of 16.1% for 125,781 candidates in Calculus AB. Three (37.5%) received the second best score of "4" compared to the global distribution of 22.7%. Nobody received a grade below the passing score of "3" for college academic credit compared to the global distribution of 36.3%.

In addition, 16 seniors took an alternative examination in English Literature/Composition with only two students scoring below a "3." Three of these students reached the highest level of "5."

These achievements in the AP tests, according to Romano, certainly are connected to the dedication and professionalism of teachers Robert MacDougall, Mary Herlihy, Nadine Sutliff, Jennifer Brooks, and Robert Brigida of the TMHS staff.

Flynn and Carr awarded Hats Off

TEWKSBURY - Colleen Flynn, daughter of Debra and Chet Flynn, and David R. Carr, son of Leslie and Joseph Carr, have been named "Hats Off" Students for the Month of October at Tewksbury Memorial High School (TMHS).

Colleen Flynn
Colleen has earned the TMHS Renaissance Gold Card four times; is a one time Silver Card recipient, serves as vice president of the National Honor Society.

She acts as student representative to the school committee; vice president of the Student Council and is a member of DECA and the Yearbook Committee. She also serves as a delegate to the New England Section of Mass. Assoc. of Student Councils.

Colleen was a member of the basketball team in grades nine and 10; played softball in grades nine, 10, 11 and plans to play during her senior year.

She earned a leadership award from the Student Council and volunteers to help keep bowling scores at a special needs camp during the winter.

She has worked at a special needs camp during the past two summers at Heath Brook summer camp and is employed by Dunkin' Donuts.

David R. Carr

David is a recipient of the TMHS Renaissance Gold Card; earned a SAT score of 1210 and achieved high honors in grade 11.

He served as president of his junior and senior class; is a member of the Student Council and student representative to the TMHS Education Council. He is a member of DECA and of the school newspaper staff.

Athletically, David is a feature on the varsity soccer and wrestling teams.

He counts among his special achievements, being named to Who's Who in American High Schools in grades 10 and 11 and earned the Town Crossings "Good Kid" Award.

His community service involves work with the church youth group at St. William's and the delivering of Christmas baskets to needy families.

David is employed as a foreman of Turtle Paint during the summer months and expects to become an Eagle Scout in the near future.

The surgery was followed by Tamoxifen, an antiestrogen medication therapy. Estrogen, a hormone produced in women, can promote growth of some breast cancers, according to the ACS. Tamoxifen therapy can reduce the chances of recurrence by blocking the estrogen receptors at the cancer site.

Cancer is as devastating for the family as it is for the patient. "I was my own support group," Jeanette said. She said it was a difficult time for her family. "They don't know how to handle it," she added. After her surgery, her surgeon asked her to counsel other women faced with the same procedure. She found that their families had difficulty accepting what was happening and talking about it helped them cope.

"You get the strength from within," Sheila said. She called Jeanette when she learned she had breast cancer. It helped her get through the ordeal.

"You don't have a choice. It's either you live or you die," Kay said. Her son was only ten at the time and she'd lost her husband to cancer five years before she was diagnosed. "That's all I asked for, to be here to take care of my son," she said.

"Men can get breast cancer, too," Sheila said. Although it is rare, 400 new cases are expected this year according to the American Cancer Society.

Sheila and Jeanette participated in the Strides Against Breast Cancer walk in Boston on Sunday. Kay sponsored them. "We had 60 people from the Realtor's group," Jeanette said. The group raised over $8000 this year, up from $5000 last year. There were over 342,000 walkers. "Our goal was to raise 2.7 million and as of last night, we raised 2.9," she added. "It's not about me. It's about helping somebody that needs to get through it."

"We're doing a breast cancer luncheon at the Hillview Country Club in North Reading," Jeanette said. The luncheon will be held on Tuesday, October 12th from 12:00 noon until 2:00PM. Guest speakers will be Dr. Craig Bunnell from the Dana Farber Cancer Institute, and Judy Clemmens, A.C.S. Cancer Control Team. "Education is the key," Jeanette said. "The problem is that women feel a lump and are afraid to tell anyone. They are afraid it's cancer. But the alternative is that the disease progresses too far." The tickets are $15 and everyone is welcome.

Sheila, Kay and Jeanette along with other members of the Eastern Middlesex Board of Realtors are also involved in helping with other events and organizations. They sell daffodils in the spring to benefit cancer research and are actively involved with a nonprofit organization called Angel Flight.

"We sell daffodils through the Eastern Middlesex Board of Realtors. Last year we [realized almost] $7000 with daffodils," Jeanette said. The Flight program is run by a small group of local pilots that donate their time and airplane to shuttle patients who can't afford transportation. "They fly them from homes as far away as Caribou, Maine and Virginia so that they can get to their treatment centers in Boston," Jeanette said. "This organization was formed three years ago. The pilots pick up the patients and fly them into Beverly, Bedford or Lawrence, and we drive the person into Boston from there," she said. "[Most] of our patients are breast cancer patients and children."

"The minute anyone hears cancer, they assume it's a death sentence. We're living proof that there's hope," said Sheila. "You are more than just a breast. You are a whole person," Jeanette said.

The cash reserve would complement the town's capital building projects: the new middle school and the public safety building, and could be made available to pay for these buildings future maintenance needs.

Article 3 would rezone an 8.91 acre Butter's Row parcel from a Residential 60 district to a Planned Residential Development District.

Article petitioner Joe Langone, manager of Northeastern Development, seeks to construct a 23 unit 55-and-older housing development. The article requires a two-thirds vote of approval to be accepted.

Article Four would allow an easement for sewer construction for Christine Drive.

Article Five, submitted by petitioner Al Quandt, would allow auto repair and body shops to sell a limited number of used cars on their lots.

Article Six, submitted by Richard Stewart Jr., asks that town lands be contributed towards an affordable housing project. The town lands would be combined with privately owned lands, and the project would bring the town closer to complying with state affordable housing percentage requirements.

The Finance Committee and Planning Board will meet in joint session, to review all six Special Town Meeting articles, on Nov. 2.

Public Safety Building
The Public Safety Building

construction site has been fenced off, and most trees on the site have been cut down and removed.

According to Public Buildings Superintendent Roger Lessard, excavation of the building foundation will be completed by mid-November, and the buildings steel structure should be completed by the end of Feb., 2000.

"It's an aggressive schedule, we know that," Lessard said. "But [contractor] Seaver Construction has not indicated they have a problem with it."

A playground has also been removed from the Public Safety Building site, and will remain in storage until a new playground site is determined.

Neighbors in the Adelaide Street area have campaigned for the park to remain in their neighborhood, within walking distance of their homes. Both the neighbors and Town Manager Mike Cairra have indicated their first option is to move the playground to Rotary Park, directly across the street from the Public Safety Building site.

Project contractor Seaver Construction of Woburn have placed their trailer on the site, which will soon be joined by the Clerk of the Works' trailer.

"I've heard horror stories from other community's, involved with projects as big or bigger than the Public Safety Building," said Selectman Jim Rooney. "We're very fortunate."

thing we could."

The Commission closed the public hearing.

Two wetland violations were on the agenda: a pile of sand and a concrete mixer were observed in the recently restored wetlands on 14 Shady Lane Drive and dirt and branches from driveway reconstruction at 15 Shady Lane Drive were pushed into the wetlands. In addition, the driveway reconstruction project was not submitted to the Conservation Commission for approval.

53 Adams St. may get a new dwelling. Gregory Saab, representing applicant Earl Bradberry, proposes to build a single family dwelling on the site. "It will have 36.5' setback from garage to wetlands and 96' from wetlands with proposed septic," Saab said.

"It needs drywells. The wetland delineation is fine. [There are] no other wetland issues," Keeley said. Saab indicated there will be erosion controls in place, however, a house plan with dimensions was not submitted and the NOI was continued to October 20th.

Silver Lake will get a fishing pier as soon as next year. Dan Goulet of the Public Access Board, in conjunction with the Department of Fisheries, Wildlife and Environmental Law Enforcement, proposes to build a fishing pier. "Except for some shading, there won't be much disturbance [of wetlands]," Keeley said. According to Keeley, the proposal appears to satisfy the state's standards that address water quality, wildlife habitat and protection of fisheries. A wheelchair accessible walkway is also proposed from the dirt parking area to the pier.

140 West St. was continued to October 20th. The proposal for a new industrial building and expansion of the parking area on about 10 acres of land along Route 93 was continued. "We've been holding lots of equipment, some of it HVAC equipment, for someone else. We currently have a [oil] [ongoing project]. A lot of that equipment is waiting to go there," Joseph Miara, Jr., the applicant, said. He indicated that their rigging equipment needed a bigger area to turn around in, but that they had no plans to increase the amount of equipment in their inventory.

"[There's] a pretty high intensity use [of the lot]," Keeley said. "There's a lot of equipment stored on the lot. I have concerns about the existing drainage and the whole site." Issues surrounding a Stormwater Management Plan and lot use were still unresolved, and the Commission continued the hearing to October 20th.

10 Christine Drive was continued to October 20th. "There's no DEP number. The proposal requires town sewer that will cross two Townowned properties," Keeley said. He indicated that approval will require a Town Meeting vote and that the sewer extension needs to cross wetlands. "This was filed as a limited project, but it's really two different projects," he added. The Commission requested an alternative analysis and continued the hearing.

site. O'Brien said Olin representatives had not yet met with the company, and said the situation was "very preliminary."

Town Manager Mike Cairra asked when the town would be given a chance to provide their input on the "desirability" of the proposed development.

O'Brien said town input could be provided when the developer went before the appropriate town boards to obtain the proper permits, but said Olin intends to approach the town with the offer long before the permitting process begins.

"Our intent is to approach town leadership," O'Brien said. "There will not be a point of no return when the town will not have their say [in how our land is developed]."

SWEAT Bridge dedicated Tuesday. Rep. Jim Miceli and members of the Shawsheen River Watershed Environmental Action Team (SWEAT) attend the dedication of the SWEAT Bridge on Tuesday evening. The bridge, located on Mill Street in Tewksbury, was destroyed by floodwaters in June, 1998 and has since been rebuilt.

SWEAT were honored for their dedication to keeping the Shawsheen River clean, and in fact the bridge crosses over the Shawsheen River. SWEAT was started in 1982, and group members have spent the past 17 years cleaning out trash from the riverbed and abutting banks.

Also attending the ceremony were Mill Street residents and Town Manager Dave Cressman. (Maureen Lamoureux photo)

Competes in major marathon

Cripanuk peaks again

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Kevin Cripanuk has gone through a lot of peaks and valleys through his athletic life. This past weekend was another peak.

As a junior in high school he was fifth in New England as a 300 meter intermediate hurdler, only to sit out his entire senior year because of a hamstring injury. He was told he would never run again.

He overcame that obstacle, convinced the Penn State track coach to give him a partial scholarship, and all he did then was placed eighth nationally as a Collegiate hurdler, which led him to make the 1992 U.S. Olympic Trial team. He would miss the '96 trials by 16 hundredths of a second, only to fall off a three-story building three months later which required reconstructive surgery to his face, as well as severe injuries to his foot. He was told once again he would never be a hurdler.

Now 29 years old, Cripanuk is enjoying a new life-style. No longer is he competing year round with a must-win attitude each race, now he has taken up distance running. This past Saturday he finished in his second marathon ever, the Aetna U.S. Healthcare Greater Hartford Marathon, which featured 4,100 runners from 8 different countries and 41 different states in America. Besides cramping up for a seven mile stretch, Cripanuk and former Wilmington native John Carter became instant friends with 26 mile journeys.

"Marathoning is fun, instead of getting mad at myself (for not winning) I can sit back and enjoy the scenery," he said. "We went to this race to qualify for the Boston Marathon and (once we knew we weren't going to qualify) we said, 'forget Boston', let's enjoy this wonderful scenery."

"My priorities are a lot different now. I have a wife, a baby and another (baby) on the way. From 1992 until the accident, running was my job. I was a professional athlete. I traveled all over the country and it was great."

"The accident prevented me from living a high impact life and distance running is not high impact. And I think for the first time in my life, I'm actually enjoying running."

For the record, Cripanuk finished 712th overall out of 4,100 runners. The top finishers came from Russia and Kenya. Even though he cramped up for seven miles, his 4:09.37 time was pretty good, it wasn't good enough to qualify for the Boston Marathon, something he was shooting for.

"I had a lot of fun, (the Marathon) was very well organized," said Cripanuk, who is now in pharmaceutical sales. "It was a lot bigger than I thought. We thought there would be only about 1,000 runners, but once we got there we realize there were a lot more than that."

"It was nice, you could focus on your own time and keep within yourself. You knew there a thousand runners in front of you, and a thousand behind you. But I liked it, it was a lot of fun."

Cripanuk says the race was a lot of fun when it could have easily have been awful. Besides cramping up for seven miles, he admitted that he and Carter both jumped the gun too quickly. On top of that he didn't get a good night's sleep as his new born daughter had her first cold. That says a lot considering all of his life he has been extremely competitive when it comes to running.

"(The accident) was pretty traumatic, it didn't hit me until about a year later and that's when I got all depressed. Hurdles was a passion of mine throughout my entire life. I lost something that I wanted so badly."

It was in late October of '96 when Cripanuk fell from a three story building and landed with his foot under a car. He broke several bones in foot besides having reconstructive surgery to his face. He spent 11 days in Mass. General Hospital. All of that happened after spending the last ten years pouring his heart-and-sole into being a tremendous hurdler. He trained night and day from the days with Frank Kelley, to the days as Nittany Lion for Penn State, to the days of preparing for the Olympic Trial teams which only took the top 32 in the entire country according to time.

"I've been through a lot of ups-and-downs," he said. "I was told when I had my hamstring injury that I'd never run again, but I brushed that one out and Penn State gave me a shot. They didn't take me until late July when classes started in September (because of my injury)."

"I wanted to go to a real strong program. I didn't want to go to a school where I would be a Big Fish in a Small Pond, that's why I took the partial scholarship they gave me instead of a full one that some of the smaller schools offered me."

"I got my butt kicked (in the beginning at Penn State) but that taught me a lot."

From those early years of not finishing among the elite, Cripanuk worked himself into the 26th best hurdler in the country, and 51st in the world by the time the trials

Never-say-die attitude sticks on girls' cleats

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

While injured players continued to line up in plain clothes on the sidelines, the rest of the struggling Wilmington High girls soccer team went to work on Monday afternoon.

What they had to do was overcome the losses of seniors Lindsay Bruno, Nicole McIver and Lynn Hurley, who all joined Meredith Cipriani on the bench. Cipriani was the team's starting goalie and a pretty good one too. Bruno is the school's all-time leading goalscorer and a heck of a soccer player. McIver is a solid contributor as a halfback or forward, while, Hurley has been "a rock" on defense, not allowing her marked player to score in any game this season.

Inbetween all of that came North Andover to town on Columbus Day afternoon. The Scarlet Knights have been a powerhouse in the Cape Ann League and certainly have had Wilmington's number over the years. Wilmington, sporting its 2-6-1 record, were about to play a much stronger club with a depleted roster. Cipriani has been out all season and remains to be seen whether or not she can return for basketball, while, Bruno (foot), Hurley (broken nose) and McIver (back spasms) should be back within the next game or two.

Now with the injuries, a tough team in North Andover, and an absolute brutal schedule of playing 6 games in 8 days, and 9 games in 14 days prior to Monday's game, it seemed like nothing would or could be going in the right direction for a team who had very high expectations.

But then again, like this week has been in the Boston area in sports, there's the never-say-die attitude. And that's what the Lady Wildcats did, by not only beating North Andover, but shutting them out, 1-0.

"We needed this," said head coach Sue Hendee, "especially after Triton tied us 2-2 with a minute left (on Saturday). We didn't play well at all against (Triton), but today we played really well."

"Today proved that you don't have to be the best skilled player to play in this league. Just be smart. Make the smart plays. Play smart defense and you'll be fine. And that's what we did today."

Although NA had more scoring opportunities than Wilmington, the 'Cats played a terrific game in what has become a must win in each of their remaining 8 games. At 3-6-1 now, Wilmington can't lose 3 more games, or else what was thought as an automatic state tournament appearance with this team's roster, will become an automatic season that was.

"Everything has gone wrong for us (prior to this game)," said forward Kristen Kacamburas, who has scored in four straight games without Bruno on her side. "We were expecting a lot, and (the slow start) was a slap in our faces. But this win will help us. We proved that we can play with North Andover and Masco, so we know we can play with anyone."

Kacamburas has been huge for the team, this season, the last few seasons, and especially on Monday. In the 24th minute of Monday's game, she came through again. Senior Lauren McCarthy took a throw-in from the top left corner of North Andover's end. McCarthy can really throw the ball, she has been the team's best thrower/free kicker over the past few years. Monday was no different. McCarthy threw a long one, this one landed about 5 feet past the far post. Teammate Kendall O'Dea raced for it, turned to her side and booted a pass/shot back to the front of the net. Kacamburas stationed in front of the net and squibbed one just inside the right post for the game winning goal.

"I knew we were capable of winning this game," said Hendee. "And it's a big one for us."

Before Kacamburas struck for the game winner, and until the final whistle after the 80th minute, junior Becky Rufo certainly put in a stellar performance in net. With just about a dozen of games under her belt, the former field position player turned in her second shut-out, making 13 saves. Besides her, the defense was exceptional. Molly Pidgeon might not be the most skilled player Wilmington has had on its defense, however she has played brilliantly this season. Pidgeon is a very intelligent player, pushes the ball to the sides and doesn't panic. She also doesn't let anything by her.

"Molly has stepped it up big time, especially in the last three games," said Hendee. "Our defense has lost a lot, especially with Lynn gone, and it seems like they have gotten a lot stronger. Without Nicole and Lindsay it looked like we had some big holes to fill. And Molly has done a wonderful job."

It was Pidgeon along with Mary Sullivan, Danielle Spry and Jackie Ingram who controlled the defense. Sullivan and Spry are two of the several young freshmen on the team who have filled in nicely to the lineup.

With a Tuesday night game against Newburyport which results were not known as of presstime, Wilmington does have a long bridge to cross to get to state tournament play. As long as their legs don't burn out, and their confidence remains high, there is certainly a good chance the girls can do it.

Special K, Rufo, emerge

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

It could have been any normal Monday afternoon Cape Ann League game. But for the Wilmington High girls soccer team, they could never go in with that attitude. First of all, they were playing North Andover; secondly they were without four starting players; finally, they were 2-6-1, a very disappointing record considering the team thought it could go further than the second round of the Division 3 North tournament in which they reached last year.

On one hand, senior Kristen Kacamburas has quietly taken charge for the girls, and coming through with clutch performances each and every game. Last two seasons, it seemed as if all her hustle and non-stop running only got several teammates recognition, after all she had trouble finishing what she started.

Then, on the other hand, is junior Becky Rufo. A former field player who was thrown into the net this year after Meredith Cipriani was pronounced out for the season with a foot injury, Rufo, like Kacamburas finished what she started.

Last season Rufo has several games in net, but was very new to the position, very raw and did well. This year she is a year older, a year wiser, and a lot better.

Kacamburas, a year older, a year wiser, the same tremendous work ethic and now that's added up to big time feats.

The two of them were much like Pedro Martinez and Troy O'Leary on Tuesday night for the Red Sox - but in this case it wasn't a two-man wrecking crew. It was two Lady 'Cats who roared pretty loudly.

"Kristen has been outstanding for us, she really has," said head coach Sue Hendee after Kacamburas netted the lone goal in a 1-0 huge win over North Andover. "Ever since Lindsay (Bruno, the school's all-time scorer) has been out, Kristen has scored in each of the four games. She has really stepped it up. We moved her to the middle (forward position) and that has done a lot for us. She is all over (the opposing team's) stopper and she never stops hustling or running."

Rufo, turned in a brilliant effort, stopping all 13 shots put on her. North Andover stormed the 'Cats with many shots and golden opportunities, but Rufo notched her second shut out of the season.

"I have more experience now, and I'm much more comfortable," she said. "Once we found out that Meredith was out, it was like 'OK I'm the goalie now'. So I wanted that, and I wanted the chance to take this team all the way to the states."

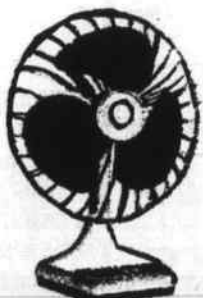

When the team celebrated with

FROM THE PRESS BOX

JAMIE POTE

Before Monday's games, the Wilmington and Tewksbury boys and girls soccer teams combined for a record of 4-24-7. That's not a particularly good record.

The Wilmington Boys team is winless in 9 tries, but are coming off two terrific seasons. In four different seasons this decade, Wilmington has gone to the Division 3 North Championship game in '90, '91, '97 and '98. They went to the Eastern Mass game twice, and the state championship game once, losing all three times. With those teams they have had many outstanding players including John Lynch, who went on to Bentley College and performed very well.

Wilmington is enriched in its youth soccer. The program has hundreds of kids playing every week for several different teams. A lot of those travel teams have had great success in the Mass. State of Tournament Champions, while several years ago the Under 14 Girls team brought home a state championship.

This year's Wilmington High Boys team lost 14 players from last year's team who ended its season in the Eastern Mass. final, losing to Medway, 2-1, in overtime. Basically they are starting all over. Their record of 0-5-4 then becomes understandable. But actually they are playing OK, they just can't score.

It was automatic that the Tewksbury boys team went to the state tournament. Recently, they lost twice in the Division 2 North tournament to Reading, who was nothing short of a powerhouse, while another recent loss came to Burlington, on several controversial calls. After the 1997 season, Tewksbury lost 15 players who were eligible to come out for the program between the varsity and junior varsity teams. Because of a commitment Tewksbury made to the MVC, head coach Steve Levine kept just 14 players on his varsity team, while 13 others went to the JV squad.

Among the 15 players was Anthony D'Angelo, who is the greatest soccer player ever at TMHS, and currently is the starting fullback as a freshman for the Boston University soccer team. He plays the most on the team and is being groomed to move into the center half-back position for next season.

"We're still two years away," said Levine. "The past few seasons our skills level hasn't been up to average. We're getting there, but we're not there yet."

Tewksbury also has a pretty good feeder program in youth soccer. They too have many teams and many players, but it seems lately the problem lies with many of the soccer players turning their backs to Tewksbury High, which for the boys program was always, always an outstanding team prior to timing of those 15 kids leaving.

"There's so many soccer players who are on other teams - look at Shawsheen Tech, Central, Austin Prep, St. John's, Greater Lowell, so many kids from Tewksbury are on those teams," said Levine. "And a lot of them are great players."

Could that be a problem? Well for the Wilmington High girls team, several players from the Under 14 state championship team from four years ago went onto Austin Prep to solidify that program. So yes, that has been a problem. Everyone assumed that the girls who made up that eighth grade traveling state championship team would clean house at the high school level, well high school state championships certainly don't happen over night. A lot of things have to go right including players improving, not to mention opposing team's players improving. The Wilmington Girls have also been hit with the injury bug big time over the last three or four years, so that certainly doesn't help.

The Tewksbury girls soccer team hasn't had a winning season since Babe Ruth was sold to the Yankees. People also assume in that town the same thing in Wilmington that since the youth travel teams do so well that they should automatically do well at the high school level. Welcome to the Merrimack Valley Conference with the likes of Billerica and Andover.

Who knows what the real reasons are for all four teams to be slumping like they are. Maybe the skill level isn't there, maybe other teams are just better, or maybe this is all a coincidence, four teams having sub-par seasons in the same year.

College Notebook

This past weekend several locals had an outstanding day at the Bryant Invitational Cross Country Meet. Both the men's and the women's race featured 10 teams, and for the men's Merrimack took first. And of all of the runners, Matt Kacamburas, a freshman, took third overall at a time of 27:55. This is the first time ever Matt has ran cross country as he did soccer at WHS. Wow!

As for other locals, Chris Toppin, a senior for Assumption, took 30th overall in the race with a time of 31:00. As for the women's side, another freshman, Danielle Bastien, did extremely well, taking 16th overall, at 21:24. The men's team took fifth overall as a team, while the women took sixth.

One of Bastien's classmates from last year's TMHS class, Bob Pucko, is a starter for the Hamilton College football team. One of the nicest kids Tewksbury has had, Pucko has adjusted very well as an offensive lineman.

Tewksbury youth soccer registration

Any changes, if necessary, to the by-laws of the league will take place at the meeting as well. This meeting is open to all who may be interested in a board position, applying for a coaching position, or interested in the league in general. If you have any questions, please feel free to call Susan Ferreira at 851-7597.

Wilmington golf qualifies; Tewksbury evens record

By JEFF NAZZARO
Sports Correspondent

With a pair of key home course victories over division rivals, the Wilmington High School golf team boosted its already state tournament-qualifying record to an impressive 10-4-1 with two matches left. For coach Al Fessenden, the tourney qualification is the fifth straight. Now he's looking for his first Cape Ann League Large School title.

"We're right in the thick of things," said Fessenden on his team's chances at winning the division. "We should be right there at the end."

Last Friday the Wildcats scraped by North Andover, 7-5, and followed it up Tuesday with an 8-4 beating of Masconomet. Both matches were held at Hillview Golf Club in North Reading, Wilmington High's home course. Earlier in the season, the Wildcats lost road dates to both schools by identical 7-5 margins.

"Both these matches were good comeback victories," said Fessenden. "We played both on their courses and lost 7-5 both times. We knew we had to beat them at home and we did."

Aaron Ungvarsky, Jordan Ungvarsky and Jay Youngclaus each secured wins over North Andover while senior Evan O'Neil halved his match for Wilmington's seventh point. Brian Velardo, golfing in the number one spot, was low medalist for Wilmington. He fired a 38 but lost his match, running into a 36 from his opponent.

Aaron Ungvarsky won 1-up with a 41 out of the two spot, while younger brother Jordan also won 1-up playing the five position. Youngclaus torched the course for a 39 en route to a 5 and 3 win in the three position.

Against Masco, Velardo, the brothers Ungvarsky and O'Neil all won their matches. Aaron Ungvarsky was low medalist for Wilmington playing number two. He shot a 36 and won 4 and 3. Velardo, Wilmington's number one, shot a 37 and prevailed 4 and 2. Jordan Ungvarsky hit for 40 and a 3 and 2 win while O'Neil fired a career-low 38 on his way to a 4 and 2 victory.

"We played well today," said Fessenden. "Our top six golfers all played very well today."

Tewksbury Golf evens record
A win at Dracut last Thursday

evened the Tewksbury High golf team's season record at 5-5. But since then, consecutive losses, including the first home loss of the season have set the club two wins shy of even and a little further behind coach Larry Basteri's expectations as the season winds to a close.

"I was hoping to be a little bit more than .500," Basteri said. "We suffered our first loss at home today. We play well at home as most teams do. The thing that separates good teams from bad teams are the ones that can go out on the road and win. When you can go into someone else's backyard and beat them on their course that's a big thing."

Tewksbury did just that last Thursday at Hickory Hill in Dracut, topping the Middies 8-1/2 to 3-1/2. The medalist for the Redmen in that one was Shawn Scott, whose 40 in the four spot for Tewksbury gave him a 2 and 1 win. Other wins came from Rich Enos, who fired a 41 and won 2 and 1 in the three spot and Dan Fratalia, who also won 2 and 1 out of the five.

Number six golfer Shawn Anderson and number seven Jeff Medor each won as well. Both were playing in their first varsity matches. Anderson won 2 and 1, Medor won 3 and 2. Number one golfer Chase Wells halved his match for Tewksbury.

The next day at Lowell's Mt. Pleasant, the Red dropped a 7-1/2 to 4-1/2 match. Wells was medalist for Tewksbury with a 40, winning 3 and 1 out of the one spot. Enos shot his second consecutive 41 out of the three spot and for the second day in a row won his match, this time two-up. Scott also won again, also 2-up and he and Enos combined to win the best ball point for the three-four twosome.

Tewksbury picked up their half point against Lowell when Mark Peters chipped to six feet below the pin on the ninth and final hole, then sank his putt to win the hole and steal a half of the best ball point for his twosome. Peters was playing with John Harrington.

Tuesday afternoon the club returned home to Trull Brook Golf Course but found no solace there, only the red hot golfers of Haverhill High, who spanked Tewksbury 11-1/2 to one-half.

"We took it on the chin pretty good," conceded Basteri, who noted this wasn't a fluke either. Tewksbury lost by the same score when they visited Haverhill Country Club earlier in the season.

Tewksbury was simply over-matched in this one. Wells was medalist for the Red with an excellent round of 38 but lost to a 36. Brett Schettino fired a respectable 41 but got beat by a 40 in the number two spot. Haverhill continued the carnage across the board, scoring 38s from their number three and four golfers.

The Redmen linksters have a chance to get back in the win column Thursday afternoon at Hickory Hill when they face Central Catholic.

"We beat them earlier but they've come around since then," said Basteri.

Offense a problem for Cushing's team

By David Flynn
Sports Correspondent

If there is one word that can describe the Wilmington field hockey team and how they have played this season, it would have to be consistency. And, although most coaches would be thrilled to know what they were going to get out of their teams day in and day out, Wildcats head coach Patti Cushing is not one of them.

Cushing is not pleased with one area of play that has become an every day struggle. Scoring goals. The Wildcats' defense has played strong all year and the goaltending has been tremendous. But, where is the offense?

"Offense is our problem," said Cushing. "It has been a season long problem and we have been working on it, but it just hasn't come together."

On Monday, the Wildcats took to the field against Newburyport. Once again, the defense was rock solid. The goal tending was even more impressive. But, the game ended as usual, with Newburyport outscoring the Wildcats 1-0.

In the first half, the Wildcats spent most of the time on their own end playing defense as Newburyport was doing everything but putting the ball in the goal. Sophomore Kathleen Walsh came up with numerous saves from point blank range to keep the game tied at 0.

However, Walsh could stay hot for only so long.

In the second half, there was a group of Newburyport and Wilmington players bunched in front of the net. After Walsh turned away a shot from three yards out, the defense failed to clear the ball, and Newburyport knocked the ball past Walsh to take the lead for good 1-0 at 16:37.

Walsh finished the day with seven saves as Wilmington fell to 3-6-3. Walsh's play continued to be a pleasant sight for her coach as she tried to find the right ingredients on offense.

"Walsh had a lot of saves," said Cushing. "She never lets herself get down."

The Wildcats did have a few scoring opportunities. The best chance came in the first half when senior Kara Langone, with under a minute left, let loose two hard shots in close on the Newburyport goalie. However, neither shot found the net.

The loss was a tough one for the Wildcats because it was a game they know they could have won. Earlier in the season, Wilmington shut out Newburyport 2-0.

"Usually we come in, take control, and we can't score," said Cushing. "This time Newburyport came in and took control. I definitely wasn't expecting that."

Earlier in the week the Wildcats faced Triton and walked away on the positive end of a 1-0 victory. Sophomore Stephanie Quinton scored the Wildcats' goal with under 10 minutes remaining in the game. Walsh was sharp once again making seven saves.

Now with a record of 3-6-3, Wilmington has 6 games left and need 9 points to qualify for the state tournament. Wilmington has engagements with Hamilton-Wenham, Amesbury, Manchester, Ipswich, Lynnfield and Georgetown. Both Hamilton-Wenham and Amesbury are undefeated, while Lynnfield is 7-3-2. But Manchester, Ipswich and Georgetown are a combined 5-13-7, so perhaps wins against each of them, as well as Lynnfield, and a loss and a tie against the two undefeated teams will get the team into the tourney. A long hill to climb, but anything can happen.

Stars of the Week returns

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

After several weeks of hiding, the "Stars of the Week" column has returned. Usually I like to do it three times a month and then skip a week when we do the "Stars of the Month" caricatures which comes the last week of every school month. But because of lack of space, I couldn't have done the column even if I wanted to (which I did of course).

This week there was a lot of terrific efforts put in and they are as follows:

Ryan Russell, Jr. Midfielder for TMHS Boys Soccer: His pair of assists led the soccer team to a 3-1 win over Haverhill on Tuesday, which became the second win of the season for the Redmen.

Bob French, Jr. Running Back for football team: French had a monster, monster game on Saturday. Boy has he improved and come along way. On defense he recovered a fumble and forced a 17 yard loss when Pentucket's punter never got the ball off giving Wilmington great field position. On offense, French rushed for 27 very tough yards on 6 carries in the team's 14-13 overtime loss.

Kerri Aherne and Dan Sarsfield, Tewksbury Cross Country: Aherne, a junior, broke the course record at Shedd Park in Lowell with a 17:30 finish in the 2.8 mile course. She also took third overall in the annual Manhattan Invitational, with a time of 15:40 (2.5 mile course). Sarsfield, on the other hand, is just a freshman and out of 300 runners at the Manhattan Invitational, he took 8th overall with a time of 9:08 in the 1.5 mile course.

Kristen Kacamburas, Becky Rufo and Molly Pidgeon, WHS Girls Soccer: Kacamburas has scored in four straight games for the 'Cats who are without four starting players including Lindsay Bruno, the program's all-time leading scorer. Kacamburas scored the lone goal in the 1-0 win over North Andover on Monday, which was the first time Wilmington has ever beaten the Scarlet Knights since joining the Cape Ann League. Rufo had 13 saves to pick up her second shutout of the season, while, Pidgeon is the team's mainstay on defense as she put forth another outstanding game.

Alyssa Bordonaro, Laura Petros, Karen Castaldo and Lisa Ferrante, TMHS Field Hockey: These four girls played in their last home game for the field hockey team which is off to a terrific start of 9-2-1. On Tuesday the girls beat Lawrence 1-0 to qualify them for the state tournament for the fourth straight season.

Jay Gillis and Michelle Brush, WHS Cross Country: Gillis is an outstanding person, besides cross country runner, or athlete and last week he put forth another strong day with a first place finish in the team's loss with a time of 16:07. As for Brush she makes this column again (she must be neighbors with someone) and for very good reason. The freshman finished first in the team's meet with a time of 20:20.

Shawn Scott, TMHS Golf: Another freshman who made the grade, Scott was the team's medalist against Dracut at Hickory Hill on Tuesday as he shot a 40 out of the four spot to win 2-and-1.

Bryan Deshler, TMHS Football: Deshler had a terrific defensive game for the Redmen in its 33-0 shut out over Methuen on Friday night. In the first half he had two sacks and helped out on several other big tackles for loss yardage. Tewksbury held Methuen to -39 yards on the ground, mainly due to Deshler.

Melinda Monaco, TMHS Girls Soccer: This team has improved a lot this season when they could have easily have packed it in, and Monaco is one player who continues to progress. The junior forward tallied the lone goal in the 1-0 win last week over Lowell.

Jason Youngclaus, WHS Golf: This team is off to an 10-4-1 start, good enough to already qualify for the state tournament. Youngclaus shot a 39 for a 5-and-3 win out of the number three spot in the team's victory on Tuesday.

Tim Riley, WHS Boys Soccer: Riley has really turned it on as of late as the team's main weapon on defense. Last Friday he put in a stellar performance in the 1-1 tie against Triton.

Pam Worsman, TMHS Volleyball: Worsman's 9 service points in the loss to Westford was one of the few bright spots as the team has struggled, although her play has continued to improve.

"Big Enough to Serve - Small Enough to Care"

Lyman agrees. "She can be the life of the party on and off the field," said Lyman. "We expect a lot from her."

As the captain of both the field hockey and softball teams, Lynch's character is put to work daily. She is like a second coach on the field in that she is expected to help and answer questions that younger players might have. Lynch also, at times has to speak up and get after her teammates. For some people this might be a problem. For Lynch, it is just part of being a captain.

"It is a tough position," said Lynch, commenting on her having to get after her teammates/friends. "But, they know I am here to help them."

Said Cushing, "She is not afraid to speak up if the girls are out of line a little bit. She brings a lot of maturity and a no nonsense leadership."

Lynch almost did not have the opportunity to be an athlete when she tore her right interior cruciate ligament during a preseason game during her sophomore year. She was told she would never pick up a softball bat or a field hockey stick again.

However, the effort Lynch puts forth to improve herself as an athlete every day, was the same type of effort she used to rehab her injury. Through hard work, discipline, and the help of physical therapist Jim Leonardo, Lynch worked her way back and immediately became the type of player she knew she could be.

"They told me I would never play sports again," said Lynch, who shows the same desire in the classroom as an honor roll student. "But, I knew I wanted to get back out there."

Lynch's presence on and off the field has helped her field hockey and softball teams improve each year and have success. What makes Lynch such a great athlete is not only how she plays the games, but how she approaches the games and how she helps raise the level of play of those around her.

But, what really makes Lynch stand out is her personality, mental toughness, and her leadership abilities.

"Softball and field hockey are a huge part of my life," said Lynch. "They are my top priorities."

Now he is working himself into a marathon runner. Two years ago he was approached by the Leukemia Society to help them out. All he did was raise $3,600 on behalf of the Leukemia Society, travel to Dublin, Ireland, and run his first marathon. This Saturday made it two marathons.

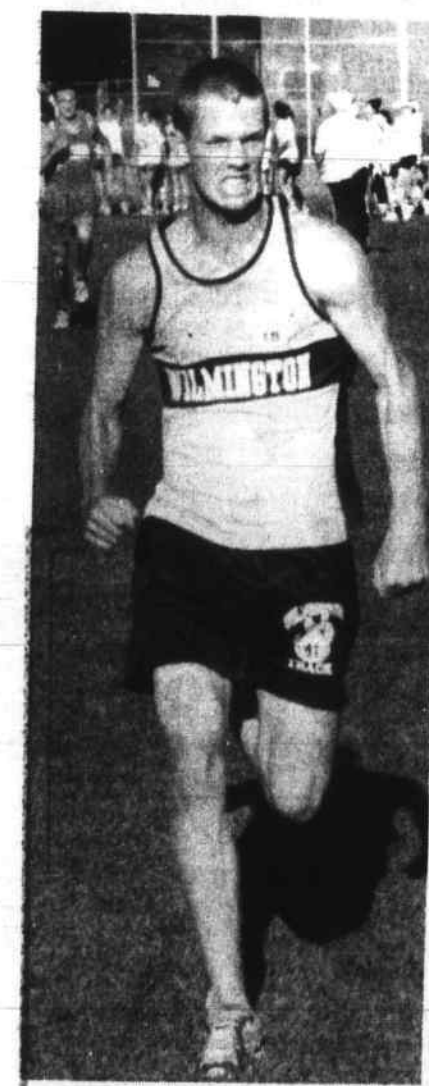

Competitively Cripanuk, might not be a hurdler. But it's obvious he still is. In his heart and mind, nothing has stopped him from leaping over life's hurdles.

Layna Daykin finished ninth overall at a personal best of 23:35.

"It went pretty much what I expected," said Bradley about both meets.

The day after, Wilmington's middle school program traveled to Tewksbury for its second meet. Tewksbury's program is relatively low key as they don't practice much at all, and the length of the course is just one mile, rather than the normal 3.1 mile course. The Wilmington boys lost 26-29, Shayne Gafney took first overall, while, Willie Fiumara took fourth and Chris Murray took fifth overall.

As for the girls, they won 17-44, as they took five of the top six finishes. Sarah Cheek took first overall, followed by Andrea Gomez (2nd), Meredith Bransfield (3rd), Jennifer Loranger (5th) and Emily Dorrance (6th).

Gillis brushes off opponents

By JAMIE POTE

The Wilmington High boys cross country team rebounded after last week's double loss with an 23-36 victory over Georgetown last Wednesday. Senior Jay Gillis topped the highlight reel with a first overall finish at 16:07. He was followed by Scott Buck, Paul DeGennaro, Keith Frongillo and Greg Monteiro, who took fourth through seventh places, respectively.

As for the girls they lost to Georgetown, 23-37. Freshman Michelle Brush had an outstanding race, taking first at 20:20. "She's going to be an outstanding runner if she keeps up with it. That's an excellent time for anyone, nevermind a freshman," said head coach Tom Bradley.

Lynch succeeds against all odds

By David Flynn
Sports Correspondent

Wilmington's field hockey team has what might be termed a "franchise" player in senior Maura Lynch. When thinking about what a franchise player is like, you should think about a person who will lead by example, put the team first, and never accept anything but 100 percent.

This is who Lynch is. These characteristics are evident when she is on the playing fields.

"She works like a dog out there," said head coach Patti Cushing. "She is just unbelievable. She's extremely dedicated."

Tie Triton, 1-1

Boys soccer winless in 9 tries

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

It wasn't supposed to be like this, winless in its first nine games, but sooner or later the breaks will go Wilmington's way.

After all they did the last two years.

This year's team is 0-5-4 after tying Triton 1-1 on Friday afternoon. They are doing everything adequately, except they can't score, plain and simple. Something has to give, this is not a team who will end up without a win all season long. They don't deserve that because they are much better than that. "Of course it's discouraging, but sooner or later it's going to come for us," said Mike Halas. "We are trying our hardest. We can't let it get to us. We have to stay positive and keep our heads up."

Halas like a handful of other players, put in a terrific effort on Friday, but like he said it resulted in another discouraging tie. Both teams played an even first half, with Halas doing very well pushing the ball up field, and on his long throw-ins. With twenty seconds to go in the first half, Triton snuck one by when the Wilmington defenders were caught sleeping. From 15 yards out, Triton scored on a bullet of a shot, but that player was left alone for several seconds, and one second too many.

Wilmington came out strong in the second half. Adam Jensen stripped a Triton defender of the ball at midfield, gave a nice lead pass down the left sidelines to Joe Kane, whose cross pass was nicely done to the middle of the net, but no other 'Cat players were there to finish it off.

Tim Riley would preserve a Triton scoring chance when he stopped a 2-on-2 break, and that turned into a possession for Wilmington in the Triton end. Jim Rourke took a throw-in, and the ball went to AJ Mitzan, whose chip shot was bobbled but covered up.

The pressure continued when Halas had a strong throw-in that bounced out of the keeper's hands, but once again he recovered it. Darren Arciero would follow that chance up with one of his own when he gave a nice pass to Rourke down the left sidelines, and Rourke rifled a left footed shot to the center of the net that was gobbled up.

Minutes later, Riley's defense again turned into a quick possession for Wilmington. He stopped an oncoming player, took the ball and immediately started a quick transition. He led Rourke ahead with a pass, which would turn out to be a 3-on-2 at midfield. Rourke sent the ball off to Mitzan in the middle, but the pass was a little behind him. Mitzan turned, lost his balance, regained it and fired a one-hop bullet from 25 yards out that landed just inside the right post to tie the game up at one with 16 minutes to go. Wilmington had several chances to get the win, but couldn't tally the game winner.

The 'Cats played Tuesday night at Newburyport, but the results as of presstime were not known. Wilmington will be home on Thursday against Hamilton-Wenham, before traveling to Tewksbury for a non-league game on Saturday that has been rescheduled for 4:00 pm. The on Monday, Wilmington will travel to Amesbury. Including Thursday's game, Wilmington has just three more home matches.

Northeast soccer tour

During the February school vacation, Northeast Soccer will be offering a tour to England for boys who are currently either high school freshmen or sophomores. This tour will mark Northeast Soccer's 17th year of conducting tours to England. Traditionally players from throughout New England make up the touring teams.

"The tour offers the serious player a chance to take on the challenge of playing in England," explains Northeast Director of Coaching John Mitchell, who also coaches at nationally ranked Franklin Pierce College. "Along with playing against the top youth amateur teams, the Northeast touring teams have played against the youth squads of professional teams like Chelsea and Wimbledon. The players also get trained by some of England's best coaches."

The tour is more than just an athletic event; it is also a great educational experience as the players will visit many of England's famous historical and cultural sites.

An informational packet concerning the tour is available by either calling 603-437-1967 or faxing 603-437-1962.

Halas going to be a good one

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Had Mike Halas been a junior and a senior each of the last two years, the Wilmington High boys soccer team would probably have two state championship banners. He was the back-up goalie in each of the last two successful seasons for the squad who made it to the state championship game, and then the Eastern Mass game. Halas was groomed to be the next goalie, but because of the need of field players and the emergence of Dan Alosco in the net, Halas has been an intricate part of this year's team, who even though has struggled without a win yet, Halas is most certainly the team's best player.

Although extremely raw with a lot of potential, Halas would have fit perfectly had there been a spot on the field for him the past two years. But he was young, had never played the field and was supposed to be this year's goalie, so in every sense he didn't deserve to be on the field the past two years because those players were better. But take the player he is now on last year's team and he could have been that missing link.

"He's going to be a good one, a real good one," said head coach Dick Scanlon.

Halas is very good at making things happen, while he is not short on determination or hustle. He's extremely effective on throw-ins, much like Pete Bamberg was last year. Halas is extremely raw and talented with a long way to go, skill wise. But on Friday afternoon, he was the sole reason why the team tied Triton, 1-1.

"I think I played five positions today," said Halas. "I'm glad I'm on the field, I'd rather that."

In the first half, Halas was instrumental of moving the ball up field, dishing it off at the right time and when to take it on his own. In the second half Halas set up several scoring chances, while playing as a midfielder/defender. He has three very long throw-ins that each gave Wilmington a chance. The first went on the foot of Tim Riley, whose turnaround shot was blocked setting up an unsuccessful corner kick. Halas' second throw-in went straight into the hands of the Triton goalie, as did his third.

But none of them gave Wilmington a lead or a win, which has put its toll on Halas and the rest of the team.

"It's a let down, but you have to stay as positive as you can. I know sooner or later we're going to pull out of this and it's going to end," he said.

What will be pulled out by the team he graduates is a pretty darn good soccer player in Mike Halas.

Pop Warner teams play hard in rain

On a rainy Sunday afternoon the Wilmington Wildcats E "White" saw an opportunity to get into the win column slip-slide away. Each week the coaches try to teach the players something new, this week it was an early geometry lesson on the difference between a rectangle and a parallelogram, which best describes Waltham's makeshift football field.

In a season mimicking the Patriots, the Wildcats again had trouble in the first half getting their offense into gear. However, the White defense put in another excellent performance, holding Waltham to a touchdown in each half of play. At this time of the season, the coaches are looking for the players who begin to get it, their coming out as football players and this game had several worth mentioning.

Nolan Giroux, Scott Sutherland and Matthew Larfarello on defense, David Reed, John Moriarty, Billy Reynolds and Danny MacKinnon on offense. Entering the last quarter training by two touchdowns, the field one big mud puddle, Wilmington went to its feature back Anthony Moriani. With 10 straight carries up the middle covering 50 punishing yards, time ran out with the ball settled on the Waltham five yard line before he could cap off an excellent performance.

Also contributing a solid effort were Billy Stuke, Frank Sorrentino, Steven Sughr, Danny Comeau, Michael Kelly, Dean Moran, Derek Steen and Benny Stuke.

D team faces Waltham

Waltham D - 13, Wilmington D - 0
In a tough loss, the Wilmington

Pop Warner D Team showed excellent defense against Waltham, keeping them scoreless for the entire first half.

On the line, Chris Murphy, Joe Gore, and Louie Cimaglia kept Waltham's offense at bay with help from their ends, Zack Fahey and Nick Clark.

Ernie Mello also played great defense all day, making some key tackles and intercepting one of Waltham's extra point attempts.

Offensively, running backs Mike Larfarello, Shawn Fahey, Ernie Mello and Ryan Mooney all put in a few good runs with help from their blockers Johnny Kincaid, Jerry Smith, and James Ham. Unfortunately Waltham's D kept them out of the end zone.

The D Team and their coaches would like to once again thank their cheerleaders for their wonderful cheering and the players parents for their continued support.

C team wins thriller in overtime

The C team beat a Tough Waltham team in O.T. 20-13. It was a great team effort. Opening up the scoring for Wilmington was Joe Herra on a 55 yard run. After a great goal line stand by the defense, Joe Herra took the ball for a 99 yard TD run. Tim Brady ran the ball in for the conversion. Waltham scored in the last 2 minutes to send the game into OT. In OT Joe Herra scored on a 10 yard run and added a conversion point. The defense came up big stopping Waltham in

OT.

Leading the defense were Brendan Gibson, Jon Maimaron, A.J. Zammuto, Chris Crescenzo, James McGowan, Sean McSweeney, Mike Fitzgerald, Tom Warford, Tim Surghue, Mike McPherson, Mike Haepers and Mike Sorrentino.

Opening big holes for the offense were Brad Hodgson, Ryan Winn, Mike Johnson, Connor Moroney, Jon Ryan and Dave Sweet.

Pee Wee E's face Cambridge

On Sunday, September 26th 1999, our very own PeeWee E Wilmington Wildcats faced the Cambridge Falcons at the Simoni Rink in Cambridge, Massachusetts.

The Wilmington Wildcats, coached by John Sullivan, was looking forward to this long awaited match-up. This was the Wildcats second game of the season having won their first game over Haverhill thanks to a second period goal by Jeff Swift and a shut out by team goalie, Michael Costa. As good as the Wildcats looked in their season opener, they looked even better when they played in this game.

The first period consisted of back and forth action with neither team gaining a long-term advantage. Michael Costa looked great in net blocking several shots and making very smart decisions in terms of handling the puck.

The Wildcat's forwards displayed great teamwork as they passed to each other and hurried back to assist the defense if needed. Derek Flodin and Robbie MacKinnon found each other several times in the first period almost connecting for several goals. Both Eric DiDomenico and Tom Servideo had several shots on net, one of which hit the crossbar of the goal.

The offense wasn't the only thing that was going well for Wilmington, as its defense continued its great play from last game by preventing and blocking many shot opportunities including Jeff Swift breaking up a crucial 2-on-1 break away and Michael Hayes blocking several shot attempts. This was the fourth consecutive period that the Wildcats did not let up a goal.

The second period was much like the first with both teams playing extremely well. Derek Flodin and Robbie MacKinnon kept the Wilmington passing game alive while Bryan Raposa stepped up and took several shots on net. With 6:25 left in the period, Cambridge scored taking the lead 1-0. The Wildcat's game intensified as they were trailing for the first time this season.

With less than a minute left in the period, Wilmington scored with a breakaway shot by Derek Sullivan, tying the game at 1 apiece. However, the action wasn't over as Cambridge scored less than 30 seconds later after the puck deflected off of one of the Wildcats and went into the goal. The score was now 2-1 in favor of the Cambridge Falcons.

The third period was filled with action-packed plays along with some very scary moments. Within the opening minutes of the period, the Falcons' biggest player checked Phillip Mugford. Showing strength and resilience, Phillip got up once play had stopped. Mark Bernardo carried the team for several minutes with several shots and displays of great stickhandling. The Wildcats, realizing that there was little time left, took their game to another level.

The Wildcats took dozens and dozens of shots on Cambridge's goalie. In fact, they did not let the puck cross the red line for three minutes. With half of the period gone by, the Falcons scored their third goal expanding their lead, 3-1. The Wildcats just wouldn't give up. The Wildcats went on several powerplays, but were unsuccessful in scoring. The clock was ticking down and the Wildcats were running out of time. They decided to pull goalie Michael Costa in hope of scoring, but after a penalty on Wilmpasses and alert plays. The defense, Mark Bernardo, Mike Hayes, Mike Sorrentino, Eric DiDomenico and Sean Roy were doing their part, making S&S work for the puck and blocking several pass attempts.

The offense was also doing its part, with Derek Sullivan taking it up to another level and making many spectacular shots on net. Bryan Raposa also made a great contribution to the first period with several passes to most of which were to Sullivan. After blocking an on slaught of S&S's shots, one slipped by goalie Michael Costa, giving S&S the first goal of the game.

The second period consisted of the same great kind of play from the first. The Wildcats decided that it was their turn to make an on slaught of shots on S&S's goalie. Unfortunately, their nonstop shooting approach did not work, so they relied heavily on their passing game. Tom Servideo made several outstanding shots on net while Derek Sullivan continued to do the same.

The Cats did not get on the scoreboard until 50 seconds left in the second period. Bryan Raposa passed to Derek Flodin who then passed to Robbie MacKinnon for the goal. The Cats tied the game up, heading into the third and final period.

The third period began with the Wildcats scoring a quick goal by Tom Servideo, who was assisted by both Jim Murray and Derek Sullivan, with less than a minute gone by in the period. Phillip Mugford and Jason Blackburn played great offense with several shots on net and many passes. With less than a minute and a half left, S&S scored tying the game two a piece, and that was the way it ended, in a 2-2 tie.

The Cats look to get their third win of the season against the Reading Rockets on Saturday, October 16th in the Ristuccia Rink in Wilmington.

ington, had no other choice but to put him back in net. Phillip Mugford returned to the game despite being injured earlier in the period.

With less than a minute left, two Cambridge Falcons sandwiched Phillip with the intent to injure him. The refs, with less than a minute left, decided not to stop the clock and let the time expire.

In a show of what sports is really all about, Sean Roy helped his fellow injured teammate off the ice and into the locker room. We may not have won on this day, but we certainly did out-class the Falcons and we showed them what hockey sportsmanship is all about.

On Saturday, October 9th 1999, the PeeWee E Wilmington Wildcats faced S&S at the Ristuccia Rink right here in Wilmington. The Wildcats, coached by John Sullivan, was coming off their second win of the season entering today's match-up. This game was in many ways special to this Wilmington team, especially considering the fact that this was their first home game of the season.

The game started with the Wildcats showing great teamwork and communication with many crisp

PLANNING BOARD
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

In accordance with the provisions of Chapter 40A, Section 5, the Planning Board will hold a Public Hearing on Tuesday, November 2, 1999 at 7:00 p.m. in the Town Hall Auditorium at 121 Glen Road, Wilmington, MA on the Zoning Articles proposed for the Warrant at the Special Town Meeting to be held November 15, 1999. This Public Hearing will be conducted jointly with the Finance Committee.

The following Zoning Articles will be considered at the Public Hearing.

To see if the town will vote to amend the Zoning Bylaws and associated Zoning Map of the Town of Wilmington by rezoning from Residential 60 (R-60) to Planned Residential Development (PRD) the following described premises located off Elizabeth Drive also known as Assessor's Map 27 Parcel 14, containing approximately 8.91 acres, plan being recorded in Middlesex North Registry of Deeds in Plan Book 55, Page 34. For title see deed book of Walter and Celina Malatesta recorded with said Registry in Book 8297, Page 85.

The land being further shown and described on a plan entitled: "Princess Pines Commons" (a copy of the plan on file with the Town Clerk and the Planning & Conservation Office), surveyed by Andover Consultants, Inc. 213 Broadway, Methuen, MA.

or do anything in relation thereto.

To see if the Town will vote to amend the Zoning Bylaw of the Town of Wilmington relative to the sale of used vehicles by taking the following actions:

(1) Amend Section 3.5.16 Vehicle Dealership to read as follows:
NEW VEHICLE DEALERSHIP - Salesrooms and related dealership facilities for new automobile, truck, boats, motorcycles, farm implements, light industrial equipment and similar light vehicles having a maximum 6,000 pound gross vehicle weight or 135 inch wheel base. Open air displays of vehicles is permitted if located on the same site as the salesroom and related facilities.

(2) Add a new Section 4.1.13 as follows:
USED VEHICLE SALES - In the General Business (GB) and General Industrial (GI) Districts, auto repair and body shops may use the paved portion of their lot for the sale of used vehicles. No used vehicle shall be parked within 20 feet of the sidewalk of the street. "For Sale" signs covering not greater than 20 % of the vehicle windshield are permitted, and must be attached to the vehicle. All other signs advertising used vehicle sales are prohibited. Up to two (2) vehicles may be displayed for sale.

The sale of used vehicles is allowed at new vehicle dealerships, provided the vehicles are displayed on the same site as the salesroom and related dealership facilities.

Text and map of the zoning amendments may be inspected at the Town Hall, Planning Department, Room 6, 121 Glen Road, Wilmington, MA, Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Mite A's battle Salem to exciting 5-2 victory

In Dual State Action the Wilmington Mite A's battled the Salem N.H. Mite A's to a 5-2 win. The 'Cats scored early in the first when Nick Riccio from behind the net found Casey Pickett in the slot for the score. Justin Dirienzo also assisted on the play.

Salem would tie the game at one before the end of the first period as the Cats seemed a little slow to the puck. Anthony Botte put the Cats in front again midway through the second as he banged in rebound, laying in the crease from an Eric Siegel shot.

Danny Cushing and Eric were there poking at the puck as well. Alan Michael Santos scored the eventual game winner with 14 seconds left in the second on a feed from Matt Stokes as Alan turned and fired the puck into the corner of the net. The netminder for Salem was very busy in this game as the Cats put constant pressure on the Salem Mite A's.

Andrew Goossens who played goal for the Cats was equal to the challenge as he made several quality stops robbing the Salem forwards. The defense of the Cats was strong once again as Mike Derosa, Conor Murphy, Steve Dunnett and Cam Fitzpatrick held down the fort in front of Andrew Goossens. The fine forechecking efforts of Mike Jensen forced several turnovers in the Salem end.

The Cats took a roughing penalty in the first minute of the third and it cost them as Salem scored seven seconds later making the game close at 3-2. Justin Dirienzo would give the Cats some breathing room as he hustled in a rebound and found the strings with Casey Pickett getting the assist. Mike Derosa would put the game out of reach as he rushed the puck up ice and took a blistering wrist shot that found the top corner for the score.

The Cats were a little off in this game compared to the play in earlier games, but with the solid defensive corps of Steve Dunnett, Conor Murphy, Cam Fitzpatrick, and Mike DeRosa, they were able to prevail and maintain their unbeaten record.

Special K, Rufo, save the day

the 1-0 victory, it was Cipriani who gave Rufo a big hug.

"Yeah she's been great," said Rufo. "She always gives me pointers. It's great to have that goalie companionship."

Hendee said Monday was clutch all the way around for Rufo.

"That was by far Becky's best game ever," said the coach. "She played with confidence and she played great. Every catch she made was clean and she was outstanding."

Rufo wouldn't have been able to get her third victory of the season had it not been for Kacamburas. This kid is prototypical of her family and older brothers, none of them every quit, and all of them have blazing speed. Kristen flies up and down the field at all times, always trying to catch up to an opposing player who is going in for a scoring chance.

"I'm dying out there," she joked. "It seems like I'm going so slow."

Perhaps that's because she is covering a lot more ground now, moving to the middle forward spot four games ago when Bruno got injured. Instead of just racing up and down the sidelines trying to feed the middle, Kacamburas is getting those feeds, taking advantage of them and coming through with 4 goals in 4 games since moving to the new spot.

"I'm in the middle now and I used to go down the wings. Now I have to show some skill, so I'm not used to it. It's a lot more running."

That, running, Kacamburas does best. And that has created more opportunities for Wilmington to win.

Under 9A boys play in Peabody tourney

The Wilmington U9A boys travel soccer team attended its first tournament over this past holiday weekend. The team participated in the Peabody Fall Invitational Saturday and Sunday.

This was an incredible experience for all. On Sunday the boys faced a team from Tewksbury and won, thanks to a goal in the last minutes from Wilmington's Stephen Stewart. Later on in the day the opponent was Billerica and the locals pulled out a stunning come-from-behind victory with a goal from Mike DeRosa and two from Mike Scola to bring home a 3-2 win.

The following day the team returned to meet a team from the host town of Peabody in a match that would end up in a 0-0 draw. By the afternoon game the skies had opened and in a steady rain, the Wildcats played their final game, against Danvers.

This time the locals pulled out another victory due to goals by Jason Pereira and Kevin Moran. In addition to the scorers, the local team had exceptional play from every member. Many boys took a turn in net, testing out their keeper abilities. These players were Kenny Vassallo, Ryan Searles, Jonathan Spurr, Ricky Belding, Andrew Cazeau in addition to DeRosa, Moran and Pereira. Each keeper made vital saves to help insure the victories. On the field Colin Wilson demonstrated his own play making skills and was supported by all of his teammates who all played their hearts out. The team earned an undefeated record of 3-0-1 for the tournament.

The finale came on Monday as the team was called back to the

F license course

A "F" license course for coaches will be held November 15 and 16 from 6 to 10 p.m. in the West Intermediate School.

Our defense protected their keeper well, with solid play from Ricky Belding, Jason Pereira and Jonathan Spurr.

Aggressive midfield play from Wilson, Stephen Stewart and Justin DiRienzo kept this game moving at a very fast pace. Forwards Mike Scola, Mike DeRosa, Ryan Searles and Kenny Vassallo all played an intense game, challenging the Greater Lowell keeper over and over again.

Even though the opponent pulled ahead with a two goal lead, Wilmington did not give up. Sheer determination from Mike Scola paid off as he flew past defenders and fired off a blast into the net. The game ended at 1-2, and was another spectacular effort from this young team.

Colin Wilson was in goal for the first half, with Kevin Moran taking over in the second. Both keepers were fantastic, making some key

Wilmington travel soccer teams continue impressive play

Cyclones

Outscoring their opponents 16-0, the Cyclone Girls U10-A team is still undefeated at the midway point of the fall season. The defensive efforts of seasoned sweepers Dana Nolan and Jessica Stira supported by the expertise of midfielder Stephanie Sauve continues to keep the ball out of Wilmington's zone allowing the offense to penetrate time and again.

The story was the same during last Saturday's early morning matchup with Billerica. Once again the girls put on quite a show, thrilling the fans with their display of teamwork and skill. The Cyclones scored early with midfielder Jen O'Neill knotting her third goal in as many games off a strong corner kick from forward Leah Potner. Jen took charge of the ball in front of the net and sailed it past the Billerica keeper with her foot. Goal two was a rocket shot from midfielder Katie Cole scoring her second goal of the season by blasting the ball through the keeper's hands and into the net.

The team continued its aggressive play in the second half. Forward Brittany Concannon earned her first goal of the season by sending a hard shot past the keeper from the right side. Minutes later Brittany added an assist with a crossing pass to forward Elizabeth Wilson who found the back of the net for the Cyclones. The lone score of the game was a breakaway by Billerica with only four seconds left. Weaving her way up the field the player got a lucky bounce that set her up for a one on one with keeper Jessica Labrecque.

Jessica charged into the ball and player sacrificing her body with a hard tackle for the save. The game ended seconds later with the Cyclones keeping their undefeated, unscored upon status in tact thanks to a great save by Jessica.

The Cyclones' record stands at an impressive 4-0-0. Fall action continues for the team next Saturday at Textron when the girls take on Burlington for game five.

Panthers
Medford

Wilmington vs Medford (1-0)

The Wilmington U10 Girls Division 3A "Panthers" were able to take a win home from Medford to continue their undefeated streak.

The control of the game shifted back and forth between Medford and Wilmington throughout the first half. Strong offensive efforts by Natalie Melkonian and Jessica Metcalfe put Wilmington in the position to have several shots on the Medford goal.

Allison Collins and Cameron Woodbury helped to shut down Medford's offensive with some strong defensive playing. Allison and Cameron had some big kicks that helped to clear the ball out of Wilmington's territory to end Medford's offensive drives.

Wilmington started off the second half of play with a dominating offensive showing that carried them through the remainder of the game. Some nice defense and passing by Meghan Keane and some strong throws out of the goal by Alyssa Brown helped to set up some offensive drives. Natalie Melkonian and Jessica Metcalfe led the offensive effort, which included a number of shots on goal.

With minutes left in the game, Jessica Metcalfe fired a shot on goal that Medford's goalie was unable to get into control. Jessica had followed her shot and was then in position to maneuver the ball around Medford's goalie to score the winning goal for Wilmington.

Unfortunately, the game included a season ending injury for Jessica Metcalfe, sustained during a hot pursuit for a loss ball.

Wilmington vs Tewksbury (1-3)

The Panthers suffered their first loss of the season against a tough Tewksbury team. Danielle Fiorentino, Nicole Sullivan and Natalie Melkonian had some nice offensive plays during the first half of the game, which led to several scoring opportunities for the Panthers.

Cameron Woodbury fired off some beautiful corner kicks that also set up some great scoring opportunities. Unfortunately, the Panthers were not able to convert those opportunities into goals. Tewksbury was able to thwart the defensive efforts of Wilmington with a combination of a strong passing game and some exceptional ball handling by individual players.

Late in the second half of the game, Alyssa Brown took a nice pass by Natalie Melkonian, fired a shot on the goal, followed her shot and was able to recover the loose ball to take a second shot that scored the Panther's only goal of the game.

Girls Under 10B enter tourney

The Wilmington Girls Under 10-B team participated in the Haverhill PAL Columbus Day tournament this past Saturday and Sunday. In Saturday's opener, the girls played the Georgetown Under 10-B team. Led by the outstanding play of Erin Conway, the Wildcats defeated the Georgetown team, 4-0.

Early in the first half, Conway connected for the Wildcat's first goal. Lisa Rooker, Erin Copeland and Courtney Ryan rounded out the Wilmington scoring. Danielle Polcari and Lauren Nasiff contributed to the most aggressive offensive attack of the team's first season.

Defensively, Courtney Ryan and Jamie Burns combined in goal for the first shut out of the season. Strong play by full backs Ali Lyman and Theresa McMahon plus good midfield play by Eric Beraldi and Stephanie Warnick all provided this opening game victory.

The afternoon game opponents were the Georgetown under 10A team. Scoring early in the first half, Georgetown led 1-0. The Wildcats continued to play hard with Courtney Ryan, Lisa Rooker and Erin Conway all challenging the Georgetown goal keeper before Danielle Polcari tied the score 1-1 late in the first half. In the opening seconds for the second half, Georgetown scored what would prove to be the game winner.

The Wildcats continued to attack the Georgetown keeper while goal keeper Jamie Burns' strong kicks provided the Wildcats with breakout chances by Polcari, Erin Conway, Lisa Rooker and Courtney Ryan were unable to beat the Georgetown goalie.

On Sunday morning, the young Wildcats played the undefeated Amesbury Under 10-A girls. Danielle Polcari, whose aggressive play had led to several good scoring opportunities, scored her second goal of the tournament midway through the first half.

Leading 1-0, Wilmington controlled the play throughout most of the rest of the game, with Stephanie Warnick, Erin Conway, Erin Copeland and Lisa Rooker constantly attacking the Amesbury goal. Wildcats goal keepers Courtney Ryan and Theresa McMahon played well as Jamie Burns, Erica Beraldi and Ali Lyman constantly disrupted Amesbury breakouts.

Unfortunately, with two minutes remaining in the game, Amesbury tied the score at one. In the remaining seconds, Amesbury was able to split the Wildcat defenders to score the winning goal.

In the semifinal game, played Sunday afternoon, the Wildcats played the Amesbury Under 10-A team again. The Wilmington girls, still smarting from their loss earlier in the day, carried much of the attack throughout the first half, but it was Amesbury who scored toward the end of the first half.

Good scoring opportunities by Lisa Rooker, Daniel Polcari and Courtney Ryan were turned aside by the Amesbury keeper. Stephanie Warnick, Ali Lyman and Theresa McMahon kept Amesbury from mounting any good scoring chances.

Erin Conway, Erin Copeland, Lauren Nasiff and Erica Beraldi repeatedly disrupted Amesbury's forwards while moving the ball up field for scoring opportunities.

Late in the half, Amesbury was able to score again on a breakaway through the Wildcat defense, thus ending the Wilmington girls' tournament experience.

Under 11A
boys come home

After two weeks on the road, Wilmington's U11 boys A team returned home to host the Medford Wolverines.

As has been their practice, Wilmington monopolized the action from the outset. Keeping the ball deep in their offensive zone, each attempted breakout by Medford was met by the ubiquitous C.J. Jeannette who promptly returned the ball to the forward line. Forwards Richie Barry and Josh Mayo orchestrated a relentless assault on the Medford goalie who came up with big saves time after time.

Finally, 20 minutes into the game, Justin Patrie sent a perfect pass to Greg Stewart who beat the goalie with a high shot to put Wilmington ahead 1-0. Not satisfied with such a slim lead, Wilmington continued to attack. Chris Azevedo set up Tim Kent for a terrific chance that was thwarted by another outstanding save by Medford's goalie.

The duo of Patrie and Stewart struck pay dirt again when a nice back pass from Patrie set up a long range missile by Stewart that beat the goalie. Dana Steenbruggen helped to keep the pressure on with a nice shot on goal followed up by a steal on a goal kick which he headed right back into the fray.

In the final few minutes of the half, Richie Barry's attempt to set a new record for consecutive shots off the cross bar stalled at three when his fourth attempt on a sliding shot found the corner of the net for the third goal of the game.

Just before half time, goalie Brendan Sheehan seized a rare opportunity to touch the ball, coming 20 yards out to kick the ball out of the zone insuring a 3-0 lead at the half.

The second half started much the same as the first, with Brendan DeMango immediately stealing a pass and sending the ball into the offensive zone. There, Matt Brooks launched a long range shot that was headed wide until the charging Richie Barry punched it home for the fourth Wilmington goal.

A third of the way through the half Shane Foley displayed some nifty footwork, navigating his way from the corner to the front of the net and blasting home the fifth goal of the day.

A clearly determined Medford responded with a serious offensive surge. Heavy pressure in front of Wilmington's net was broken up by Zach Chursh before any damage was done. Once the ball was back across midfield, Wilmington struck again when a flawless feed from Barry found Brian Johnson who tallied the sixth Wilmington goal.

Medford continued to fight gamely mounting its most effective attack of the game with four successive shots on goal. A nice centering pass set up a point blank shot by Medford that was stopped just short by a spectacular diving save by Pat Ryan. Having stifled the Medford barrage, Wilmington broke out again with Derek Hanson breaking down the left side lifting a long range shot just wide.

A moment later C.J. Jeannette sent a beautiful pass to Patrie on another breakaway. Patrie's blast split the uprights like a Vinatieri field goal - just a tad too high for soccer, leaving the final score 6-0 in Wilmington's favor.

Girls U-
9A face
Lowell

The Girls U-9A Wildcats played a late Wednesday afternoon game last week against an established Lowell team. The Lowell team won 4-0, capitalizing on their chances, despite a continuous Wilmington attack.

After a slow start the Wildcats started a rather aggressive, persistent attack. The defensive pairing of Elisabeth Chin and Nicole Bockus turned Lowell attacks into Wilmington offensive rushes. Midway through the half it looked as though the Wildcats would get on the scoreboard as Kelly Walsh and Stephanie Woods battled in front of Lowell's net.

In the second half Wilmington continued the attack with give-n-go passing between Kristin Brown and Natalie Russo resulting in several good scoring chances. Later a rush by Katlin Foy and Charlotte Jensen ended with a good shot that sailed just wide.

Defensively in the second half, the pairing of Amanda Church and Casey Pickett repeatedly turned the Lowell attackers aside, while Stephanie Benson and Maureen Worthington seemed to establish control of the midfield. Russo and Walsh shared the goaltending for the Wildcats, each turning aside several good Lowell scoring chances.

Squirt E's continue impressive streak

The Wilmington Squirt E hockey team continued its impressive season's start by blanking Reading 4-0 last week at Merrimack College.

The 'Cats forced the play into Reading's zone all night, getting numerous scoring opportunities. Wilmington finally got on the board with 2:05 left in the first period when Scott Dacko converted a sharp pass from Patrick Cassidy, finding the left corner of the Reading net for a 1-0 Cat lead.

In the second period, Wilmington continued its offensive surge with some crisp, pinpoint passing through center ice by Brett Robbins, Matt Bibeau and Stephen Tello. Mark Grassia and Elysha Clancy kept the pressure on the Reading goaltender as Keith Little connected for a score on a quick feed from linemate Kevin Carter. Moments later, Little returned the favor hitting Carter with a pass that Carter redirected into the Reading net, putting the Cats up 3-0.

In the third period, the Wilmington defense stepped up making some nice clearing passes out of the Cats zone. The defense was led by Paul Martel, Sean Crowley, Niko Katsikas and Dan Spurr. Also, Matt Hope and Jared Waite, positioned at the Reading blueline, continually kept the puck in the Reading zone. Cat goaltender Kevin Bradley was tested a few times and came up big with a couple of nice saves preserving the shutout. Keith Little added a late, unassisted score as Wilmington skated off with a convincing 4-0 win.

Later in the week, Wilmington experienced its first defeat of the young season to a very physical Beverly team. After allowing Beverly to score two quick goals early in the first period, the Cats settled down and played focused the rest of the way. In the second period, Stephen Tello, Matt Bibeau and Mark Grassia forced the play into the Beverly zone while teammates Elysha Clancy and Niko Katsikas were able to get off some nice shots that the Beverly goaltender somehow stopped.

However, Wilmington finally tallied as Patrick Cassidy took a feed from Richard Murray and found the right corner of the net to close the margin to 2-1. Unfortunately, Beverly came right back, and after peppering Cat goaltender

Kevin Bradley with several tough shots that he was able to stop, Beverly slipped one through to regain a two goal lead.

The Cats kept working hard as Sean Crowley circled the Beverly net and made a spectacular pass to linemate Keith Little who wasted no time wristing a low, hard shot inside the left post to make the score 3-2.

The Cat defensive tandems of Matt Hope and Paul Martel, Brett Robbins and Dan Spurr and Jared Waite and Kevin Carter worked hard to keep Beverly out of the Cat zone and feeding their teammates with quick passes, but Beverly was able to notch a final score handing the Cats their first defeat, 4-2.

THE MANSION AT 13 Mansion Road is a three story house with plenty of windows. A $2.9 million gem in Wakefield

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

Location! Location! Location!

It is said that these are the three most important words in successful real estate transactions. If that is the case then 13 Mansion Road in Wakefield just may have the multi-million dollar location that matches the $2.9 million being asked for the property.

The property includes a three story house with 27 rooms of living space, if you count the halls and linen closets, sitting high on a hill overlooking the west side of town. Because of its location the widow's walk on the peak of the roof allows the owner a view of the surrounding areas that, on a clear day, reach to Boston Harbor in the east, and New Hampshire to the north and to the South Shore.

Theresa Whitaker, the present owner of the house said, "The Fourth of July is fun, you get to see 360 degrees of fireworks."

ANTHONY MANCONI

I was told by Bank Teller Judy Yantosca that there are 7 dollar COUNTERFEIT Bills around. The warning came too late, someone had already palmed one off on me. "No problem," my friend Blackie Vega told me, "go to New Hampshire, they will change it for you up there." I walked into a farm area General Store and, I asked the clerk if he would change it for me? "A-ya," he said. I gave him the 7 dollar bill and he gave me a Four and a Three.

I asked George Gould, "What do you know about the Johnston Flood?" "I don't know anything about it, I haven't been reading the newspapers or listening to the radio lately."

The late Judge John McLeod asked my Aunt Nora years ago, "why do you want to divorce your husband Mario?" "It's because of his appearance your Honor," "Do you mean he doesn't dress well?" "No, your Honor, it's because I haven't seen him in 5 years."

I heard there's a, PIGGY-BACK railroad called, HAM-TRACK.

Folks, the person with PUSH will eventually pass the person with, PULL.

Many of you remember when we looked forward to receiving the salary that we can't live on today.

My father went to night classes to prepare to pass the citizenship exam, he knew more about our government than me and my brothers and sisters. He answered every question without hesitation BUT, when he was asked about OLD GLORY he was, STUMPED. The judge tried to help him so asked, "Giovanni, what did you see flying over the courthouse when you came here this morning?" My father smiled, (because he knew the answer) so almost shouted, "PIGEONS your Honor." Thank God the judge was "Irish" with a keen sense of humor because my father took the oath and walked out tall and proud a citizen of the United States, the Greatest Country in the world.

My cousin Angelo Quaganti takes a bottle of aspirins with him when he goes fishing in case he gets a HADDOCK.

Did I hear somebody GROAN?

A doctor on his medical rounds told an intern, "This boy was born with one leg shorter than the other. He LIMPES."

"What would YOU do in his case?" The intern didn't hesitate a second said, "Well, I guess I'd LIMP TOO!"

My nephew Johnny told the teacher he lost his eraser. She said, "Use the girl's behind 'till you find your own."

ZOO SEEKS NAMES FOR LEOPARD CUBS

Give us a hand (or a paw!) in choosing names for Zoo New England's recent adorable additions! Stone Zoo's three new snow leopard cubs, born May 30 to mother Tang, are seeking three "purr-fect" names.

Each winner will receive prizes including $50 donated by Middlesex East Publications, a free one-year family membership to Zoo New England and a free snow leopard "Zoodoption."

All entries will be accepted, but judges will be looking for "cat-chy" monikers that relate to the snow leopards' origins, habitat or behavior. You can scratch in your suggestions at the Stone Zoo's gift shop. Entries may also be submitted by mail to:

Snow Leopard Naming Contest, Stone Zoo, 149 Pond Street, Stoneham, MA 02180. Or, by email, through Zoo New England's website: www.zoonewengland.com.

All entries must be received by 4 pm on October 31.

Many Moods of Music

Span a musical century and pass a pleasant Sunday afternoon listening to the considerable musical talents of four keyboard masters on October 17, at 3 pm at the All Saints' Episcopal Church.

Susan Larson on organ and Kathy Bray on piano together perform from the classical repertoire, including the compositions of Brahms, Widor and Mendelssohn. For the second half of the program, jazz pianists Jack English and Mark Kross bring the music closer to the end of the millennium, presenting a wide selection of 20th century jazz and popular song masterpieces in solo performances.

Susan Larson began her career at Boston Ballet as an accompanist. After working as Director of Operations for the Boston Ballet Center for Dance Education, a consultant for New York's Capezio Ballet-maker's, she became Director of Administration for Boston's Dance Umbrella. Currently the Administrative Director of Harvard University's Dance Program, Larson also sings with Boston's Masterworks Choral.

Kathy Bray is well known throughout the area as a teacher and performer. She served as a promoter for the Community Concerts Organization that ran in Stoneham for decades, and remains an energetic organizer for local musical events and the arts.

Jack English has had an illustrious career, having once accompanied Judy Garland and Anita O'Day among many notable singers, and in recent years has performed twice in Carnegie Hall. Jack's exuberant playing embraces the works of the greatest songwriters and lyricists of the 20th Century.

Mark Kross has recently received a grant from local businesses to teach young music students to appreciate and to perform the works of Duke Ellington during the artist's centennial celebration.

The concert will take place at All Saint's Episcopal Church at 79 Central Street, which is wheelchair accessible and smoke-free. Tickets are $8 in advance, $10 at the door (seniors $8 at door), and are available at the Stoneham Chamber of Commerce (269 Main Street) and at the Stoneham Public Library. Refreshments are included. Proceeds from the event will fund repairs to the parish roof. For information, call 781-279-2039.

About The Towns

by Phyllis Nissen

New achievement in Burlington

"Gladwyn Howard, Operating Room Nurse Manager at Lahey Clinic Medical Center, has been awarded the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy Alumni Achievement Award for designing an instrument that facilitates laparoscopic gallbladder surgery," notes the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Howard designed a 'white tri-grasper' instrument that is used to retract or grasp the gallbladder during laparoscopic surgery. It is especially useful for acute gallbladder surgery and for surgery on gallbladders containing large stones."

"A prototype of the white tri-grasper has been created and is currently being evaluated by a company interested in purchasing the design."

"A 1973 graduate of Tercentenary School of Nursing in Barbados, West Indies, Howard earned her bachelor's degree from Massachusetts College of Pharmacy in 1996."

"Howard has been a Lahey Clinic employee since 1998. Prior to that, she worked for the Boston Medical Center where she developed a laparoscopic surgery training program for nurses."

Building operations of all kinds

"She has also developed and implemented training programs for Boston University School of Medicine and given presentations to surgeons regarding the role of nurses."

New home in Wilmington

"I didn't think I could feasibly do it. By the time I realized I could, I only had two weeks before the deadline," Michael J. King said, notes the "Wilmington Town Crier."

"He took a chance and won the lottery at Shawsheen Tech, which will net him one complete house."

"King, a lifetime resident of Wilmington and employee at the State Street Bank in Quincy, wants to stay in his home town. 'All my friends are here. My family is here. I grew up here,' he said."

"My parents told me about the advertisement for the lottery, but at that point, I didn't realize that they were going to give me part of their land. They asked me why I wasn't applying," Mike said.

"I told them I didn't think I could feasibly do it (financially). I didn't have the money to buy a piece of land from them."

"He said that the land has been in the family for more than forty-five years. 'They told me then that they would give it to me,' he added. 'He said that some of the criteria were that he needed a suitable piece of land and proof of ownership, that he had to submit house plans and he had to be able to get a loan. 'My father and I went to the operational forum to obtain information about building the house.'

"I went out and bought a book of plans and ordered one of them. It was for a Colonial with a deck. The dimensions are 40' x 28' with a 12' deck," he said. "I submitted the plans, a picture of the house with the dimensions. Next I had to submit a document stating that I was qualified for a loan," he said.

"I had to submit all the information to the school and then they'd admit you to the lottery."

At the same time, I'd already planned a vacation and was scheduled to leave on the same day."

"I thought there would have been a line up for this lottery," Mike said. He indicated that there were only two candidates this year. "It was only between two of us. I knew I had a 50/50 shot." He didn't really believe that he would win the lottery and was both pleased and surprised that he did."

New subdivision in Wakefield

"The Planning Board approved a subdivision at Salisbury and Rossmore Roads, with conditions," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The subdivision, proposed by James Parese, is to divide a parcel of land on which he and his son would each own a home."

ANTHONY MANCONI

I was told by Bank Teller Judy Yantosca that there are 7 dollar COUNTERFEIT Bills around. The warning came too late, someone had already palmed one off on me. "No problem," my friend Blackie Vega told me, "go to New Hampshire, they will change it for you up there." I walked into a farm area General Store and, I asked the clerk if he would change it for me? "A-ya," he said. I gave him the 7 dollar bill and he gave me a Four and a Three.

I asked George Gould, "What do you know about the Johnston Flood?" "I don't know anything about it, I haven't been reading the newspapers or listening to the radio lately."

The late Judge John McLeod asked my Aunt Nora years ago, "why do you want to divorce your husband Mario?" "It's because of his appearance your Honor," "Do you mean he doesn't dress well?" "No, your Honor, it's because I haven't seen him in 5 years."

I heard there's a, PIGGY-BACK railroad called, HAM-TRACK.

Folks, the person with PUSH will eventually pass the person with, PULL.

Many of you remember when we looked forward to receiving the salary that we can't live on today.

My father went to night classes to prepare to pass the citizenship exam, he knew more about our government than me and my brothers and sisters. He answered every question without hesitation BUT, when he was asked about OLD GLORY he was, STUMPED. The judge tried to help him so asked, "Giovanni, what did you see flying over the courthouse when you came here this morning?" My father smiled, (because he knew the answer) so almost shouted, "PIGEONS your Honor." Thank God the judge was "Irish" with a keen sense of humor because my father took the oath and walked out tall and proud a citizen of the United States, the Greatest Country in the world.

My cousin Angelo Quaganti takes a bottle of aspirins with him when he goes fishing in case he gets a HADDOCK.

Did I hear somebody GROAN?

A doctor on his medical rounds told an intern, "This boy was born with one leg shorter than the other. He LIMPES."

"What would YOU do in his case?" The intern didn't hesitate a second said, "Well, I guess I'd LIMP TOO!"

My nephew Johnny told the teacher he lost his eraser. She said, "Use the girl's behind 'till you find your own."

ZOO SEEKS NAMES FOR LEOPARD CUBS

Give us a hand (or a paw!) in choosing names for Zoo New England's recent adorable additions! Stone Zoo's three new snow leopard cubs, born May 30 to mother Tang, are seeking three "purr-fect" names.

Each winner will receive prizes including $50 donated by Middlesex East Publications, a free one-year family membership to Zoo New England and a free snow leopard "Zoodoption."

All entries will be accepted, but judges will be looking for "cat-chy" monikers that relate to the snow leopards' origins, habitat or behavior. You can scratch in your suggestions at the Stone Zoo's gift shop. Entries may also be submitted by mail to:

Snow Leopard Naming Contest, Stone Zoo, 149 Pond Street, Stoneham, MA 02180. Or, by email, through Zoo New England's website: www.zoonewengland.com.

All entries must be received by 4 pm on October 31.

Many Moods of Music

Span a musical century and pass a pleasant Sunday afternoon listening to the considerable musical talents of four keyboard masters on October 17, at 3 pm at the All Saints' Episcopal Church.

Susan Larson on organ and Kathy Bray on piano together perform from the classical repertoire, including the compositions of Brahms, Widor and Mendelssohn. For the second half of the program, jazz pianists Jack English and Mark Kross bring the music closer to the end of the millennium, presenting a wide selection of 20th century jazz and popular song masterpieces in solo performances.

Susan Larson began her career at Boston Ballet as an accompanist. After working as Director of Operations for the Boston Ballet Center for Dance Education, a consultant for New York's Capezio Ballet-maker's, she became Director of Administration for Boston's Dance Umbrella. Currently the Administrative Director of Harvard University's Dance Program, Larson also sings with Boston's Masterworks Chorus.

Kathy Bray is well known throughout the area as a teacher and performer. She served as a promoter for the Community Concerts Organization that ran in Stoneham for decades, and remains an energetic organizer for local musical events and the arts.

Jack English has had an illustrious career, having once accompanied Judy Garland and Anita O'Day among many notable singers, and in recent years has performed twice in Carnegie Hall. Jack's exuberant playing embraces the works of the greatest songwriters and lyricists of the 20th Century.

Mark Kross has recently received a grant from local businesses to teach young music students to appreciate and to perform the works of Duke Ellington during the artist's centennial celebration.

The concert will take place at All Saint's Episcopal Church at 79 Central Street, which is wheelchair accessible and smoke-free. Tickets are $8 in advance, $10 at the door (seniors $8 at door), and are available at the Stoneham Chamber of Commerce (269 Main Street) and at the Stoneham Public Library. Refreshments are included. Proceeds from the event will fund repairs to the parish roof. For information, call 781-279-2039.

About The Towns

by Phyllis Nissen

New achievement in Burlington

"Gladwyn Howard, Operating Room Nurse Manager at Lahey Clinic Medical Center, has been awarded the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy Alumni Achievement Award for designing an instrument that facilitates laparoscopic gallbladder surgery," notes the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Howard designed a 'white tri-grasper' instrument that is used to retract or grasp the gallbladder during laparoscopic surgery. It is especially useful for acute gallbladder surgery and for surgery on gallbladders containing large stones."

"A prototype of the white tri-grasper has been created and is currently being evaluated by a company interested in purchasing the design."

"A 1973 graduate of Tercentenary School of Nursing in Barbados, West Indies, Howard earned her bachelor's degree from Massachusetts College of Pharmacy in 1996."

"Howard has been a Lahey Clinic employee since 1998. Prior to that, she worked for the Boston Medical Center where she developed a laparoscopic surgery training program for nurses."

Building operations of all kinds

"She has also developed and implemented training programs for Boston University School of Medicine and given presentations to surgeons regarding the role of nurses."

New home in Wilmington

"I didn't think I could feasibly do it. By the time I realized I could, I only had two weeks before the deadline," Michael J. King said, notes the "Wilmington Town Crier."

"He took a chance and won the lottery at Shawsheen Tech, which will net him one complete house."

"King, a lifetime resident of Wilmington and employee at the State Street Bank in Quincy, wants to stay in his home town. 'All my friends are here. My family is here. I grew up here,' he said."

"My parents told me about the advertisement for the lottery, but at that point, I didn't realize that they were going to give me part of their land. They asked me why I wasn't applying," Mike said.

"I told them I didn't think I could feasibly do it (financially). I didn't have the money to buy a piece of land from them."

"He said that the land has been in the family for more than forty-five years. They told me then that they would give it to me," he added. "He said that some of the criteria were that he needed a suitable piece of land and proof of ownership, that he had to submit house plans and he had to be able to get a loan. 'My father and I went to the operational forum to obtain information about building the house.'"

"I went out and bought a book of plans and ordered one of them. It was for a Colonial with a deck. The dimensions are 40' x 28' with a 12' deck," he said. "I submitted the plans, a picture of the house with the dimensions. Next I had to submit a document stating that I was qualified for a loan," he said.

"I had to submit all the information to the school and then they'd admit you to the lottery."

At the same time, I'd already planned a vacation and was scheduled to leave on the same day."

"I thought there would have been a line up for this lottery," Mike said. He indicated that there were only two candidates this year. "It was only between two of us. I knew I had a 50/50 shot." He didn't really believe that he would win the lottery, and was both pleased and surprised that he did."

New subdivision in Wakefield

"The Planning Board approved a subdivision at Salisbury and Rossmore Roads, with conditions," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The subdivision, proposed by James Parese, is to divide a parcel of land on which he and his son would each own a home."

From S-1

According to Whitaker, the mother of four, the house was built in a symmetrical fashion which means that every piece of structure on one side of the house, or even in a room, has a matching structure on the other side.

This goes for windows which allows for the view to be duplicated from the interior of the house if the day is too cold to venture onto the rooftop.

In her history of the structure, Whitaker notes it was built by Charles N. Winship with a view that allowed him to keep an eye on the Winship Boit Knitting Mills he owned, with Elizabeth Eaton Boit, in downtown Wakefield. Construction on the house was started in 1902 and it was not completed until 1907.

Among the amenities in the house and on the grounds is an ell shaped in-ground swimming pool with attached whirlpool, a billiards room, and an area that used to contain a bowling alley. The alley was in the basement under what was once the front porch.

Unfortunately it has been closed off after rain damage caused irreparable harm.

Whitaker notes that she has all of the old building plans for the house, which was built on property formerly known as the Doyle Farm. Today the house sits on a quiet residential street and it is abutted by Our Lady of Nazareth Academy.

In fact, about 1947, the property was part of the Academy and served as a convent, administration office and classrooms for the all-girls school. The Whitaker family bought the property in late 1978 and moved into the house in 1979.

Walking in the front door of the house a guest would be struck with the amount of rich, dark, lush woods. In fact the darkness of the woods might be foreboding if it were not for the foresight of the designer.

With the use of a large amount of windows, ranging from transom, to double hung to bay styles, natural daylight is allowed to brighten up the rooms.

The use of the windows is felt right in the front hall as huge windows allow the light of the day to highlight the carved detail in the wood of the stairway.

"There are enough skylights or windows," Whitaker said, "so that on a sunny day you never need a light on."

Whitaker notes that the house is a Hunt design, similar to many of the old houses in Newport, Rhode Island.

According to estimates she has received, Whitaker said it would cost about $12 million to build a similar house today.

As opulent as the house is today, it was not always so.

Whitaker notes that when it was used as the Convent for the adjacent school many of the upstairs rooms were divided into tiny one-room cells for the nuns that lived there. However, care was taken when the rooms were divided not to harm any of the wood-work.

According to Whitaker, when her family moved in, workers were easily able to dismantle the partitions and restore the wood-work to its former glory.

The symmetry of the house was not always a practical affair, according to Whitaker. She notes that one bedroom has a door that leads to nowhere.

Its only purpose was to mirror the door that serves as an entry to the room.

"It is the type of environment you don't see anymore," Whitaker said, "they are getting rarer and rarer."

She considers that the house would be a good investment for someone, especially a person who would want to own a place for a retreat or to conduct "think tank."

Over the years, she and her family have had many hours of fun in the house and on the property. Her youngest daughter makes good use of the barn to keep the horses she uses for riding.

Whitaker, who is a consultant on "holistic treatments," said, "The house has always had a good, healthy feeling to it."

Although built at the turn of the century, the house has always been adaptable to gas and electricity.

MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA QUESTION: Who was the first high school runner to officially break the four minute mile? Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

WAKEFIELD'S MIKE SOUZA is a co-captain of the University of New Hampshire hockey team this year.

THE PETER MOSCARIELLO SCHOLARSHIP COMMITTEE is currently seeking donations to help finance an annual scholarship for a deserving RMHS baseball player. If you would like to contribute, please make out a check to Peter Moscariello Scholarship Account, Fleet Bank, o/o Vivian Craig, 580 Main St., Reading, MA 01867.

WOBURN'S MARK WHITE, a junior (Arlington Catholic), will be taking regular shifts (including power plays) with the hockey team this year.

A BOYS SOCCER TOUR TO ENGLAND will be offered through Northeast Soccer during February school vacation.

the property is the spacious kitchen. Like other rooms in the house it has 11 foot high ceilings.

However, the kitchen also has plenty of cupboard space, a double door walk-in refrigerator, a commercial grade gas stove with 12 burners and a good size oven and broiler.

The music room is a piece of artwork in itself. The walnut wainscoting is off-set by walls of handpainted trompe l'oeil treatments.

Incidentally do not worry about the closeness of the school, or even the rest of the neighborhood. The house presently sits on about an acre to an acre and 3/4 of nicely landscaped property with well appointed tree line separating the house from the school's campus.

For more information or to schedule a tour contact Mary Gail Ranaldi Realty at (781) 942-2083.

High school sophomores and freshmen throughout New England are encouraged to attend. An informational packet is available by either calling coach John Mitchell at 603-437-1967, or faxing him at 603-437-1962.

EARLY READING T-BALL SIGN-UPS for the 2000 season are currently being held at BJ and Sons, 530 Main St. in Reading. Store hours are Mon-Fri from 10-5 and Sunday 10-3. The program is open to players born between Aug. 1, 1992 and July 31, 1995. The registration fee is $45. New players must wait until the February sign-up at the library. If you have any questions call Jack Webster at 944-3637. Please do not call BJ's or Reading Recreation.

Need some clues to help out with the above-mentioned trivia question? The runner's first name is Jim.

WOBURN'S ERIN HENNESEY is an assistant coach of the Tufts University women's soccer team. She helped lead Tufts to the best record in school history last year, and was named All-League for her efforts.

WOBURN'S KELLY MC-HUGH is playing for the University of Vermont's women's soccer team.

WOBURN'S KAREN FRANSON is playing soccer for Merrimack College as a sophomore. Merrimack is rated at the top of the Atlantic 10 Conference.

READING'S BETH MOXCEY, a 1988 graduate of Reading High, former Boston Globe All-Scholastic softball player for the Lady Rockets and four-time All-Ivy League hockey player during her post-RMHS playing days at Cornell University, is coming home to coach the game she loves. She will head up the first girls hockey team at RMHS this winter. In addition to her local ties, Moxcey also brings some collegiate coaching experience and the ability to demonstrate first-hand what she preaches.

As an active member of the Hudson Night Hawks, a senior AA division team in the women's South Shore League, Moxcey still plays the game at a high level. And though this is her first head coaching position, she did work at Cornell for a year as an assistant in the 1993-94 hockey season.

North Reading ace softball pitcher MICHELLE RIDINGS has given Merrimack College an early verbal commitment to play there. She led the Hornets to their first Division 3 title last year with a 22-4 record, a .35 earned run average and 12 shutouts.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: The runner was Jim Ryun. Congratulations to those that knew the answer, and look next week for another trivia question.

Time to Winterize

Before you say goodbye to the swimming season and prepare for the winter, make sure you know a few easy tips for winterizing your pool. That way, when you open it next year, you'll find a pool ready to enjoy.

But before the cover goes on, make sure the water is properly balanced to prevent damage to your pool surface from metals and scale. As the temperature drops, water becomes more corrosive, requiring more calcium hardness. Chlorine demand increases, too. Without following correct procedures, the crystal-clear pool you remembered closing will be only a memory when you return.

Your BioGuard® Authorized Dealer can perform a free computerized water analysis and recommend the most effective products from the BioGuard Winter Care Program to ensure your pool opening next season is as easy as possible.

Great reasons to Walk, Walk, Walk

Want to drop a dress size, get rid of PMS, sleep better and live longer? We can't say it enough: putting one foot in front of the other does your mind, body and spirit a world of good.

Here are 10 motivating tips to get you going.

Could tens of millions of persons be wrong? Walking and running are exercises to love: Each year, 49 million Americans hit the treadmills and roads for a fitness walk while 10 million run. Sure, both activities are convenient ways to burn calories and banish stress. But recent research shows that there are other motivations to get moving.

10 GREAT REASONS TO WALK

1. You'll live longer. An apple a day may keep the doctor away, but a two-mile walk may keep the coroner at bay. In a study, researchers at the Honolulu Heart Program found that adults who walked an average of two miles a day reduced their risk of premature death by half. What's more, says chief researcher Robert D. Abbott, Ph.D., for the subjects who walk more, the risk of death fell even further.

2. You'll burn more calories. Researchers at the Medical College of Wisconsin and Veterans Affairs Medical Center in Milwaukee tested the calorie burn of six indoor exercise machines, and found the treadmill burned the most. When study participants exercised "some what hard," they burned a full 40 percent more calories walking on the treadmill than when on the stationary bike.

3. You'll give your back a break. The best thing you can do for a painful lower back is to perform moderate, low-impact exercise, like walking 30 to 40 minutes, three to five days a week. Just avoid hills (which stress your back) and use good technique. "Stand up straight," says Martin Rudow, former coach of the National Race Walking Team. "Don't let your stomach stick out or your head droop down."

4. You'll build bone and slim your middle. Weight-bearing exercise like walking promotes bone growth - a big plus in the battle against osteoporosis. And if you clock 15-minute miles (4mph) or better, you may encourage your body to secrete more growth hormone, which strengthens bones and increases lean body mass. "Growth hormone naturally plummets in your thirties," says Katarina Borer, Ph.D., professor of kinesiology at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. And the consequences include an accumulation of fat in the abdominal area.

5. You'll feel less pain. Researchers at the University of Florida in Gainesville corralled 16 brave volunteers willing to have their index fingers pinched for two minutes before and after 30 minutes of exercise, then again after 30 minutes of quiet times. Once they recovered the power of speech, all the volunteers reported that the pain was most bearable right after exercise.

6. You'll KO pesky PMS. Regular aerobic exercise like walking can tame even the bitchiest case of premenstrual syndrome (PMS) by raising the level of endorphins (brain chemicals that promote a sense of well-being) and by increasing your circulation, which helps minimize bloating.

7. You'll get a good night's sleep. Abby C. King, Ph.D., associate professor of medicine and health research and policy at Stanford University, studied 43 men and women with mild insomnia. Half of them walked briskly for 30 to 40 minutes four times a week for four months; the other half didn't. In the end, the walkers sleep almost an hour longer per night and fell asleep faster.

8. You'll save bucks on beauty products. According to what we'll call a rash of dermatologists, regular exercise gets your blood moving as well as your body. This increased circulation transports nutrients to your skin and quickly flushes out waste products. All of which leaves your face glowing with enhanced health as well as, yes, a little sweat.

9. You'll stay thin as you age. No doubt you've heard it before: Metabolism slows naturally with age. True enough, but not, it turns out, as a direct consequence of aging. Scientists are now finding that the decline in metabolic rate over time has less to do with advancing age than with declining activity levels. In a University of Colorado study, middle-aged and older women who exercised regularly didn't experience the age-related decline in resting metabolic rate that their sedentary counterparts did. As a result, they stayed thinner and healthier despite their advancing age.

10. You'll stick with it for life. Let's face it: Forty years from now, you may not be in-line skating regularly. But you could still be walking around your neighborhood, to the park, maybe even in the early mornings at the mall. With little risk of injury and great opportunity to see gains in fitness, walking is a sport you can keep for life.

Laser treatment available for herniated discs

A new laser procedure has helped Jody rebound from back and leg pain. Jody hurt herself at work with low back pain going down her right leg. Jody 32, soon found out that the injury she received initially was a herniated disc. When pain specialist, Anil Kumar, M.D. told patient Jody about Holmium Laser treatment for herniated disc, she wanted to know more. Dr. Kumar told her that this procedure may revolutionize treatment of herniated disc by making this surgery almost painless.

This operation is performed under a local anesthesia on an outpatient basis. "The Percutaneous Laser Discectomy" as the operation is called, is less invasive than traditional surgery because the fiber optic Holmium laser requires only a very small incision, Kumar said. The Laser energy is transmitted ted through a tiny optical fiber inside a needle which in turn vaporizes a portion of the disc nucleus that is exerting pressure on the nerves. Often much of the pain and discomfort disappears during the procedure, Kumar added.

The new procedure may dramatically slice both hospital stay and recuperation time the surgeon said.

Traditional back surgery for disc disease involves general anesthesia, blood loss, a 2-5 inch incision as well as a risk of scarring and infection etc. The effects of treatment with Laser may be very dramatic, Kumar said. A patient may come limping into the operating room. After a Laser procedure of less than 60 minutes this surgeon puts the Band-Aid on the incision and the patient is able to literally walk away.

The major advantages of Laser Disc surgery according to Dr. Kumar, 1) Minimally invasive out-patient procedure; 2) Low patient risk; 3) Cost effective; 4) This procedure does not compromise surgical alternatives.

To find out if you are a candidate for Laser Disc decompression surgery Dr. Kumar can be contacted at (781) 662-2243.

paved area were waived.

"Vice-Chairperson Nancy Cahill said she felt satisfied with waiving the cul-de-sac requirement after the Fire Department confirmed that their trucks would not have a problem entering and leaving the street in an emergency.

"Cahill also had concerns about Salisbury Road being too narrow to allow vehicles to pass each other, if the paved area were only 18 feet wide.

"The plan includes a drainage easement on Rossmore Road to handle an additional catch basin. Attorney John (Jay) Connolly, representing Parese, cited a 1992 Land Court decision that he said 'set the precedent [for his client] to make use of the existing Holland Road drainage system' for the subdivision.

"In previous meetings, the Board addressed issues such as the adequacy of street lighting in the area, and fire safety. The original plan had no sidewalks but Robert McLaughlin requested that there be a sidewalk on at least one side of the street..."

From S-3

The plan includes a substandard street.

"Board Chairperson Donald Dusenberry cast the one vote in opposition to the subdivision, saying, 'I think this is another precedent-setting situation that we haven't thought through.'

"He also said that, in spite of the applicant's agreement to designate a portion of his land as unbuildable, 'the return to the Town is very limited' because the land is not available for public use.

"Board member Bob McLaughlin shared some of this sentiment, saying 'We're getting a substandard road. Who's benefiting from this?'
"The final plan, as approved by the Board, will allow a paved area 18 feet wide on Rossmore Road, and 22 feet wide on Salisbury Road. There will be Cape Cod berms, and a small sidewalk on one side.

School Notes

by Phyllis Nissen

Searching for the Class of '59

"Plans are proceeding by the Reunion Committee for the 40th Class Reunion for the Woburn High School and St. Charles Class of 1959," notes the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The following has been confirmed to date: Time: Friday, Nov. 26, from 6 to 11:30 p.m."

"Place: Ramada Inn, 15 Middlesex Canal Park Road, Woburn, Tel. No. 781-935-8760."

"Preliminary notices were mailed to all Class Members so that ample time could be allowed to arrange schedules, book airline flights, and reserve hotel rooms."

Lost, found and lighting the way

"Hotel rooms have been blocked at special rates for Class Members who make early reservations."

"Any class member not receiving a preliminary notice or anyone knowing the current address of the following class members is asked to call Peter Carbone, Jr. at 781-935-5444."

Finding a home in Lynnfield

"Since graduating from college, Mary Puleo has spent her career working with both children and books," notes the "Lynnfield Villager."

"The town of Lynnfield gave her the chance to work with both at the same time.

"Puleo has begun her career as the Lynnfield Public Library's Children's Librarian, a position she has always felt she was suited for."

"I've always enjoyed working in a library," Puleo, a 10-year teaching veteran of Our Lady of Grace School in Everett said.

"Puleo is replacing Leslie Todd, who opted for a position as children's coordinator at the Haverhill Public Library."

"Puleo also mentioned that children are the perfect people for her to work with."

"I think it's very exciting to work with kids," Puleo said, mentioning she is intrigued by their curiosity and interest in everything."

"Library Director Sue Koronowski said as soon as she knew of the opening she posted a help wanted ad for the position on 'Noble,' a computer network linking North Shore libraries."

"She said it didn't take long for Puleo to respond to the ad, and when she did there was no doubt about who would fill the position."

"She was my first choice," Koronowski said about Puleo. "I was very impressed with her background in children's services. I knew that she was the perfect candidate for this town..."

On the move in Tewksbury

"However, with a wave of his hand he is able to turn the lights on in his second floor classroom at the John F. Ryan School."

"The sixth grade English and Social Studies teacher is demonstrating the motion sensors which activate the lights in every one of the Ryan School's classrooms."

"The motion sensors are just part of the cutting edge technology within the Ryan School, and mark it as the first school in town built with the intention of incorporating new technology into education."

"The school is wired," Manzi said.

"The latest high speed fiber optic cables line the school walls, connecting computers

HibelFest Oct. 16 & 17

PALM BEACH, FL - Edna Hibel is coming home to Massachusetts to host "HibelFest New England '99," the largest exhibition by a living artist ever displayed in New England, on October 16 and 17 at the Wyndham Hotel in located throughout two computer classrooms (about 12 computers apiece) and several computer stations within most classrooms (four computers apiece).

"The computers will open new doors for the school's fifth and sixth graders."

"Students will be able to create and save documents on the school computer server, which they can reach from any computer in the building. The server will allow students to begin a document in one class, and complete it in the library."

"The computers will also allow students to conduct Internet research."

"Teachers will have their own computers, and large television monitors hanging from the ceiling on which they can conduct lessons combined with the Internet..."

Born and raised in Boston, Edna Hibel will share, with nearly 2,000 people expected to attend the exhibit, her art in many media reflecting the theme of the New Millennium."

The exhibition's signature collection, "Compassion on Television in a New Era," will feature 30 Hibel art works that will be shown on five prime-time weekly programs beginning in September. Hibel's colorful Renaissance and Impressionist-style portrayals of children, landscapes, flowers, and portraits.

Over 500 framed and more than 2,000 unframed art works will be on exhibit for Hibel followers and members of the public. These art works will include oil paintings, original lithographs, serigraphs, giclees, multimedia, art dolls, and lithograph fragments, many uniquely enhanced by Hibel with oil paints, pastels, charcoal, and gold leaf. A special exhibition "The Magic of Porcelain" will feature rare art from the perma-

— Tips from the Pros —

Shirley Currier
Realtor/Colonial Manor Realty

"Should we add on or move?" There are several things to consider. First, the location. Is your current home exactly where you want to be? If not, no home improvement or addition will change that. If you love your location, will you have everything you need and want by adding on? If no, you should probably consider a move. If yes, take the time to meet with architects and contractors. Ask lots of questions, check references. Remember, you get what you pay for — the lowest bid could end up costing you more. Also, make sure your changes blend in well with the existing dwelling. Homes that look "added onto" sometimes have difficulty selling. A good addition should look as though it's always been there.

REAL ESTATE SAMPLER

This Week...
Wilmington

Roomy gambrel cape

The escalation of home prices has created the inability for most first or second home buyers to obtain a "new" home.

With that understanding, it's refreshing to offer this seven room split styled Gambrel Cape of pristine condition. The exterior style is that of a split entry with a second floor. The inside however is a perfect blend of typical colonial with the advantage of a lower level split entry. Let's walk through. Oh, by the way, within the next couple of weeks, you'll be able to view the property through our Virtual web site on Bamboo.com. But for now, let's just stroll through.

As you enter the front foyer, hardwood floors greet you. Up a few stairs and you are on the main living floor. A great floor plan for entertaining with a large foyer separating the living room, den, kitchen, half bath and dining room. The kitchen is country comfortable with honey pine cabinets, recessed light, and lunch counter. With plenty of cabinets and newer appliances, any cook will be delighted to tackle Holiday feasts! A peekaboo opening from the lunch counter creates an atmosphere for family dining. The den offers a flexibility of an additional bedroom, media room or study.

Up the hardwood stairs, cathedral ceilings welcome you in the large foyer. A super king size master bedroom with multiple closets and cathedral ceilings anticipate the need for privacy. A children's dorm with built-ins, recessed lighting and multiple closets make this front to back bedroom a kid's dream. (An easy convert to two bedrooms, if that's your style).

Visiting relatives? No problem! The lower level family room has been adapted with a half wall partition creating a den and bedroom area. A full bath offers guests complete privacy as does the rear entry, leading directly to the level yard and driveway. A great idea for college kids, in-laws or au pairs.

What a great neighborhood! The neighborhood shows pride in ownership and there's an abundance of children seen playing and bicycling.

A smaller development off the beaten path waiting to welcome your family. A great house in the great town of Wilmington and only asking $278,000.

For your personal tour, please call Fitzgerald & Associates at 978-664-4709.

QUINN NAMED BROKER OF THE MONTH

READING - REMAX Top Achievers, Inc. congratulates Mary Ann Quinn, CRS, GRI, LTG for her outstanding sales performance for the month. Mary Ann has been a consistent leader in real estate sales for years.

Mary Ann Quinn

She holds the GRI (Graduate Residential Specialist) designation after completing the required courses offered by Residential Sales Council and must demonstrate specified expertise in applied residential real estate marketing. Less than three percent of all Realtors hold this designation.

She is a graduate of Merrimack College and is a former vice president of the Bank of Boston. A frequent recipient of sales awards, Mary Ann is deeply committed to service and professionalism.

Mary Ann and her husband, Bob, have two children, Emily and Michael, and are Reading residents. She is a member of the Eastern Middlesex Board of Realtors, the National Association of Realtors, and is currently National Governor for the Women's Council of Realtors (WCR).

Mary Ann Quinn can be reached at REMAX Top Achievers, 100 Main Street, Reading, or by phone at 781-944-6060. Also visit her Website at WWW.MaryAnnQuinn.com or by email at mqremax@aol.com

COMEAU NAMED BROKER OF THE MONTH

Rita Manuel, manager of the Stoneham-based regional office of Coldwell Banker-Hunneman

David Comeau Celli, is pleased to name David Comeau, G.R.I., as Broker of the Month for having generated the highest number of real estate sales for the month of September.

This is the third consecutive month David has received this prestigious award. In receiving this recognition, he was commended for the quality of service he provides both clients and customers alike. His professionalism is to be commended.

David resides in Lynnfield with his wife, Jacqueline. He can be reached at 781-446-0055 for all of your real estate needs.

CONTE COMPLETES FAST START TRAINING PROGRAM

STONEHAM - Cheryl Conte of Coldwell Banker-Hunneman Celli office, recently completed the FastStart training program, an advanced real estate course offered to Hunneman sales associates.

Faststart, which trains credit toward a CRS (Certified Residential Specialist) designation, features intensive workshops and in-depth instruction on brokerage practices and innovative marketing techniques. Conte, a Stoneham resident, attended the course at Hunneman's state-of-the-art training facility in Woburn.

Celebrating its 70th anniversary, Boston-based Coldwell Banker-Hunneman has a network of more than 75 offices in eastern Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire, and is a wholly owned subsidiary of NRT, Inc., the largest real estate company in the world. Exceeding $4.7 billion in residential real estate sales volume in 1998, Coldwell Banker-Hunneman continues to reign as the No. 1 home seller in Massachusetts.

FOOTBALL

Heartbreaker 'Cats lose in O.T.

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

It's not the failed two point conversion in Saturday's 14-13 loss to Pentucket that is the greatest disappointment. Wilmington's Super Bowl chance, a first since 1976, now a fading hope is not the most mourned. It's deeper than that.

The disappointment is not be able to punch the ball in from the Pentucket 4-yard line on four plays (including a field goal try on fourth down) with 90 seconds to go in a tied game.

But there is some optimism despite the loss; both Wilmington and Pentucket have one loss, one more than Ipswich, the front runner in the Cape Ann League. Both teams have yet to play the undefeated Tigers of Ipswich. So, yes there's a long way to go, and no the Super Bowl chances were not thrown out the window.

Wilmington was certainly lucky just to be tied at seven at the end of regulation. They executed very poorly on offense. The lone touchdown came on a blocked punt. They weren't creative at all with its offensive calls. They rushed the ball 35 times, mostly off tackle or up the middle, and only passed the ball three times. Whenever Eric Banda

Undefeated Billerica coming to Tewksbury

By JEFF NAZZARO
Sports Correspondent

You want to talk turnaround? Last year when these two teams met at the Marshall Middle School, their combined record was 1-7. This Saturday when Tewksbury and Billerica hookup for a football clash at Doucette Field, they'll do so a combined 7-1.

A year ago Tewksbury had the win but Billerica had the better team, proving it with a 34-20 victory on their field. This year Tewksbury has the loss and, on paper anyway, Billerica still has the better team, led by the strong right arm of quarterback Chris Doneski.

Of course, the better team still remains to be decided, and they'll do just that beginning at 1:30 PM this Saturday, with early season control of the always hotly contested Merrimack Valley Conference on the line.

Billerica, with Doneski and a corps of capable receivers plus an outstanding two-way football player in middle line-backer/fullback George Gullage, has blown away their competition so far. At 4-0 (3-0 MVC), they're ranked 13th by the Boston Globe, one ahead of archrival Chelmsford. They beat Lincoln-Sudbury in a non-league game and have trounced Andover, Dracut and Methuen in three league contests so far. Billerica has outscored its opponents by the scary margin of 139-10.

The 10 points against shows they have a defense, but the big attraction has been Doneski, who has lit up Div. 2 for an EMass-leading 11 touchdown passes and a whopping 957 yards. And he's played just 10 of Billerica's 16 quarters of football so far. Perhaps the most imposing statistic shows the balance Doneski has achieved in the air. He's distributed the 11 TDs to four different receivers: four to T.J. Canada, three to Tommy Mario and two each to John McBride and Mike Raueo.

"He's really done a fantastic job this year," said Billerica head coach Peter Flynn of Doneski. "We're executing very well. We've stayed on task with our offense from the beginning."

The Redmen will counter with senior quarterback Tommy Sullivan, who has thrown five touchdown passes of his own. He too uses multiple targets, including

Cats stopped Three yards from glory

By JEFF NAZZARO
Sports Correspondent

The Wilmington High School football team lined up 3 yards from continuing its undefeated season, 3 yards from remaining locked in a struggle with Ipswich for the driver's seat of the Cape Ann League bus and a trip to the Div. 4 Super Bowl, 3 yards from glory on a warm October afternoon at Alumni Stadium.

Three yards, do or die. The clock was shut-off for overtime, which gave each team a first-and-goal from the 10-yard line. The Pentucket Regional Sachems went first and scored easily to break a 7-7 tie, then kicked the point after to make it 14-7. Wilmington took the ball, scored easily on a pair of 5-yard Eric Banda runs and then lined up to try and win the game.

True, they could have tried to kick the Redmen crush Rangers 33 - zip

Sports Correspondent

They didn't always execute as smoothly as they wanted to, but facing a meeting with undefeated and league favorite Billerica the next week, the TMHS football team did what it had to do, and did it convincingly enough, trouncing the Rangers at Methuen last Friday night, 33-0.

Tewksbury, which improved to 3-0 in the MVC (3-1 overall) led 12-0 at halftime before breaking it open in the final two quarters. The Redmen withstood three interceptions from quarterback Tommy Sullivan by putting relentless pressure on Ranger QB Sean Furey, who went 3-for-13 for 64 yards, missing on his last eight attempts.

Seniors Bryan Deshler and Larry Dingle and juniors Chris Melo and Erik Nickerson each recorded a sack of Furey that helped add up to rushing yardage of minus-43 for Methuen on the night. And it didn't get any better when Furey handed off or threw backward passes - the Redmen defense was all over this team.

Of course, this was the same Methuen team that Billerica pounded 46-0 a week prior and the reasons why showed. The Ranger offense operated with all the effectiveness of a stock car that can't turn left. Methuen registered two first downs for the game and only one before the score was 33-0 and less than two minutes remained. Before that time they averaged minus-2.3 yards on first down, including two procedure penalties, a sack and a lost fumble.

Still, the Tewksbury offense was a little slow to capitalize. It scored once near the end of the first quarter and again at the end of the half. Meanwhile, a parade of running backs (nine in all by game's end) went in for Tewksbury, starting with the return of senior tailback Erik Hamilton, who played his first downs since injuring his ankle in week one against Everett.

Redmen head coach Brian Aylward conceded that Hamilton's return disrupted somewhat the flow the offense had achieved while the team won its first two MVC games. But he also said that with the big Billerica game coming up the coaching staff wanted to try different combinations in the backfield and different formations and plays on the field.

"We know we have a big game next week and we didn't want to be real vanilla with our offense," Aylward said. "We wanted to try some different things. We tried to work a lot of combinations of guys in the first half."

Hamilton ran well, carrying eight times for 55 yards and a touchdown before hobbling off the field in the third quarter, not to return. By that time it was 20-0 and Tewksbury had bigger fish to fry so Hamilton, who looked fine walking off the field at the end of the game, took a seat.

His 5-yard run capped a 49-yard Tewksbury drive that started with a fumble recovery. After Bo Boudreau, who continues to be inconsistent with his point after kicks, missed, Tewksbury led 6-0 with 1:24 left.

Methuen actually made it a game early in the second quarter, when Furey and fellow senior captain Jim Giarrusso hooked up for the Rangers' most productive play of the night, and a spectacular one at that. Furey heaved the ball downfield for Giarrusso into double Tewksbury coverage. Everybody got a hand or two on the ball but it was Giarrusso who came up with it while flat on his back at the Redmen 13-yard line, good for a 43-yard pass play.

Furey then lost 5 on a designed run and was sacked by a blitzing Deshler for an 11-yard loss. On third-and-twenty-five Furey completed a pass to Alex Webley for 10 yards and then found Giarrusso for 11 more but they weren't enough and Tewksbury took over on downs at its 8-yard line.

Methuen again earned itself excellent field position and again could do nothing with it. The Rangers got the ball back quickly and in good shape at the Redmen 23 when Jeff Farelli picked off Sullivan's third down pass. But on first down, senior Jay Stamp pursued Robert Mateo on a sweep right and hauled the back down after just a 1-yard gain. On second-and-nine Giarrusso got the call but junior linebacker Jack Byrne met him and brought him down with help from Deshler for no gain. On third-and-nine Furey threw incomplete and on fourth down he was hit by Deshler and then drilled to the earth by Melo for a 9-yard loss.

The Redmen took over and despite a procedure penalty on first down drove 69 yards in 13 plays to score with 20 seconds left in the half and go up 12-0. The two-point try failed. This was the drive on which the near full Redmen Sampler was on display. One of the big plays on the drive came out of the "crazy" formation, which uses the whole field, spreading the line to the left sideline, the backs to the right and leaves just the center and quarterback on the hash and using a long snap. Methuen put two defenders on the ball, one was blocked, the other chased Sullivan, who scrambled just far enough on third-and-twenty-two.

The other big play was a play action pass out of the single wing formation with Sullivan finding junior wide out Jay Wagstaff deep to the right for a 26-yard completion to the Methuen 6-yard line. Boudreau swept the ball into the end zone from there on a toss left on the next play.

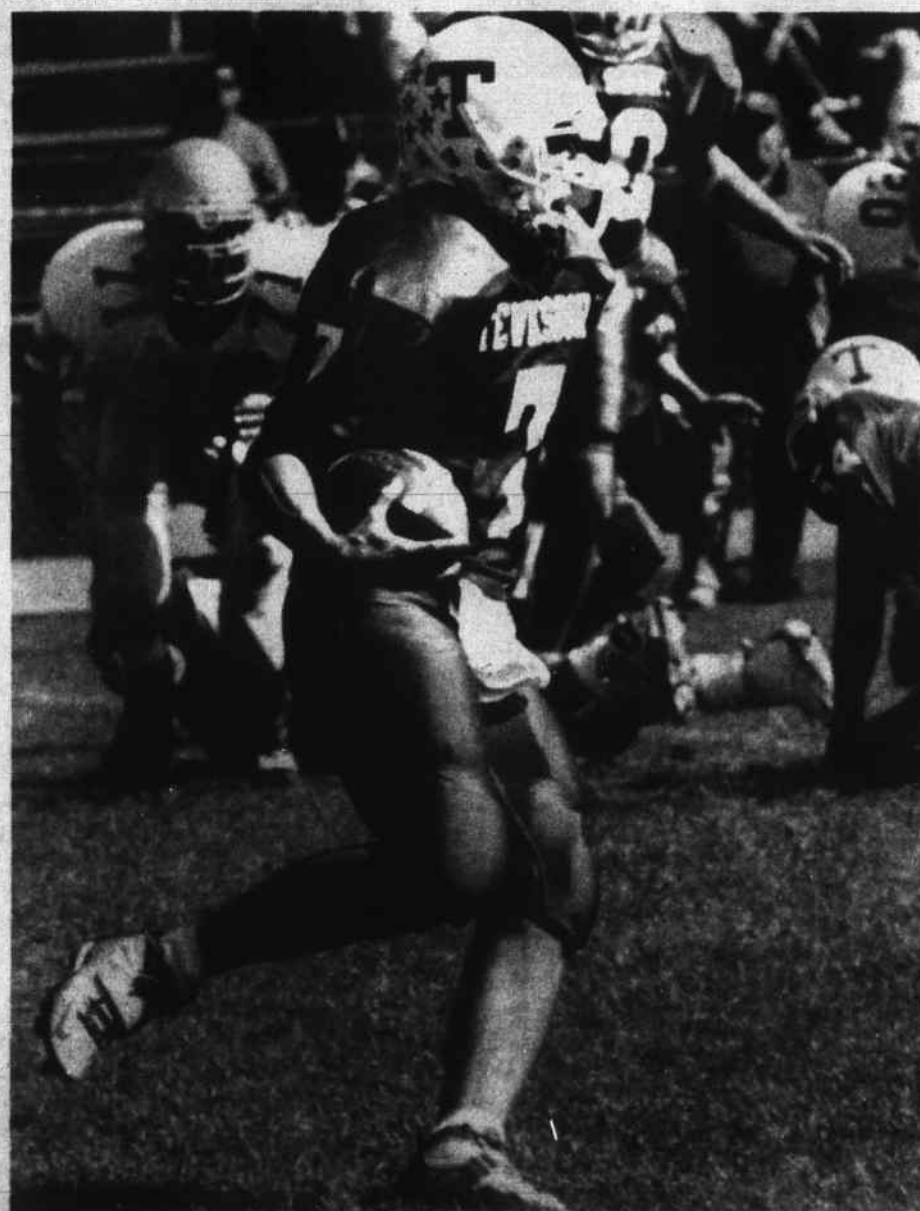

Methuen still had some life when on the opening drive of the second half Sullivan short-armed a pass for a wide-open Stamp on the left sideline and instead watched Furey intercept it and run it back to the Tewksbury 26. But both teams had been over this turf before and there was decidedly less intrigue in the cool October air the second time around.

Furey threw four straight incomplete passes, his efforts growing successively weaker under the constant strain of the Redmen pass rush. Tewksbury took over and marched another 69 yards on eight runs from the combined force of Hamilton, Nickerson and junior Ryan Carlson. Hamilton's tough 28-yarder, made possible when Stamp sealed the corner with a good, sustained block, put the ball at the 1 and Nickerson punched it in from there. Sullivan dove in with the two-point conversion and the scoreboard showed 20-0 Tewksbury with 4:21 left in the third quarter.

The Redmen added two more touchdowns in the fourth quarter, the first on a blistering 44-yard run up the middle by Carlson. The second came after senior Brian Sinkus recovered a fumble for Tewksbury and Boudreau ran in his second 6-yard touchdown of the night.

point to end the game in a tie, but they couldn't really. They wouldn't have, anyway. And who could blame them? To tie would defeat the purpose of the overtime in the first place. A tie on its own is one thing and to tie a team when you have no other option is better than losing any day but still, the 'Cats were going for the win, and that was that.

"There's no question we were going for two there," said Wilmington coach Bob Almeida. "We don't play for ties here, we play for wins and I'll line my guys up against their guys any day."

There also was no question who would get the ball.

"Our best chance was to give it to our best back," Almeida said. "One way or another we were going to go with our best back. He's our leader, he's the guy who got us here and he proved he could score because he did earlier."

Twice, in fact. Early in the game to make it 7-0 and again in the overtime to make it 14-13.

So the handoff went to Eric Banda, running hard behind right tackle - and getting swallowed up by the aggressive Sachems defense, three defenders swarming to take him down. The game ended not much closer than 3 yards from the end zone.

As noted, Almeida stuck by his decision to hand the ball to Banda, though he said he would have liked to have the play call back. On the two 5-yarders that brought him to the end zone just before, Banda ran left. This time he ran right. Hindsight being 20-20, Almeida would have sent Banda left.

Really it's among the least enviable of all coaching dilemmas, a situation ripe for second guessing, and Almeida did what so many high school coaches do. With the game on the line and needing a few precious yards, he went with his best player running his most basic play. Few coaches gamble with anything else in those situations.

Perhaps they should.

Back in 1995 on their first of two consecutive runs to the Div. 2 Super Bowl, Tewksbury had to get past a still-powerful Chelmsford squad. In a fantastic back-and-forth struggle, Tewksbury scored four touchdowns and kicked four extra points. Chelmsford scored four touchdowns and kicked three extra points. Their last touchdown made the score 28-27 late in the fourth quarter. Of course they went for two. And of course they went to running back Jason Bilodeau, who rushed for over 240 yards in the game but, on the final play, came up 1 yard short of winning the game for the Lions.

The next year, Tewksbury beat Lowell in overtime when another outstanding back who ate up ground all night long, Mike Kowalski, was stuffed on a fourth-and-goal from the 3 late in the fourth quarter. That December, the final feather was stuck in the coaching cap of Bob Aylward when his Redmen defense stopped a last second two-point try by Walpole's best running back to preserve a 20-19 win.

Earlier this season, Tewksbury kept their MVC record perfect when Lowell went for two with no time left and came up short. They went with their best guy, running back Raunny Rosario.

Interestingly, all of the above plays were run to the right side of the line. Surprisingly, or not, all were stuffed. Excellent Tewksbury coaching explains some of it, but current TMHS head coach Brian Aylward said that for Lowell's recent try, he sent his normal defense out there. Not wanting to prejudice them one way or the other he gave them no special instructions, had them key on no one player. A pep talk was all.

Of course the players know a little something too, and safety Ryan Carlson, who made the stop on that play said he and his teammates knew Rosario was coming with it. He may have cheated a little in that direction, watched Rosario intently, pounced at the right moment. And give credit this past Saturday to a Pentucket defense that rose to the occasion at the right time and took it away from Wilmington.

Almeida and his team took the loss with class and dignity, hard as it may have been. This season is far from over for them. They'll have many more chances to line up with their best.

Running game prevails for Shawsheen Tech

By MICHAEL LIUZZA
Sports Correspondent

When all fails, run!

That's the philosophy both Shawsheen Tech and Minuteman Tech adopted Saturday afternoon, combining for 66 carries and 274 yards of rushing offense. But the Rams were more successful, defeating the Mustangs, 23-14, at Lexington, to improve their record to 3-1.

"We really controlled the running game today," said Shawsheen's head coach Al Costabile. "We really played black and blue football."

The Rams were led by running backs Mike Stubbs (20 carries, 92 yards, 2 TD) and Wilmington's Brian Leblanc (10 carries, 94 yards, 1 TD). But perhaps the biggest stars of the game were on Shawsheen's offensive line.

"The offensive line did a great job today," said Costabile. "They worked extremely hard for the entire game and it paid off."

Stubbs, who has continued to flourish, said the team was pretty pumped up for this Saturday match-up.

"This was a huge win for us," explained Stubbs. "The Minutemen are one of our big rivals, and we really wanted this one. Our offensive line really stepped it up."

The first half saw both teams test the other's defense. The Mustangs were able to run behind powerful running backs

Facing third and 14 at the Rams own 12 yard line, Shawsheen quarterback Steve Winchester hit Dickinson with a 32-yard pass that made it first and 10. But that's all the Rams could do, and they were forced to punt. Wilmington's Charlie Ward kicked a booming 45 yarder, putting the Mustangs deep at their own 6.

The Minutemen continued to run the ball well, marching down to their own 42 yard line. But then Shawsheen's defense came up big, led by Tewksbury natives Chris McCarthy and Tony Colella, and Wilmington's Brian Corcoran. All three players were instrumental in stopping the Mustang's drive.

"Our defense did a fabulous job of stopping the run and the option today," said a happy Costabile.

On their next possession, the Rams began to move. Junior James Fallica caught a 26 yard pass from Winchester, and Stubbs jolted 22 yards on a draw play. With just over two minutes remaining in the half, Stubbs took the pitch on a sweep around the right side and zipped seven yards into the end zone. Costabile then went right back to Stubbs for a successful conversion rush, and Shawsheen led at the half, 8-0.

Minutemen came out on fire in the third quarter. Keith Bowles received the kickoff at the 20 yard line and broke free down the sidelines for a 68 yard return. Shawsheen's Dickinson ran him down from behind and made a great touch-down saving tackle.

But the damage had already been done. On the third play of the drive, Chaisson ran a bootleg pass that was completed to Devon DiPietro for an 11 yard touchdown. The Mustangs attempted the conversion rush, but it was stopped by Fallica.

The Rams then put together their best drive of the day. Led by Stubbs and Leblanc, the Rams ate up over six minutes on the clock, gaining four first downs in the process. With 3:30 left in the quarter, Stubbs again took the pitch to the right side and scampered nine yards for the touchdown. The conversion pass was completed to McCarthy and Shawsheen had a 16-6 lead.

The beginning of the fourth quarter saw the Mustangs drive again. Chaisson hit Maloney with a 45-yard bomb that made it first and goal at the Rams six yard line.

But once again the Rams defense came up big. Chaisson attempted to pitch the ball on a sweep play, but fumbled when he was hit hard by Wilmington's Derek McLaren. McLaren recovered, putting an end to the Minuteman drive.

After a long run by Leblanc was called back because of an illegal back penalty, the Rams found themselves in a crucial fourth and one situation. But again Leblanc got the call, and on a dive play up the middle he rumbled for a 44 yard touchdown. Ward kicked the extra point, and with 2:10 left in the game, Shawsheen was on top, 23-6.

It took the Minutemen only 58 seconds to move down the field and score. Once again, Chaisson hit Maloney on a 20-yard touchdown strike. Chaisson then hit a wide open Eric Meredith for the conversion, making the score 23-14 in favor of Shawsheen.

But with just 1:06 remaining in the game, the Mustangs were all out of time outs. After a failed on-side kick, the Rams simply ran out the clock, winning their third game of the year.

"I'm extremely proud of these guys today," said Costabile. "This team got stronger as the game went on. Today we really had that killer instinct."

Next Saturday Shawsheen will host its first home game of the season against a tough Whittier Tech team that also happens to be 3-1. Kick-off is at 1:30 p.m.

Nothing stops Shawsheen's Brian Leblanc

By MICHAEL LIUZZA
Sports Correspondent

For most of the day, it was difficult to predict what the outcome of the Shawsheen Tech/Minuteman game would be.

Until Rams co-captain Brian Leblanc decided to take matters into his own hands.

Although Shawsheen held a 16-6 lead heading into the fourth quarter, the game was far from over. The Minutemen managed to put together a drive that placed them all the way down deep into Rams territory. But then Mustangs quarterback Jeff Chaisson fumbled on a pitch play and Wilmington's Derek McLaren recovered.

First, Leblanc, a senior co-captain from Wilmington, took the hand-off from quarterback Steve Winchester at the Rams' 13 yard line. From there he scurried 63 yards down field, weaving and bobbing would-be tacklers before finally being stopped at the Mustangs 24 yard line.

Then a yellow flag flew through the air.

An illegal block penalty spoiled the run, bringing the ball all the way back to the spot of the penalty, the Rams 33 yard line, but that didn't discourage Leblanc.

With 2:10 remaining in the game, the Rams were facing a desperate fourth and one situation from the Minuteman 44 yard line. That's when Shawsheen's head coach Al Costabile decided to go to his big playmaker.

Leblanc took the handoff on a dive play up the middle. After sneaking through the line, he cut back inside and exploded down the field for a 44 yard touchdown run. Not bad, considering all the Rams were trying to do was get a first down.

"I was supposed to run the play outside," said an exhausted Leblanc, who carried the ball 10 times for 94 yards. "But then a huge hole opened up, I saw daylight, and just took off. Our offensive line played unbelievable today."

"We put Brian in a tough situation, and he came up big time," said Costabile.

Although the Minutemen scored one last touchdown and a two point conversion to make the score 23-14, Leblanc's touchdown took the pressure off the Rams and ultimately secured their third win of the season.

during regulation from the 4-yard line on three plays. A game winning field goal went wide on fourth down as Mark Jepson attempted a 20-yard kick.

Pentucket went first in the overtime series, and three running plays later they scored on a 1-yard quarterback sneak by Eric Schlitt. The PAT was good. Schlitt has been the best all-around quarterback Wilmington has faced in a while. Wilmington followed. Twice they gave the ball to Eric Banda (11 carries, 40 yards), both times he went to his left. First rush he moved the ball 5 yards. On his second carry he covered 5 more, for a touchdown (his tenth of the season). Now with the scoreboard reading 14-13 in favor of the visiting team, Wilmington could elect to go for the tie, or go for the win with the two-point conversion.

Jepson is over .500 for the season in PAT's.

"We would never play for a tie, we'd never do that," said Almeida.

Wilmington went for it all, the two-point conversion. If it worked they'd remain undefeated. If not, they would barely get off the field.

After two successful running plays to the left side by Banda, Wilmington elected the same play, but to the right side. Banda was stuffed by Kevin Bianchi and Brad Bridges.

"There's no question that we were going to Eric," said Almeida. "He's our best back, he's our leader and he's the one who got us here. He had proved that he could get in (the end zone) earlier. I had confidence in matching up our guys against theirs, but it just didn't work out in our favor."

Almeida realized that he would be questioned with his moves, in both the four down series from the 4-yard line and the two-point conversion. But with his record of 28 wins in the past four years, including totally rejuvenating this program, it is tough to question his calls. To his credit, he accepted the second guessing questions from sideline pundits with open arms, not being ashamed of anything.

"Hindsight is 20-20 and I don't question the calls, but I would like to have the (conversion) play back," he admitted. "We had success going to the left, so maybe we should have done that."

"We didn't have success with our quarterback keeper plays (like we have had in the past). We ended up losing two yards, and we had three plays to score from the 4-yard line and we couldn't do it. That proved costly to us and that was heartbreaking enough."

"We tried for the field goal figuring that Jepson had success hitting his PAT's from basically the same spot. From that distance we figured we had a chance. But in no way did the game ride on his shoulders. Our offensive execution was terrible, absolutely horrible. Maybe we were too pumped up today, maybe we need to have more composure."

To Wilmington's credit, several players were outstanding, while several more struggled, and several others were still banged up. Both Banda and Hiltz weren't 100 percent, while various other injuries kept several starters on the sidelines. One player who had his best game in a Wildcat uniform was junior Bob French. He certainly was a major factor. He looked terrific carrying the ball (6 carries, 27 yards), bullying his way through for extra yardage whenever Wilmington needed it. Through three quarters of play, he carried the ball just three times. When Wilmington started a 14 play drive from their own 21 with 25 seconds to go in the third quarter which lasted until 2:55 to go in the fourth quarter, it was French who got them the ball. He was the one who recovered a Pentucket fumble, as the Sachems were putting together a great drive of their own. But in that 14-play offensive drive for the 'Cats, French got the ball just three times, carrying 3, 6 and 7 yards, respectively. He is averaging 4.6 yards per carry. He was magnificent.

Wilmington mixed in six rushes by Hiltz (4.3 yards per carry) in the same drive that got them five yards, two nice runs by Jepson (17 carries for 136 yards this season) that moved the ball a combined 22 yards, and two other solid runs from Matt Minghella (20 carries for 91 yards this season) that also moved the ball a combined 16 yards. Banda didn't touch the ball once in that drive.

What hurt Wilmington the most was an incomplete pass on third down, and a 10-yard holding call several plays before.

But on fourth-and-15 from the Pentucket 35, Wilmington took out Banda. Hiltz looked to complete a pass (was 11-for-24 before the game with one interception). But Hiltz got poor pass protection forcing him to tuck the ball under his arm. He got just 5 yards before being tackled.

When Pentucket took over on downs on their own 30 yard line. They too couldn't get much going as Jeff Coughlin sacked Schlitt for a 9 yard loss. On third down great pressure by Coughlin, Rob Rogers and Ryan Moroney forced the Sachems to punt. That's when French came up big again. Schlitt went to punt, but with the pressure of French coming on him, Schlitt took his eye off the snap. The ball ca-reed off his shoulder. He did recover it, only to meet Moroney, who nailed him at the 4 yard line.

Wilmington's offense came back on the field with 90 seconds to play. The first play from scrimmage was a quarterback keeper by Hiltz, moving the ball up two yards. Now on second-and-goal from the two, Banda got the call and he gained a half of a yard. With about 50 seconds to go in the game, Wilmington had a third-and-goal from the one-a-half-yard line. For whatever reason, they called for a quarterback roll out to Hiltz's right. He was brought down at the original line of scrimmage for a two yard loss.

Now facing fourth down, Wilmington elected for the field goal. It was wide left, setting up overtime.

Wilmington managed just 125 total yards in this game. Considering they averaged 230 per game (61 passing and 169 on the ground) before Pentucket came to town, the low number says it all. Wilmington averaged 10 first downs this season, Saturday they got 7, with four of them coming on that 14 play drive.

Now at 4-1 overall, Wilmington will travel to Hamilton-Wenham on Saturday for a 2 p.m. kick-off. Hamilton is 2-3 and is coming off its 28-20 win over Lynnfield (2-3). Hamilton's Jerry Morin had a big game for the Generals on Saturday with 2 touchdowns and 4 PAT kicks. Hamilton has given up the most points out of any Cape Ann League team, 137, which is an average of 27.4 points per game. Prior to the win over Lynnfield, HW was outscored 117-40, or an average of 29-10 each game.

Q). How long have you been a cheerleader?

A). I've been a cheerleader since sophomore year.

Q). What do you like most about cheerleading?

A). The unity and pride, in such events like spirit week, homecoming, football breakfasts and dinners, and of course the games.

Q). What cheer or routine that your team does now do you like the most, and why?

A). I'd have to say our routine to the fight song because it gives our team a chance to exhibit other skills. The line-up is also another one of my favorites.

Q). What's the hardest cheer/routine, and why?

A). There isn't really a hard cheer or routine. Even if there was one though, everyone on the team is really supportive of each other and willing to help out whenever there's a problem.

Q). Do you play any other sports, if yes which ones?

A). Yes, I also run hurdles in winter and spring track.

wide receiver Jay Wagstaff and tight end Jon Takach, and running backs Jay Stamp, Ryan Carlson, and Erik Nickerson, among others. Carlson and Nickerson have done most of the running so far for Tewksbury, but look for Erik Hamilton, who has battled an ankle injury most of the season, to figure prominently in the Redmen offense.

But the key to this game is the air attacks of both teams. Tewksbury will throw their typical variety of formations and plays and then some at Billerica. Look for some razzle-dazzle and Aylward-style trickery. Their execution will have to be dead-on, beginning with Sullivan, who certainly has the capability to go toe to toe with Doneski.

The other question is, can the Tewksbury defense hang with the Doneski-powered Indians. The Redmen starting secondary of Ryan Carlson, Mark Boudreau, Sullivan and Jay Stamp boasts experience and athleticism and teams have had trouble throwing against Tewksbury thus far.

Of course, they haven't played Billerica yet.

Tewksbury head coach Brian Aylward is well aware of what Billerica has done and also of Flynn's capabilities, an experienced coach who led the Indians to a 1993 Div. 2 Super Bowl championship.

Which won't have stopped Tewksbury from trying this week.

"Coach Flynn is a great coach," Aylward said. "He's got some very talented players but he also knows how to use them. He's a very tough coach to prepare for."

Which won't have stopped Tewksbury from trying this week.

"I'm excited about the fact that we have seven days to prepare," Aylward said. "These kids are very responsive. They don't get grumpy over practice. They'll be prepared for a good, long week of practice."

And Flynn, no stranger to playing against Aylward-coached teams, knows Tewksbury will be ready.

"Coach Aylward is one of the great young minds of coaching and we're expecting a great, great game," Flynn said. "Tewksbury is well-coached, they have a lot of great athletes and we're real excited about another great MVC match-up."

Tough choices this week

Cats and Rams to win, Redmen to face toughest test

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

I'll have to admit, this will be the toughest week. I have had it pretty easy thus far in the prediction department, and that means I really have to surf my brain to see what I can come up with as for this weekend's games.

For the second straight week I missed a prediction going 2-1, but I have kept up my mark of going at least 2-for-3 in every week. Right now I'm 9-3 on the season which isn't too bad. Last week, well I wasn't so good. I started off on the right foot on Friday night predicting a 41-8 win over Methuen, when it was 33-0. OK so a touchdown off from each team, not so bad. Then came Saturday afternoon where I said Shawsheen would win 13-8, when they won 23-14, once again a touchdown off from each side, and then I predicted a 26-21 win for Wilmington in which they lost 14-13 in overtime.

So now comes two of the tougher games for two of the three teams, while the third one, well hopefully they can regroup, get healthy, get a win under its belt after a heartbreaking loss and rebound for the rest of the season. That team is Wilmington, who'll be traveling to Hamilton for a 2 p.m. kick-off with the 2-3 Hamilton-Wenham Generals. They should be better than Triton offensively, but just as bad if not worse defensively. HW has given up the most points in the league with 137, 26 worse than Triton who Wilmington beat 33-0 in an effortless game two weeks ago. The Generals were very young and inexperienced last year and they might put up a fight for the first quarter or so, but don't expect much of a fight thereafter. Wilmington desperately needs a game that they can drastically improve on its execution, and a 27-6 drubbing should do the trick.

Shawsheen will have its first home game of the season hosting Whittier Tech beginning at 1:30. Whittier always gives Shawsheen lost of problems and good games over the years and the two schools have a good rivalry going. Right now Whittier is 3-1 on the season coming off its 6-3 win over the winless Tyngsboro squad.

Whittier seems to have a very good defense and not much on offense, as they are averaging just 12.5 points per game offensively, while on the other side of the both they have given up an average of 8.2 points per game which is very impressive. So what will this game come down to? Obviously, Shawsheen's defense. Why? If Tewksbury can manage at least one touchdown against Whittier, and hold off its struggling offense then they should prevail.

Tyngsboro has scored just 15 points in three games including a field goal on Saturday, and Shawsheen has a pretty good offense with many weapons to choose from. If Al Costabile and his staff are creative, change things up a bit, and give Whittier several different formations and sets, then I really think the Rams defense can hold them off. I'm going to go out on a limb here and say Shawsheen will win its home opener and improve to 4-1 on the season with a tremendous two-way game that can go either way, 13-12.

Now comes Tewksbury who also returns home for its Homecoming Weekend. Now they have already faced what has been called the best team in the state in Everett in the season opener and they hung in there for a while against Diamond Ferri and company. Now neighboring Billerica comes to town and they are rated number 14 in this week's Boston Globe, and truthfully they should be number two or three. This team is for real. They are big, they can execute and their offense is just as powerful as its defense, with exploding players coming at you in every direction (more on the game in Jeff Nazzaro's game preview on the front page). Quarterback Chris Doneski has tossed 11 touchdowns and no interceptions, while George Gullage, their big running back, has had a great start, and their defense has allowed just 10 points in four games - that's outstanding.

So I guess I'm going to look like a jerk again because I'm going to take the obvious choice. Some people and players didn't like the fact that I chose Everett to beat Tewksbury, but hey sometimes teams are better than others. And that's the case again here. Billerica is the better team and should win, but not easy at all. I expect Tewksbury to move the ball and score some points, but I also expect Doneski to go to the air a lot as Tewksbury's secondary really hasn't been challenged at all this season. They will be challenged for sure on Saturday. It's too bad I'll miss this match-up as I'll be in Hamilton, but I think it's going to be a pretty good one. But first things first, Tewksbury will not be playing Methuen so they need to step it up a few notches. But I take Billerica, in what should become a battle of the quarterbacks, 28-13.

SPECIAL REQUEST - Adding a creative element, like calligraphy, lends a personal touch to the invitations announcing your wedding. Calligraphy by Karen Robinson, Elegant Expressions.

Invitations can express your creative side

By Lee Littlewood
Copley News Service

When I was planning a wedding, I didn't have a clue where to go for invitations. So we turned to the local Hallmark store and picked from the selections. And they were beautiful. Now, however, creative couples who want their personalities to shine through on their invitations have so many more options. Many brides- and grooms-to-be are also choosing to design their own.

Time-honored traditional scripts and classic paper are still favored. But more and more couples are attracted to customized, creative styles that can also be used for announcements, shower invitations and thank-you notes.

Ellen Weldon, a New York calligrapher and designer, says prospective clients often ask what she has that's different.

"I offer invitations that are classic, with a twist. I've done work with handmade papers from Europe and India, some pressed with small flowers or tiny filaments of bark. I also use Japanese rice papers and have a maker in Vermont who uses dried parsley in his designs," says the designer, who can be reached at (212) 925-4483.

Couples visiting Weldon often choose colored ribbon ties or wax seals. They also request gate folds and accordion folds that look like presents being opened.

No matter where you find your invitations, though, what's really vital is to look for designs that reveal your personalities and lives, from the paper, color, typeface and lining.

How do you begin when sifting through invitation options? You can start by requesting catalogs from mail-order companies. With access to the Internet, it's simple to peruse many wedding product companies. A few options can be accessed from the Yahoo search engine at www.yahoo.com. Just type in "bridal invitations," and you'll be presented several options.

Mika's Weddings (www.mikawed.com) is one such store; www.TheFinePrint.com is a New Jersey company that "caters to the bride on a budget," and offers 1,000 invitations to choose from. They also provide watercolor programs with matching invitation ensembles. Non-computer users can call (888) 844-5905.

Naptime Productions at NaptimeTwo@aol.com is another. (They do baby announcements, too.) Discount Bridal Service can be accessed at www.discountbridalservice.com or (800) 874-8794. You can also type in the region you

A Decent proposal

Romance rules an offer she (or he!) can't refuse

By Elizabeth Scheibner
Copley News Service

For most couples, getting engaged is one of the happiest, most romantic times of their lives. No matter how it's uttered or how it's presented, a marriage proposal is a special moment that will be remembered for years to come, and retold again and again.

For this reason, it probably comes as no surprise that one of the most frequently asked questions of engaged couples is, "How did he propose?"

Every proposal, of course, is unique, and there is no right or wrong way to propose marriage.

For some couples, it happens without much fanfare, and for others it's an elaborate event that culminates after weeks, or even months, of planning and preparation.

Marriage proposals come in all shapes and sizes, ranging from the subtle to the sublime.

There are stories of men proposing while skydiving or after crossing the finish line of a marathon. Others have used billboards, TV commercials and cyberspace to declare their love. And then there are the romantics who have donned suits of armor or scaled perilous cliffs to propose marriage.

But it's not just men who are doing the proposing. In these days of sexual equality, many women are taking the initiative and popping the question themselves.

For example, one young female lawyer took matters into her own hands and drafted a legal summons, declaring her love for her boyfriend and subpoenaing him for life. Another woman proposed to her boyfriend during a Fourth of July fireworks extravaganza.

Regardless of who does the asking, and where it happens, a marriage proposal is an important event in any relationship.

Take the time to identify a scenario that would be meaningful and memorable for both of you.

ENGAGEMENT ETIQUETTE

There was a time, not too long ago, when men were expected to get permission from their future father-in-law before proposing marriage. Although this custom may seem old-fashioned by today's standards, it is still a polite and respected gesture for the groom to obtain "permission" from his father-in-law after proposing to his bride. Or, at the very least, couples should share the news of their engagement with their parents before making their announcement public.

While some men still follow the age-old tradition of proposing marriage on bended knee, more and more men are looking for innovative ways to pop the question, whether it's broadcasting your proposal on the scoreboard at Yankee Stadium or hiring a plane to tow a banner that says "Will you marry me?"

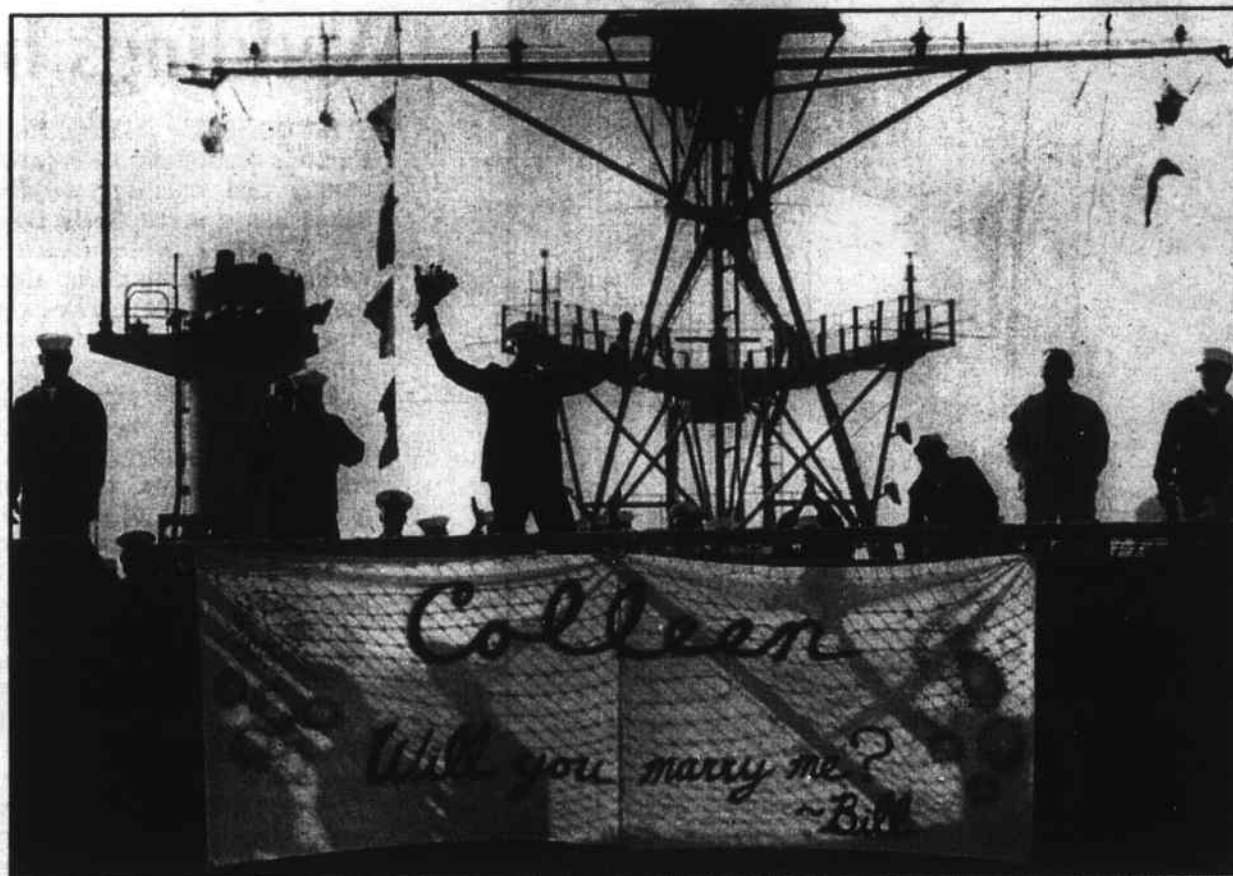

If you're looking for inspiration on unique ways to propose to your sweetheart — or are simply a romantic at heart — there are several books that may prompt you to pop the question.

In the book "Will You Marry Me? The World's Most Romantic Proposals" (Macmillan), by Cynthia Muchnick, more than 50 newlywed couples share their special memories of how they became engaged.

And in "Marry Me! Courtships and Proposals of Legendary Couples" (Angel City Press), authors

Create a Picture-Perfect 'Little Bride'

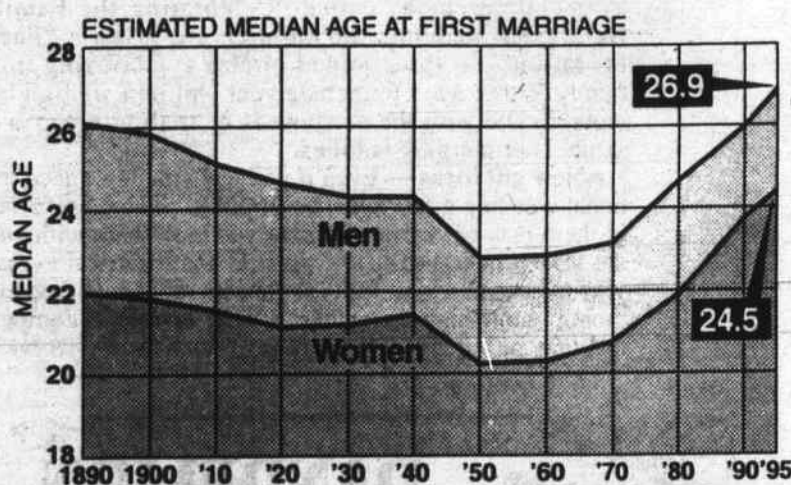

The "oohs" and "ahhs" can be heard as soon as she starts walking down the aisle. The bride? Yes, absolutely. However, the first chorus of raves usually is for the flower girl. She comes walking down the aisle, head raised high with pride, sometimes tossing flower petals to ensure a beautiful route for the bride, looking like a little bride herself. Whether the bride chooses one girl or a few of her favorite little girls, being a flower girl is quite an honor. Following are a few points to keep in mind when choosing the flower girl(s): Child attendants should be between the ages of 4 and 8 years old. Be aware, however, that no matter how old the child is, she may not be developmentally or emotionally able to handle the job of the flower girl. If the bride suspects that walking down the aisle alone may cause stage fright, she can arrange for two child attendants, be it two flower girls or the flower girl and the ring bearer, to walk down the aisle together. In order to help the procession go more smoothly, the children should practice their wedding routine at the ceremony site several times before the actual ceremony. Not only will the children look adorable, but they will be "pros" at being the perfect attendants. Dresses courtesy of Mon Chéri Bridals Inc.

Celebrate a one-year anniversary with friends and food

"It took a year, but at last the loveliest and most luxurious of your wedding gifts are all in service: the silver platters, the hand-blown goblets, the raku pottery," says Abigail Kirsch, author of "Invitation to Dinner: Abigail Kirsch's Guide to Elegant Entertaining and Delicious Dinners at Home" (Doubleday), with David Nussbaum.

From the guests' point of view, there's nothing more rewarding than knowing that their gifts are being put to good use. And, what better way to show your closest friends and wedding attendants how much you've appreciated them and their generosity than by inviting them all to dinner at your home!

Next to the meticulous preparation and planning you had to endure for the wedding, a dinner party should be a piece of cake. However, unless you're a natural, organizing the party on top of handling the cooking can turn out to be a lot more than you bargained for.

Providing all the ingredients — every step, recipe and flourish for cooking up the perfect party, Kirsch, an award-winning businesswoman and accomplished caterer, reveals how simple it can be to throw a fabulous party at a moment's notice.

Explaining the principle lessons and her personal insights behind successful party-giving, Kirsch points out that a good party isn't about food — "it's about welcome."

So, how do you make the guests feel welcome? It's your total effort as a host, says Kirsch, every thoughtful gesture you make from the moment you open the door — great food, nice decor, relaxed and gracious attention to guests' needs — that shows your regard and affection.

Additionally, Kirsch's book features the keys to creating a menu and kitchen schedule that will allow you to enjoy your own party, rather than be relegated to the kitchen all night long.

PLATINUM IS AS TRADITIONAL as weddings themselves. Its radiance and color beautifully showcase a diamond's natural sparkle, and its rarity adds to its appeal. BR961372

Platinum wedding rings symbolize the beauty and strength of your union

The wearing of a wedding band expresses how two people feel about each other without saying a word. Today, many couples are saying "I love you forever" with platinum.

According to a recent survey conducted by the national magazine Modern Bride, three times as many brides are considering platinum wedding rings. Jewelers of America, the national organization dedicated to providing consumers with information about fine jewelry, predicts that interest in this precious metal will continue to grow.

What is platinum's allure? Many people are choosing platinum rings because the bride's mother or grandmother wore platinum jewelry, while others are starting their own family traditions by buying platinum wedding bands.

Platinum is as traditional as weddings themselves. Its radiance and color beautifully showcase a diamond's natural sparkle, and its rarity adds to its appeal. In fact, platinum is the rarest metal on earth, and wearing this precious metal on your finger exemplifies the uniqueness and value of your lasting love.

"Another appeal of platinum is its strength," says Eileen Farrell, JA's director of communications. "It's durable — the perfect symbol of a strong connection between bride and groom. That is why so many young couples today are choosing platinum." Because of platinum's density and weight, it is uniquely desirable for men's wedding bands.

One thing is for sure. The beauty of platinum is a symbol of a love meant to last and a sentimental gift to be enjoyed forever.

Marrying again? Celebrate repeat weddings perfectly

A new marriage marks a new beginning — so there's every reason to celebrate! While it's not your first trip down the aisle, it's the first time you're marrying each other. Therefore, you're entitled to have the kind of wedding that suits your age and lifestyle.

To help make your wedding perfect, Modern Bride magazine offers the following tips for those marrying the second (or third) time around.

• What's right for you — Civil or nonsectarian ceremonies are popular for remarriages. Locations include private homes, judges' chambers, interdenominational chapels or historic sights. If you want a religious wedding, keep in mind that some faiths have special requirements for remarriage. When planning the reception, rely on experts to help organize it in a restaurant, club, hotel or private home.

• What to wear — You have every right to look like a bride! White or ivory is a valid fashion choice; long or short, depending on the formality of the wedding. At a formal evening wedding, the groom wears black tie; for day, his choices can vary from formal wear to a blazer and slacks.

• The guest list — Who's to be invited? The guest list should include the following: family of both the bride and the groom; the couple's mutual friends and those who may have been close to either of you during your previous marriages and remained so; former in-laws, if you're still close to them. As long as you're all comfortable with that situation, there's no reason to exclude them.

You may have a best man or honor attendant. Older children from your previous marriage may serve in that role or as bridesmaids and ushers.

• A child's place — In the case of a second marriage, children from a previous marriage often feel excluded. The Coleman Collection in Kansas City, Mo., has created a special ceremony called "Celebrating the Family." During the wedding, the children are given a "Family Medallion" — three joined circles symbolizing a new family. Other ways to include your children are lighting a unity candle with the newlyweds or sharing a cup — all symbols of merging families.

• New gift ideas — Even if you feel you don't need traditional wedding gifts, you'll be surprised at how useful some of them may be. Other gift ideas you may share with guests are season tickets to sports, musical and theatrical events; a year of special wines, fruits or flowers to be delivered every month; something major like a VCR or fitness equipment that may be purchased by a group of relatives. Gifts bridal couples want

A survey found today's couples prefer practical gifts that suit their lifestyles. The gifts sought were not materialistic so much as self-rewarding.

What newlyweds want:

■ Other unusual items that made the list were sporting goods, artwork, fitness and camping gear, cars and lottery tickets.
■ A separate survey found respondents ranked choosing wedding gifts second in difficulty only to birthday gifts.

SAUGUS — Theresa's Gowns, a formal wear rental shop exclusively for women has opened in Saugus Center, 312 Central St.

Theresa Giannino, a native of Saugus, has opened a shop that caters to women seeking formal wear for weddings, proms, and special occasions to rent. The shop offers friendly, personalized service and a wide selection of styles, sizes, and colors.

With the ever increasing price of formal wear for women, Giannino saw a way for women to save money by renting a quality gown or dress, instead of buying one that would only be worn once or twice. Women have the option of renting a gown or dress for a small fee and refundable deposit.

Theresa's Gowns rents and sells wedding gowns, bridal party dresses and evening attire in sizes 3-30 and up. Wedding gowns and beaded gowns rent for $100. All other dresses and gowns rent for $50.

The shop is located off of Route 1 in Saugus Center, just a two minute drive from the main street exit off the highway. The shop specializes in individual service and clients can browse to their hearts content. It's never too early to plan for a wedding, but Theresa's caters to those with last-minute requests just as easily.

Theresa's Gowns is open Monday thru Thursday from 1 p.m. to 8:30 p.m., Fridays from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Diamond Cuts

Cutting-edge technology and a surge of creativity are giving diamonds more fire and brilliance today than in decades past. A bride can choose from a plethora of new diamond cuts to create an engagement ring that is as unique as she.

Going beyond the traditional round or brilliant cut, which was created 75 years ago and typically has 58 facets, diamond designers are now shaping the gems to create the illusion of a bigger, more perfect stone.

The Spirit Sun cut is a circular design featuring 16 upper facets radiating from a center point, balanced by 16 lower facets.

A romantic "Hearts on Fire" diamond, part of the "ideal" cut genre, uses a round brilliant diamond with facet angles that are calculated mathematically and placed in perfect symmetry. The table of the stone offers an eight-point fire burst and the base provides a kaleidoscope of eight perfectly matched hearts.

Here comes the bride and her bridesmaids looking beautiful as they walk down the aisle

Searching for that perfect gown, a bride-to-be is faced with an array of difficult decisions. Should she choose satin or lace? Will she have a train? A veil? Or, will a simple headpiece suit her best? And this is just the beginning.

There also are the bridesmaids to consider. Rarely does one dress style flatter everyone. All too often, a bride-to-be chooses one uniform look for all of her attendants, leaving the bridesmaids to grin and bear it. As a result, they end up paying a lot for a dress that they only will wear once, before it gets pushed to the back of the closet, forever out of sight.

A well-dressed bridal party is not difficult to achieve, provided that everyone keeps an open mind. While most brides-to-be have vague notions of what dress styles will be most flattering to their figures, it helps to have a professional, objective opinion. The most significant decisions are made in the dressing room and, more often than not, the gown style a bride finds most pleasing rarely is the original style she had in mind.

When selecting gown styles that best suit the bridal party, it is important to consider the following factors.

• Shape — Typical dress shapes include the ball gown (natural waist with a voluminous skirt); basque (natural waist with a V-shaped front); bustier (strapless with sculpted bust line); empire (high waist that falls just under the bust line with a slender or A-line skirt); princess or A-line (falls along the outline of the body into a flared skirt); and sheath (narrow, fitted style shaped at the waist). While the bride may prefer a ball gown for herself, the bridesmaids'

CONFIDENT AS SHE applies the finishing touches, this bride-to-be has no worries on her wedding day because she knows she has chosen a gown style that will make her look her most beautiful as she makes her way down the aisle.

preferences might differ over A-line vs. sheath. It is perfectly acceptable to mix-and-match, but if a bride wants a uniform look, varying the necklines offers a less subtle, yet still flattering alternative.

• Neckline — If the bride is firm about what dress shape she wants her bridesmaids to wear, the best place to improvise is in the neckline. Necklines range from high and close-to-the-neck to low and off-the-shoulder. Other types include the boat or bateau (follows the curve of the collarbone, high in front and back, wide at the sides); jewel (collarless, rounded neckline that hugs the base of the throat, just above the collarbone); square; and sweetheart (shaped like the top of a heart).

• Sleeves — Sleeves pose another opportunity for variety in dress style. Sleeves can be cap (very short and fitted, covering shoulders and very tops of arms); fitted (slim sleeves that taper as they reach the wrist); three-quarter (cover three-quarters of the arm, stopping on the forearm, just below the elbow); puff (gathered into a gentle puff near the shoulders); or not there at all (sleeveless or spaghetti straps).

As for which dress for which figure, knowing everyone's best (and less-than-best) features is essential. Petite figures look nicest in empire, sheath, and princess or A-line dress shapes that give the illusion of elongated lines, drawing the eye upward. Collars and sleeves should be proportionate to arms, therefore small and delicate.

Full figures look best in a princess shape with an open neckline, like sweetheart or jewel, and three-quarter sleeves that conceal the arms. A basque shape or a dropped V waist is slimming for full hips. An empire shape (lifted waistline) flatters thick waists.

Whatever style of gown a bride chooses, she can be confident knowing that she and her attendants will look their best when they consider these factors and keep an open mind.

Wedding bells will ring all year long with a unique wine gift

(MPS) — Nothing makes a meal more romantic than a nice bottle of wine. This wedding season, give newlyweds something that complements all the wine glasses they will receive with a gift from the California Wine Club, the purveyors of California's finest hard-to-find wines.

Each month, the California Wine Club will send two bottles of world-class wine, along with an informative newsletter, to the door of the gift recipients. With the club's reputation for providing excellent wines and maintaining satisfied long-term customers, this gift is perfect for both the enthusiastic novice and connoisseur. Best of all, it can be enjoyed again and again as each new wine shipment is received.

In addition to its regular membership, the California Wine Club also offers a special Connoisseurs' Series. Wines in this program are only the highest-rated wines as determined by "The Connoisseurs' Guide to California Wines," the esteemed publication written by wine experts Charles Olken and Earl Singer.

For more information or to order, call 1-800-777-4443. Each monthly shipment is only $30. Connoisseurs' Series prices vary depending on which wines are selected. You may order as many months as you like, and you may cancel any time. Visa, MasterCard and American Express are accepted, and deferred payments are available.

And The World Is Yours

The Crestview...the One and Only!

...THE ONE AND ONLY!
This is how you will feel on your Wedding Day when you choose The Crestview to host your Wedding Reception.

They host only one wedding at a time. Their beautifully renovated Function Center will transport you and your guests into a special world of celebration.

Our Glass-enclosed entrance with sparkling chandelier invites you up the winding staircase, through our elegant marble foyer and into our spacious and luxurious lobby. Your guests can relax and socialize while enjoying hors d'oeuvres selected from our extensive menu and passed by our ever attentive staff.

Content that your guests are being treated royally, you and your bridal party will be whisked to our formal private picture room complete with complimentary champagne and hors d'oeuvres.

When your photo session is complete, your guests will assemble in our Grand Ballroom awaiting your breathtaking entrance. Our stately 12-foot ceilings with mood-enhancing chandeliers provide the perfect spotlight to make you feel like the one and only!

Partial view of Crestview Ballroom

Your storybook setting is completed with guest tables draped in floor length linens and adorned with fresh flowers on each table, encircling a brand new oversized 30' by 40' herringbone-design solid oak dance floor.

Professionally trained wait-staff and an ever-attentive host/hostess will ease you through the intricacies of this special day's schedule.

The most important and best-remembered part of any Wedding is the quality of the food served. This is where The Crestview excels.

The Crestview is owned and operated by Executive Chefs Adam Warnock and Peter Ginivisian.

They have entrusted their reputations into making the Menus not only affordable, but of gourmet quality and excellent presentation. From appetizer to entree, hors d'oeuvres to desserts, all foods are freshly prepared using the very best of ingredients.

They offer an extensive menu selection and take great pride in being able to accommodate custom requests. They can provide special wedding "packages" to coordinate your entire day, or can individualize to your needs. Special dietary concerns can be accommodated.

With over 40 years of combined food and beverage experience as well as formal education in the culinary arts, the owners are well qualified to assist you with all aspects of your

Choose the right disc jockey for the perfect wedding reception

STONEHAM — Bob Shaheen, owner of The "Boogie" Man Disc Jockey Service located in Stoneham, wants people to know why he is consistently recommended by brides and grooms. Attention to detail, sincerity, personality and pure love of all music is what a couple will get. Every time.

"Bob is a true entertainer!" "He absolutely made our wedding!" "He's the best!" These are all quotes from recent brides and grooms who would be glad to serve as references for Shaheen, should a couple consider hiring him to be the Disc Jockey for their wedding. Couples can reach The "Boogie" Man at (781) 438-4000.

"My attention to detail begins with the very first phone call. I am a full-time sales professional, so I need to be sure that I get my messages immediately. This is why my answering service pages me; I will call you right back."

"The initial phone call is an information gathering exercise where I need to learn all the specifics of your wedding day. How long is the reception, how many people will attend, where it is being held and what are your expectations, are some of the topics we discuss. This conversation lasts two or 20 minutes, depending on your level of interest."

"Next, I usually recommend a personal interview; a face to face meeting with the bride and groom. This is a crucial step in feeling comfortable with the Disc Jockey for your wedding. You will learn so much by meeting with me and asking more questions. I try to present myself in a positive manner. First impressions are very important."

"If time allows, I will arrange for the bride and groom to come see me at an upcoming wedding. However, sometimes it is not too easy talking to a prospective couple while working someone else's wedding. I always wear a tuxedo when I am doing a wedding. The bride and groom deserve it! It is their day and it should be a classy one."

"Once you book me for your wedding, I begin a process that starts with the complete filling out of a very detailed wedding function planner. This is where I get a snapshot of all aspects of your wedding day. Who is in the wedding party, what songs you will dance to, will you be doing the garter/bouquet toss and many other items that eventually will shape the day's agenda."

"One of my greatest strengths is that I am a wonderful facilitator. I will have everything organized perfectly, starting with the correct line up and pronunciation of the bridal party through the timing of your last dance. The bride and groom do not need to be worrying about details during their wedding. I accept that responsibility."

"Once again, I ask you to call Bob Shaheen at The "Boogie" Man Disc Jockey Service. The phone number is (781) 438-4000. Let's get started on planning the most important day of your life ... your wedding!"

wedding in the front of the house, as well as the kitchen.

They have worked at such fine establishments as The Cafe' Escadrille, The Colonial Hilton, The Sassafras Restaurant, John Stone's Inn, and The Bear Hill Golf Club.

Their goal as owners is to offer the very best food and service at a reasonable price.

They believe every function is individually special and they and their staff have very high standards. They will never be known for "banquet" food or for using prepared foods.

They will make sure your party is served only freshly prepared meals using their own recipe ingredients. Whether small or large, their goal is to make your dining experience one you and your guests will always remember.

They have built their reputation on consistency, quality and value. They, along with their staff of professionals will work very hard to earn your trust, your appreciation and your referral for future business.

In addition to the Grand Ball room, The Crestview offers a variety of function rooms and layouts to meet your other banquet needs, be it a shower, rehearsal dinner or other special event.

They can accommodate weddings ranging in size from 100 to 375 guests. Smaller gatherings of a more intimate nature can be accommodated in our other rooms.

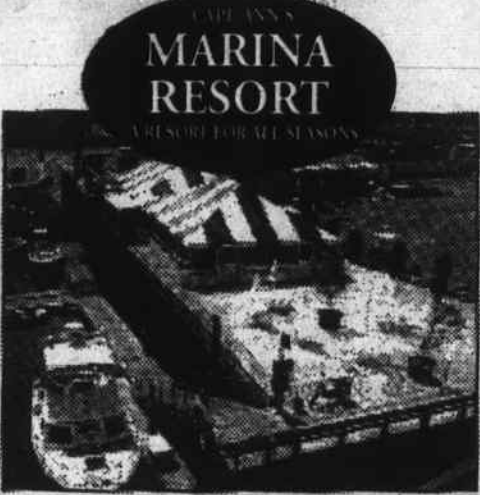

Peter and Adam would welcome the opportunity to meet with potential clients in person to explain their services and to show their facility. They are always available and it is with great pride that they give you undivided attention when you meet with them - just another way they have of making you feel like... the one and only!

Crowne Plaza says wedding day is most important

WOBURN — At the Crowne Plaza Boston/Woburn, we know that searching for the perfect location for your Wedding Reception can seem a daunting task. Allow us to ease your mind, as we give you the personal and dedicated attention you deserve, beginning with your first telephone call to the hotel, and all the way through the Big Day itself.

Our Wedding Specialist, has worked with hundreds of Brides and Grooms, all with different needs and desires for their Wedding Reception. We understand that you will want your Wedding Reception to be elegant and distinct, so we offer special Wedding Packages which can be customized to suit your personal tastes.

The packages help to make the planning less complicated for you by offering special services, such as lovely Centerpieces for the tables and a delicious Wedding Cake of your choosing. Additionally, we will be happy to recommend professional photographers, musicians and even calligraphers to help your day stand out and save you precious planning time.

At the Crowne Plaza Hotel, we realize that the Social Hour is also very important to the success of your Wedding Reception. We offer two separate areas for the Social Hour, either our breathtaking Garden Atrium, or the more formal Ballroom Foyer. Delicious Hot Hors d'oeuvres will be passed butler style as your guests mingle and relax without having to maneuver around the dinner tables (as they would if the Social had to commence in the Ballroom).

Once our Newlyweds have finished having photographs taken in one of our two beautiful and complimentary locations, the guests will be ushered into the Commonwealth Ballroom, complete with its large, customized dance floor, elegant raised head table, soft decor and tasteful chandeliers.

Here, each of your guests will be shown the same personal and special attention that the Bride and Groom have enjoyed throughout the planning process, which will help all of them to feel special and welcomed.

The Banquet Manager, Michael Walls, will take special care to ensure that all guests are comfortably seated as you are introduced into the Ballroom for the first time as husband and wife. Once the first dance and toasts are completed, the event is on its way ... with professional service and a fantastically delicious meal.

Soon, the Wedding Cake will be cut and served (no "smooching," Mr. Groom!) and then the celebration continues as you dance, dance, dance!

The Crowne Plaza Hotel is truly special and elegant for all of the Celebrations of this wonderful time in your lives. It will be our pleasure to prepare a special Bridal Shower in our lovely Garden Atrium, and do not forget to plan for the Rehearsal dinner — even as far in advance as when you reserve the Reception date.

Also popular, a Post Nuptial Brunch can be planned at the Crowne Plaza Hotel — which is a wonderful final "thank you" to all those guests who have traveled from afar and enjoyed a nights' stay at the hotel.

The Crowne Plaza Hotel can be best appreciated with a personal tour. Please call Pam Eustace to set up a time for you to visit (evening and weekend appointments are always available), allowing her the opportunity to better explain our menus and service procedures.

All of us at the Crowne Plaza Boston/Woburn are looking forward to serving you and your guests.

You've already said "I will"...
Now let us do the rest.

Toasting the couple

Fearless Toast

According to a survey conducted by Korbel Champagne Cellars, 97 percent of Americans fear delivering a wedding toast for one reason or another.

More than 25 percent are most frightened of appearing nervous. Other fears include forgetting what to say (22 percent), being too emotional (12 percent), being boring (9 percent) and offending someone (8 percent).

To curb these anxieties, Korbel has established a Wedding Toast Hot Line at (800) 7-KORBEL to give "toasters-to-be" useful tips and suggestions for a memorable wedding toast. The hotline will be up and running May through July, the height of the wedding season. (CNS)

Real Estate questions made simple

How do I find a realtor?

First, talk to friends or family that have recently purchased a home and ask who assisted them in the process.

Next, visit open houses and talk to the realtor on duty. See how they show the property they are representing, and see if you are comfortable with this person. Keep in mind that the sales associate may be busy with other customers as well, but see if their professionalism and their attitude match your expectations.

Third, call several area realtors and arrange to meet with them and discuss your wants and needs in both a real estate professional and type of property desired.

What should I look for in a realtor?

Look for someone you can trust. Keep in mind that most realtors work for the seller but owe the buyer an ethical obligation to be fair and honest throughout the transaction. You may need to interview several realtors before finding the person you feel most comfortable with.

Have the realtor you have chosen show you listing sheets or a summary page on every property in your price range, not just the ones they want to show you.

Avoid realtors that will just show you homes at the top of your price range and try to show you more expensive homes than you are comfortable seeing.

The professional you choose should be knowledgeable about not just the home you are looking for, but amenities in the area such as schools, shopping, highways and others that may be important to you.

Look for someone whom you feel can not only assist you but someone you can comfortably recommend to your friends in the future.

This is opposed to buyers who have yet to visit a bank or mortgage company and may have credit issues that reduce their ability to purchase the same property.

Also, the pre-approval can aid the buyers or sellers in achieving a quicker closing as the lending institution has already spent the time investigating the buyers.

When do we tell the landlord we're moving?

Most people suggest waiting until the buyers have received a letter of commitment from the lending institution. This is issued after the pre-approval and is evidence that the lending institution feel confident in giving the loan.

If there are outstanding conditions in the commitment letter, you may want to wait until they are cleared up before notifying the landlord.

Keep in mind that the landlord may begin looking for a new tenant immediately, and sign a new tenancy based on the current tenant's notification of leaving.

When in doubt, ask your attorney what to do.

How important is getting pre-approved for a mortgage

In today's market, many sellers are receiving multiple offers on their homes. They are looking for not just the best price for their property, but the most secure deal.

Sellers see the pre-approved buyer as one who is serious about purchasing their home and has had a lending institution review their eligibility to purchase their home.

Slip away to wedded bliss in high style

By Caroline Dipping
Copley News Service

In "Father of the Bride," the 1950 movie starring Elizabeth Taylor and Spencer Tracy, a very young and beautifully gowned Taylor vanishes from her lavish wedding reception only to reappear in a smart traveling costume. Just as quickly, she and her new groom are whisked off in a car to live happily ever after.

Exiting — almost fleeing — a wedding reception to get on with the business of being married was the formula of the era. In Taylor-like tradition, scores of newlyweds left their nuptials with scant ceremony after the cake had been cut. As often as not, the groom would be at the wheel of a nondescript car notable only for a tail of noisy aluminum cans tied to the back bumper and a "Just Married" sign scrawled across the window.

Present-day wedding couples, however, are a different breed. Being unique is what counts and "cookie cutter" is a dirty phrase that causes shivers when mentioned in connection with any bridal plan.

Hot-air balloons, horse-drawn carriages, streetcars and gondolas have become popular modes of transportation after the couple has been toasted and the bouquet has been tossed.

Christie Brinkley and Richard Taubman skied into wedded bliss after their 1994 wedding ceremony atop 12,000-foot Telluride Mountain. The marriage lasted only eight months, but no one denied theirs was a spectacular leave-taking.

"Brides today do anything they can do that is different," said Beverly Clark, a wedding consultant and author of the best-selling wedding guidebook, "Planning a Wedding To Remember." "I think exiting a wedding is a fun thing where a bride and groom can express themselves and be as creative as they want," she said.

"It never ceases to amaze me what people come up with," she said, adding that she has seen everything from helicopter liftoffs to couples pedaling away on bicycles built for two.

On the other hand, just as many couples skip the show-stopping exit and simply don't leave, Clark said. Newlyweds who have invested a lot of time, energy and hard cash in pulling together their wedding reception and far-flung friends, want to stay and enjoy their own party.

"Brides and grooms aren't rushing off like they used to," Clark agreed. "I think they are older today. They've lived together. Their friends and family are flying in from scattered locations, and they want time to visit with them. Getting back to the hotel room for a romantic evening isn't as much a priority as it used to be."

Amy Plowman Meehan was one who wanted to make the most of socializing at her traditional Irish and Navy-themed wedding held over Labor Day weekend in Haverton, Pa. Throughout the planning stages, she was not only mindful of how she and her husband wanted to exit the wedding reception, but her 150 guests as well.

Knowing her reception included two open bars, Meehan wanted to ensure everyone's safety after the festivities ended so she and her mother devised a relay system of using teetotaling husbands and wives as designated drivers.

"It worked out so smoothly," Meehan said. "At the end of the reception, our DJ made an announcement for all the people who had been drinking to hand over their keys to the designated drivers."

"I was so proud of my friends," she added. "They were more than willing to cooperate, and my parents' friends who were the designated drivers had so much fun interacting with the younger set. After they dropped off my friends and the rental cars at the hotel, they went back to my parents' house for another party just for them."

Then, Meehan and husband, Larry, set off with a splinter group of die-hard guests for another celebration at a local bar down the road. Ultimately, the newlyweds rode on shank's mare to finish their big day.

Bill Trumpfsheller of San Diego, and bride, Nola, bid adieu to the 170 wedding guests at their bay-side ceremony by climbing aboard a 27-foot sailboat and tooling around the waters for an hour to enjoy the sunset. Bill said this leave-taking was strategic as much as it was romantic.

"There were several friends of mine who had a long-running history of seeing who could most wreck the bridal suite on the wedding night," he said. "I had been on the giving end in the past, but I decided I didn't want to be on the receiving end, and my wife made it clear I would be in deep trouble if anything happened to our room."

Can you blame the bride who doesn't want a short-sheeted bed, lewd remarks written in lipstick on the mirrors or a petroleum jelly-coated alarm clock set to go off at 4 in the morning?

These were all stock-and-trad pranks Bill had executed in the past with his merry band of marauders, but successfully eluded on his own wedding night.

Sheri and Randy Roonan of Fairfield, Conn., had a two-boat departure from their West Coast reception. While Randy rowed his bride out to a waiting motorboat at the end of a pier, 130 guests lined the pier shouting out joyous remarks.

"I remember getting kind of worried because the boat started to tip and it went within an inch of going into the water," Sheri said. "I was thankful we didn't go in because my dress was gauze and I'm sure if it had gotten wet, it would have been quite see-through."

However, after Sheri was safely helped aboard the motorboat, Randy was divested of his oars and pushed back into his rowboat and pointed toward sea. With nothing but a champagne bottle to paddle with, Randy eventually reunited with his waiting bride.

As with most wedding reception finales, all ended well. And the Roonans have recently celebrated their 13th anniversary.

The Best Western Lord Wakefield Hotel banquet rooms undergo renovation

WAKEFIELD — The Best Western Lord Wakefield Hotel has just completed a innovation of the Lakeside and Yorkshire rooms. The hotel is located at 595 North Avenue in Wakefield on the scenic shores of Lake Quannapowitt.

"We have so many social functions here," General Manager Lisa Stuber commented that she wanted the function rooms to have a more elegant look. So, with new rugs, curtains, wallpaper and art work she achieved that look. These popular function rooms hold up to 100 guests banquet style and 150 theater style. Both of the function rooms feature large windows overlooking Lake Quannapowitt.

The function menu offers a wide variety of selections starting with a breakfast buffet, brunches, luncheons and dinners. You may also create your own event with our specialty stations such as: omelet, waffle, pasta and carving stations in addition with a wide variety of hors d'oeuvres.

Road warriors

Keeping the flame alive while traveling together is often a challenge, even for honeymooners still aglow from their wedding party. The Hyatt Regency Maui's Aloha Services staff and relationship psychologist Tracy Cabot have compiled 10 tips for romance on the road.

1. Plan the trip together and talk about activities you'll enjoy as a couple.

2. Allow for spontaneity. It's OK to deviate from the planned itinerary.

3. Give each other some space. Spend some time apart to allow for the pursuit of individual interests.

4. Pack a few romantic items, including lingerie, aromatic oil, a small scented candle, a CD of favorite music.

5. Choose a destination that feels romantic for both people.

6. Use the extra time to give a soothing foot massage after a long walk, a surprise bottle of wine or a love note left on the pillow.

7. Anticipate the stress that travel can bring and talk about how to handle potentially difficult moments like airport delays and getting lost. And don't blame your partner.

8. Set a budget and talk about expenses. Each partner should have a little "mad money," but discuss big purchases.

9. Pace yourself.

10. Talk to each other. Take the time to share your feelings, hopes, expectations and fears. (CNS)

Homemade Accessories Make For a Perfect Wedding Day

The wedding day is one of the most important days in a woman's life. She wants everything, from her gown to the flowers to the food served at the reception, to be perfect. Most of all, she wants her memories of the big day to be special.

Personal, handmade bridal accessories can help make those memories special. A lace-trimmed ring pillow, made out of the same fabric as the bridal gown, contains details that are hard to find in a store-bought pillow.

"The surge in handmade bridal-shower and wedding accessories is due to both the personal satisfaction one gets from crafting, especially for a meaningful event, as well as a wide range of specialty products now found at craft stores," says Susan Brandt, assistant executive director/director of communications for the Hobby Industry Association.

The following ring pillow will add a personal touch to the wedding day. After the ceremony, it can be used as a decoration in the bedroom or kept in a safe place for use in the next family wedding.

RING PILLOW

- $\frac{1}{2}$ yard of 24-inch-wide silk voile for pillow back and front
- 1 11-inch square of silk satin for front lining
- 1 10-inch square knife-edge pillow form
- $2\frac{1}{2}$ yards of $2\frac{1}{2}$ -inch-wide lace for ruffle
- $1\frac{1}{4}$ yards satin piping
- 1 10-inch zipper or 10-inch Velcro® strip
- 1 yard of $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch-wide satin ribbon
- $1\frac{1}{4}$ yards of $2\frac{1}{2}$ -inch-wide insertion lace

Directions: ($\frac{1}{4}$ -inch seams allowed)

1. Cutting: From voile, cut an 11-inch square pillow front and two 6-inch-by-11-inch pillow backs.

2. Pillow Front: Symmetrically space two vertical and two horizontal 11-inch lengths of insertion lace on the voile pillow front; pin and edgestitch. With small, sharp scissors, cut away the voile behind the lace. Place the right side of the satin square against the wrong side of the pillow front, with edges even. Baste the edges.

3. Piping: Pin the piping $\frac{1}{4}$ inch from the edges of the pillow front, with right sides together and raw edges outward, clipping to the piping seam at each corner. Stitch over the piping seam.

4. Ruffle: Seam the short ends of the ruffle lace together; press seam open. Fold the resulting loop with the seam at one end, and mark the opposite fold. Fold the loop in half again, and mark those two folds. Stitch a gathering row at each quarter (mark to mark) of the loop. Pin the lace to the pillow front with the seam or quarter mark at each corner; have right sides together and sides even. Pull up gathers to fit pillow. Stitch along the piping seam.

5. Pillow Back: With right sides facing, pin the two back pieces together along an 11-inch edge. Stitch a $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch-long seam at each end. Press the seams, and insert a zipper or Velcro strip between them. Open the zipper part way.

6. Assembly: Pushing lace toward the center, pin pillow front to pillow back, with right sides together and edges even. Seam along the previous stitching. Turn the case right side out through the zipper opening.

7. Ring Ribbons: Cut two 8-inch lengths of ribbon. Pin the center of each to the pillow, and fasten in place with small stitches.

8. Insert the pillow form, and close the zipper. Tie a ribbon around each ring.

MAKE WEDDING-DAY memories special with a handmade ring pillow made from the same fabric as the wedding gown.

live in for wedding companies in your area.

With the advent and sophistication of computer printing programs, couples can design and print their own invitations from home. Print Shop, from Broderbund, and Greetings Workshop from Microsoft are two programs that can help design any type of invitation, not just bridal. Print Artist and Print Master are others.

There's also software specifically designed for wedding invitations. Some companies offer designs and send kits that include paper and all other necessary items. Try these sites: www.pcpapers.com or www.wedding-world.com.

Grafcomm Co., winner of the "Best of the Wedding Web" contest, has print-it-yourself invitation kits available, using recycled or petal papers. Their classic or ribbon invitations are advertised as wildly sentimental and luxuriously lavish with vintage illustrations. Check them out at www.formal-invitations.com.

Western- and African-American-themed invitations are also gaining popularity. Most stationery and office supply stores sell many types of custom paper and card stock for printing.

Remember, though, that your home printer probably isn't going to reproduce the dramatic lettering of professional engraving or thermography.

But if you're on a budget and want to be especially creative and personal, it's entirely possible to make your own. How, though, do you word these vital pieces of paper?

Use a "dummy" invitation so you'll have a guideline to follow. The dummy could be someone else's printed invitation, or a sample from a store.

Basic wording can include the following: "The honour of your presence is required at the marriage ceremony of ... at two o'clock, held at St. Mary's Church, Cincinnati." Reception cards can begin: "The pleasure of your company is requested at the wedding reception of ..." or simply, "Reception will be held immediately following the ceremony at ..."

Of course, these aren't needed if the ceremony and reception are held at the same place.

You'll need all your wedding details down pat before beginning, including the exact time your ceremony will begin, the address where it will take place, and the time and location of the reception (if different than the wedding). If you're planning an elegant evening wedding and want guests to dress accordingly, don't forget "Black Tie." Names and all other details should always be spelled with precision.

Proofread, proofread, proofread.

Have someone else check it, too, so there's no need to make costly or time-consuming corrections later.

You'll still need to purchase envelopes, card stock for response cards and perhaps reception cards.

Don't forget, too, to design a map enclosure for out-of-town guests.

Abbreviations? Don't shorten any names on envelopes. It is OK to use Dr., Mr. and Mrs., however.

If you have calligraphy skills, it's also possible to hand-print your own paperwork. Calligraphy is particularly artistic and visual, but don't try it unless your writing is admired by others.

Justice of the Peace an 'incurable romantic'

STONEHAM — Marsha Scarpello Jarvis describes herself as an "incurable romantic." Perhaps that is why she finds herself involved in a second career as a state licensed Justice of the Peace.

Jarvis, who was born and raised in Wakefield and now resides in Stoneham, works as the Office Services Coordinator in the Boston corporate office of Advantage Schools, the nation's premier charter school management company.

Lately, however, she spends considerable time with brides and grooms, putting together a wedding ceremony that will be significant and meaningful for the couple — one that will be memorable and as lovely as any church service.

Jarvis will meet with the couple to carefully plan all the details of the ceremony, with attention to the couple's wishes. At the service she provides a personalized memento of the wedding day.

Jarvis is willing to go almost anywhere at anytime to officiate a wedding ceremony.

She has performed a wedding ceremony at a Fourth of July backyard poolside service, with the couple barefoot and at the stroke of midnight on Valentine's Day.

She cautions, however, that she will not marry a skydiving couple in mid-air or a scuba diving couple underwater. She welcomes and will consider any other unusual requests.

Jarvis will also officiate at vow renewal ceremonies and welcomes requests to officiate at commitment ceremonies.

The Hollywood depiction of the Justice of the Peace, awakened at midnight, to hurriedly officiate at the wedding of an over anxious couple in some glitzy chapel, is what Jarvis would like to dispel.

She promises that any service at which she officiates, will be dignified, memorable and deserving of the importance of the event.
